Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Dec. 23. [To the Editor of The Times:] Wrote a little gag the other day saying if you had somebody working for you and you wasn't going to fire 'em, why write 'em a Christmas card telling 'em so. Well, I got an awful lot of nice comments on it, and if you haven't done it, why do so right today. There must be millions working that are going to be kept on, but the bosses just haven't gone to the trouble of telling 'em so. You can't blame a man for not buying anything if he don't feel that his job is fairly secure. I know what I am talking about, and this is a hint to the ones I am working for.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

JENNE SEES UNIVERSE AS PIPE DREAM

Cosmos Just Bubble and Apt to Explode at Any Time, Says Scientist

[Copyright, 1930, by Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Dec. 23. (Exclusive)—That the universe is like a soap bubble and is still in the process of inflation with the probability of its eventually dissolving into nothingness was the startling statement of Sir James Jenne, famous British scientist, who broadcast a talk on the stars.

"The instability of the universe takes the form of an incapacity to stand still. As soon as a universe comes into existence it starts swelling and must continue expanding indefinitely. It is not so much like a soap bubble we have blown and detached from our pipe as it is like one we are still blowing."

According to astronomical results in measuring the speeds of nebulae, they are practically all stampeding away at a terrific rate—the last to be investigated were found to be receding at a rate of 7200 miles per second.

Volcano Death List Enlarged

BATAVIA (Java) Dec. 23. (AP)—As poisonous gases clear away from the lava thrown out by an eruption of Merapi volcano last week, the number of dead steadily increases.

Tonight the number stands at 800 dead, while refugees from the devastated districts total 24,000.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23. (AP)—Shaking loose relatives who sought to hold him, Julian Winter, 42 years of age, character actor, leaped to his death today from his eighth-floor apartment.

LUCAS AIDED BY HOOVER

President Backs War on Norris

Chief Executive and Cabinet Seek to Oust Insurgents Despite Split Threat

Heated Words Fly Back and Forth in Struggle Over Nebraska Legislator

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23. (Exclusive)—President Hoover is believed to be squarely behind Robert H. Lucas, executive chairman of the Republican National Committee, in his effort to rid the Republican party of Senator Norris and other "progressive" malcontents.

Although it may mean a split in the Republican party with 1932 coming on, Mr. Hoover is said to agree with Lucas that the party would be much better off with the insurgent wing missing. While there is no way of knowing whether the President approves the methods Lucas used in his abortive attempt to defeat Senator Norris last November, there is little disposition in political circles here to question how the President feels about the major purpose of the drive — he favors a showdown on Republicanism.

The Lucas incident, focal point of the bitterest political row seen at the capital in years, was discussed at the Cabinet meeting today and it can be stated authoritatively that the entire official family is lined up solidly with the Chief Executive.

NORRIS DENOUNCED

The feeling of regular Republicans toward Norris and his kind was probably well expressed today by Representative Wood of Indiana, chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee and chairman of the House Appropriations Committee. On leaving the White House after a conference with the President, Representative Wood said:

"We have been palliating and petting these fellows like Norris entirely too long and if there is to be a Republican party we must have Republicans in it. The Senate is no longer Republican as people think. It has reached the point where its political make-up is entirely nondescript. And Senator Norris, one of its members, is not a Republican. He's not even a Democrat—he is a consummate demagogue."

HOOVER ATTACKED

And to this Senator Norris retorted with a bitter attack on President Hoover himself. The President, according to Senator Norris, was willing to "lend his name to these conspirators in their disreputable methods of controlling the party." He also "challenged" Mr. Hoover's Republicanism.

While this interchange of "courtesies" was going on Senator Brookhart, Iowa, could not refrain from entering the arena and he added to the seasonal amenities by calling Mr. Lucas "a wart" and charging that Secretary Mellon is the "cancerous part of the Republican party."

Norris asserted it was a remarkable coincidence that when the Nye committee "tore the lid off" the other day and revealed Lucas's part in the attempt to defeat the Nebraskan, "a national committee employee named Murray dashed to a telephone and called up the White House."

"SPECIAL INTERESTS"

Then taking up the Wood statement, Norris said:

"The fact that men like Mr. Wood want to uphold such disreputable methods is only another evidence that special interests, particularly the power trust and other interests trying to get special legislation, are temporarily in control of some of the officials in the Republican party organization. Their idea of a good Republican is one who will sacrifice his convictions and cover up crime, dishonesty and debauchery if they are committed by a Republican. I do not ask any of these conspirators for his support. Their opposition is another indication that I am right."

Wood's denunciation also called into action Senator Borah of Idaho, another Republican independent, who said, "let them get out those who have disgraced the party."

"The Republican party belongs to the rank and file," said Senator Norris in talking to newspaper men who gave him the news of Wood's attack. "Mr. Wood and Mr. Lucas,

DEBUTS TO COST FORTUNE

Washington Will Be Scene of Two Social Affairs This Week; Outlays Will Approach $50,000

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23. (AP)—Magnificently launching a 1930 debutante in the nation's capital is as expensive as launching a battleship. It costs between $30,000 and $50,000 to slide a grim, gray battle cruiser down the ways and into the ocean. Approximately that sum will be spent within the next few days sending each of several debutantes across polished ballroom floors into society.

The apex of brilliancy in debutante balls in the recent history of the capital will be reached in coming-out parties Friday and Saturday nights. While the thousands of dollars to be spent might look appalling, hotel men say large balls are benevolence in disguise. Each one means work for 300 or 400 men and women.

A small army of extra waiters, furniture movers and decorators will be employed for the ball to be given Friday night by Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Doherty for their daughter, Helen Eames Doherty, and on Saturday night for the party which Mrs. Jacob L. Loose of Kansas City will give for Miss Caroline Hyde, daughter of the Secretary of Agriculture.

The entire first floor of the Mayflower Hotel has been engaged for the Doherty affair. Decorations have transformed it into a red and white winter garden. A five-course supper will be served at midnight to 1000 guests and a twenty-piece jazz orchestra will play all night. A breakfast will be served at 5 o'clock Sunday morning.

On the next night Mrs. Loose will give her party at the same hotel in honor of Miss Hyde.

CIVIL RIGHTS RESTORED TO M'CRAY

President Hoover Sends Christmas Gift Pardon to ex-Governor of Indiana

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23. (AP)—The pardoning by President Hoover of Warren McCray, former Governor of Indiana, was announced late today at the Justice Department.

McCray was released from Atlanta penitentiary in 1927 after completing one-third of his ten-year term for using the mails to defraud. The President's action today will have the effect of restoring the civil rights of the former Indiana Governor.

Before his conviction McCray was a millionaire cattle breeder and land-owner, with a national reputation as a gentleman farmer.

It was said at the White House that McCray's parole period would have ended early in January and he would have regained his civil rights automatically at that time.

EISENSTEIN UNDER NEW SUSPICION

Russian Film Director Again Watched by Police in Mexico as Red Suspect

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 23 (Exclusive)—The police have reopened the case of Sergei M. Eisenstein, Russian motion-picture director who was held here under arrest for twenty-four hours pending an examination by the Foreign Office of his suspected Communistic activities under the guise of the motion-picture industry. Eisenstein, who was released yesterday, is again under police surveillance while additional information obtained by the police and furnished to the Foreign Office is examined by the government. A decision is to be reached whether he shall be allowed to continue residing in Mexico or be deported.

The police say Eisenstein came to Mexico on a six months' tourist permit, which does not allow the holder to engage in commercial activities. Eisensten, however, has engaged in business while in the country, which police suspect is related to Communistic propaganda. It is said that Eisenstein's motion-picture interests in Mexico are backed by a Hollywood woman whose name is not mentioned.

AVIATION TO CHALLENGE RAILROADS

Chicago Line to Carry Passengers in Midwest for Low Fares

CHICAGO, Dec. 23. (NANA)—Aviation's most serious threat to railroading since the development of express and passenger-carrying by air will be hurled from Chicago early next spring.

The threat will be in the nature of an hourly service leaving Chicago for important midwestern cities, with fares equivalent to railroad rates, plus the cost of a parlor car seat.

In the forefront of the battle will be E. L. Cord of the Cord Corporation, using the Stinson trimotored planes he manufactures to haul passengers for Cleveland, Detroit and Kansas City on the hour. He has chosen to wage the fight in the nation's center of rail and air traffic, convinced that for the first time an air transport line will be operating on a large scale with equipment that will make possible rates close to those of the steam roads.

In the new ships, lighter engines are used, capable, it is said, of burning ordinary grades of gasoline. The planes cost under $25,000 and are operated at 35 cents a mile, while other trimotored equipment generally is operated at a cost of about 90 cents a mile.

WHITMORE RESIGNS JOB AS LOAN FRAUD CLIMAX

State Commissioner Will Go Out of Office on January 6 Due to Furor in Beesemyer Case

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 23. (Exclusive)—Charles A. Whitmore, so-called "death bed" appointee of Gov. Young, resigned his post as State Building and Loan Commissioner tonight, admittedly as a result of the $8,000,000 defalcation of Gilbert H. Beesemyer from the Guaranty Building and Loan Association of Hollywood. The resignation was in the form of a letter to the Governor in which Whitmore cites the Beesemyer tangle as the downfall of his own usefulness to the State.

Gov. Young accepted the resignation, effective January 6, next, when Mayor Rolph becomes Governor. The latter will make the appointment of the man who will succeed Whitmore.

In some quarters it is felt Governor-elect Rolph's outspoken criticism of Whitmore when the Beesemyer embezzlement became public knowledge aided Whitemore in reaching his determination to resign his office. Whitmore was private secretary to Gov. Young until appointed to the State building and loan post and prior to that had been a State highway commissioner and State printer.

WHITMORE'S LETTER

In his letter to the Governor, Whitmore commented on the collapse of the Los Angeles loan association, saying:

"I hereby tender you my resignation as Building and Loan Commissioner, to take effect before the expiration of your term of office on January 6, 1931. Since you first appointed me to this position a little more than a year ago I have given the best that is in me in earnest endeavor to perform my duties with credit to myself and honor to your administration.

"From the first I realized my responsibility in protecting the interests of the public, whose money was invested with building and loan associations and I have worked unremittingly toward that end.

"Through the co-operation of your department of finance I have been granted emergency funds to increase my staff of examiners and appraisers and I will leave it to everyone in California conversant with building and loan affairs as to whether my examinations have not been more frequent, thorough and rigid and my orders more rigorous than had ever before prevailed in the history of California building and loan supervision.

WELL SUPPORTED

"The fact that the building and loan people throughout the State stood back of me in these frequently very severe regulations shows their sincere desire to protect the investing public.

"Naturally much of my attention had been devoted to the twelve or fifteen associations in various portions of the State which were admittedly weak; for I realized that if financial trouble came to these associations it might undermine confidence in some of the 200 other associations which were universally recognized as sound and strong.

"I had begun to feel that my endeavors along this line were so successful that very possibly there would not be a single association in California which would not weather the existing business depression, when out of a clear sky comes the revelation that an association in which every business man had absolute confidence was the victim of one of the most serious defalcations of recent years.

GOING ON FOR TEN YEARS

"I might plead the fact that, according to the signed confession of the defaulter (Beesemyer,) this systematic looting had been going on since the association was founded nearly ten years ago; that it had been so cleverly manipulated as to escape the attention of all previous commissioners; and that my office was the first to bring it to light.

"All these facts do not lessen the still more important fact that, rightly or wrongly, public confidence has been so shaken in my administration of the office, that it has been made impossible for me to

SOVIET CUTS DRINKING BY PRICE BOOST

Education and Reduction of Liquor Supply to Aid Temperance Campaign

MOSCOW, Dec. 23. (AP)—The soviet government, working hand in glove with the Antialcoholic Society, is gradually cutting down Russia's liquor supply.

The rapidly growing prices of vodka tell the story. The powers-that-be are trying to make liquor hard to get with the idea that ultimately the soviet republic will be without an alcoholic taste. The government apparently is not concerned with the huge monetary loss it will suffer when the comrades give up their tippling. Last year, for instance, Russians spent some $750,000,000 for vodka, beer and wine.

As one official views the situation: "Sovietism and alcoholism do not go together. We must some day have a liquorless country. When that will be, it is hard to say. Like some of our other ideals, it may be difficult to attain. But some time it will be a reality. We do not intend to enforce prohibition. We hope to succeed by education and by gradually cutting down the supply of alcoholic beverages.

"We envision a day when there will not even be beer in the republic."

All it could offer to Missouri and South Dakota was "unsettled."

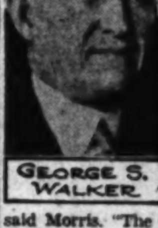
BEESEMYER QUIZ NEAR END

More Indictments Unlikely as Jury Prepares Report to Aid Loan Company Supervision Reform

Containing recommendations for the future supervision and conduct of building and loan companies, a complete report on the case of Gilbert H. Beesemyer, who looted the Guaranty Building and Loan Association of $8,000,000, will be issued by the county grand jury within a few days, it was announced last night by Frederic I. Morris, foreman of the inquisitorial body.

Morris's statement was made as he revealed that the grand jury's investigation of the Beesemyer affair is practically at a close and that there is little likelihood of more indictments.



GEORGE S. WALKER

"The only persons on whom any suspicion has been presented before us are some of Beesemyer's employees and I do not consider that evidence sufficient to indict," said Morris. "The employees simply did Beesemyer's bidding and in no way profited themselves.

"There will probably be no more indictments in the case," Morris continued, "but the grand jury, nevertheless, is going to issue a statement that will include various recommendations that we believe will be helpful to loan companies in the future."

The jury yesterday heard testimony by George S. Walker of San Francisco, former Building and Loan Commissioner, and finished their questioning of C. C. Barnes, State building and loan examiner, who overlooked the huge deficits in the Guaranty company's accounts despite several examinations of their books. After hearing these witnesses the jury adjourned until next Monday without subpoenaing any new witnesses.

Former Commissioner Walker was questioned largely, it was learned, about a transaction in 1929, when he resigned as commissioner to become the head of a building and loan company that was formed partly by the purchase of 2000 shares of stock controlled by a concern in which Beesemyer was interested.

After Walker had testified Foreman Morris and Chief Deputy District Attorney Stewart declared that they were satisfied that the transaction under investigation was perfectly legitimate and that Walker's reign as commissioner was above reproach.

When the grand jury officially terminates its inquiry into the em-

RECEIVER KEMP PLANS REPORT

Accountants Going to Work on Loan Books Today

Federal Custodian Says He Will Reveal Details

First Action Involves Oil Concern of Beesemyer

A. N. Kemp, Federal receiver in equity for Guaranty Building and Loan Association, wrecked by its manager, Gilbert H. Beesemyer, today will set to work accountants to find out the assets and liabilities of the organization and promises a full report on the situation as soon as it can be determined.

"Obviously," Kemp said, "it will take some time fully to investigate this institution, and I am hardly prepared to make much of a statement at present. Accountants will immediately be put to work to ascertain the assets and liabilities of the association, all of which will take time. As there have been many unfounded rumors and speculations regarding the affairs of this institution I want to assure the interested parties that as soon as the actual assets are ascertained they will be fully reported. Hurried action is apt to prove disastrous and costly.

"As I understand it, the principal function of the receiver is to conserve the assets for the benefit of the depositors and creditors. No efforts will be spared to that end, and it is my purpose to do everything possible to protect them.

COMMITTEE LAUDED

"The advisory committee which will function as an informal board of directors is composed of men of the highest standards, and their assistance will play no small part in carrying out the conservation plans."

The advisory committee as announced at the time of the appointment of Mr. Kemp as receiver includes the following: John C. Austin, president of the Chamber of Commerce; C. H. Wade, president of the State Mutual Building and Loan Association and first vice-president of the California Building-Loan League; J. A. H. Kerr, vice-president of the Security-First National Bank; Harry Chandler, publisher; George I. Cochran, president of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company; Clarence L. Kincaid, attorney and Past Commander of the California department of the American Legion; William May Garland, real-estate developer; John Treanor, president of the Riverside Portland Cement Company, and C. E. Toberman, Hollywood real-estate operator.

SHAW TO LEND AID

Kemp has requested Milton O. Shaw, State Building and Loan Department examiner, who has been custodian of the association since State Building and Loan Commissioner Whitmore closed it, to remain with him "a reasonable length of time." This the State department is permitting.

Kemp's first legal action in receivership took place yesterday almost immediately after he had received formal appointment from United States District Judge Cosgrave and had filed his $230,000 bond. It so chanced that at that particular time the National Supply company of the Midwest was in United States Judge James's court getting a temporary receivership made permanent against Elmer Company, Ltd., a Beesemyer oil company operated by E. N. Moore, a Beesemyer associate. Kemp notified the court that he had just been made receiver of the association, a Beesemyer institution, and that he might be concerned about the Elmer company. Judge James pointed out that a receivership is always open to emergencies that may arise.

ATTACK FAILS

The now-permanent receivers for the oil company are J. Grover Kelly and Richard L. North, appointed a few days ago temporarily. Franklin W. Peck, attorney for the supply company, called the court's attention to what he said is an attack upon North before the Bar Association.

Neil McCarthy, attorney for Cecil B. De Mille, an $80,000 creditor of the oil company, told the judge that he knows North, that North is all right, and he cast reflection on sincerity of the attack, an attack which Peck hastened to take up. However, Judge James said that it is not an infrequent thing for a disgruntled client to make charges against his attorney, and that until some qualified interest finds legal fault in North he may proceed in office as co-receiver.

The oil company is in a difficult position in that it now has two Federal receivers for itself, the association receiver has his eye on its assets and the Alco Tool Company has about all its property tied up by attachment.

STATE COURT ACTS

Superior Judge Doran in State court yesterday found that Whitmore had proceeded legally in seizing the association when the Beesemyer defalcation was found by Shaw. In making his report to the court Shaw said that there are collection items amounting to more than $2,000,000 which are not connected with the assets of the association, and that there are on file papers on loans sold to others aggregating more than $6,000,000.

Shaw said that hundreds of letters, some of them threatening, have been received since he was made custodian, but remained unanswered for lack of information to provide. The threatening letters weer turned over to mail authorities.

Women Plead at Round Table

LONDON, Dec. 23. (AP)—Eloquent appeals by two women delegates to the Indian round table conference today renewed the discussion of the critical minorities problem in India.

The Begum Shah Nawaz pleaded fervently, "As daughters we beg of you, as sisters and mothers we demand that you come to a settlement."

The Begum is a Moslem. Mrs. Subbarayan, who followed her, is a Hindu. The latter supported the plea of her sister delegate, asserting that "whatever our creed we are still Indians and if we are united there is a wonderful future before us."

continue to render the character of service to the State with which I can be content."

Several factors contributed to the pressure which caused Whitmore's resignation. There was general criticism that the $8,000,000 Beesemyer defalcation was not discovered sooner. Mayor Rolph bitterly condemned Whitmore publicly as "an inefficient deathbed appointee of Gov. Young" and announced he would ask the Legislature to oust him.

Commissioner Whitmore went into office a little more than a year ago and was reappointed by Young for a four-year term last month.

In the wake of the Beesemyer confession it was found Commissioner Whitmore's son-in-law, Richard Hyde, was chief accountant for the Beverly Hills branch of the Guaranty Building and Loan Association and that Whitmore himself was occupying a house to which the association held title.

YOUNG'S ANSWER

Gov. Young answered Whitmore's letter of resignation, saying:

"I shall accept your resignation as of the morning of January 6, in order that the office may be continuously filled and that my successor may have the opportunity of filling the position immediately after his inauguration.

"I cannot tell you how sincerely I regret the circumstances which have cut you off from this work, for I know how interested you have been in the performance of your duties. Within the past two or three months I have received letters from leading building and loan officials and from many others, all commending the vigorous manner in which you were administering your office.

"I agree with you, that with rare exceptions, the building and loan associations of California are in very splendid condition and am happy to know that the blow which building and loan has sustained comes not from any inherent weakness, but rather from the dishonesty of a single individual."

CLOSED BANK'S LOANS TOLD

State Official Schedules $3,657,617 Assets for Hollywood Institution

Listing unsecured loans of the Bank of Hollywood at $1,030,449.26, an inventory of the assets of the bank was filed, as required by law, in Superior Court yesterday by Will C. Wood, State Superintendent of Banks and Banking, who ordered the institution closed. The report is signed by M. M. Ewing, special deputy superintendent of banks, and Elbert W. Davis and J. H. Hoffman, attorneys for the superintendent.

Total assets of the bank, including the unsecured loans, are figured by the report at $3,657,617.26. This includes total of $21,675 in overdrafts, which are unsecured but collectible by legal methods.

Funds due from other banks, including $119,057.50 from the Citizens' National, is $141,306. This does not include $5046 due from Federal Reserve banks. These funds are the usual balances due to clearinghouse operations, it was stated.

Many of the assets are in the form of real-estate mortgages, which are said to be one of the best securities on the local market, the bank having discounted safely the market value of the property. In this list is included the $20,000 mortgage of the Melrose Park Methodist Church.

Among the unsecured loans, mostly in the form of personal notes and "commercial paper," are the following:

TASK BEGUN

Receiver Ewing yesterday on his first day of duty, set a force at work making up statements of depositors and other of the more than 8000 creditors of the bank who have approximately $2,200,000 coming to them. These statements, Ewing said, will be mailed to each creditor, together with a blank claim to fill out and file.

"We will have completed this work," Ewing said, "in about ten days and at the end of that time will open the doors of the bank to those who wish to come in and file their claims. Meanwhile we are going ahead making all the collections we can, that is, getting back money that was loaned by the bank so we can get money to pay off the creditors."

Law Body Takes Holiday Recess

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23. (AP)—The Law Enforcement Commission recessed for the holidays late today with many of the major decisions as to what its dry law report will recommend still ahead.

The commission will reconvene Monday and then will come the real show-down as to what the report will urge. All eleven members are expected to be present for the first time in weeks.

Indication was given tonight that the determination of major decisions has been hampered by the absence of a full membership.

MONTE CARLO (Monaco) Dec. 23. (AP)—Shouts of "Abdication! Abdication!" came through the windows of the Police Court here today as seven men were charged with rioting in connection with the arrest yesterday in Monte Carlo of Prince Louis of Monaco.

The seven were sentenced to periods of from one to eight months in jail.

LOAN COMPANY QUIZ NEAR END

bezzlement case early next week, it was announced, books taken under subpoena from various companies in which Beesemyer was interested will be turned over to the receiver for the Guaranty Building and Loan Association for his guidance.

In connection with the announcement that there would probably be no more indictments in the case, it was learned that the District Attorney's office and the grand jury had spent some time determining whether there was any offense committed where a loan was made by the Guaranty Association to another company having on its board of directors one or more of the Guaranty Association's directors.

ASKS TO SEE FAMILY

It was at first thought, it was said, that the section of the law that stipulates that a director or official of a loan company cannot borrow from that company might have been violated, but it was later determined that the loans in question were made to incorporated companies and not to individuals, and thus did not come within the scope of the law.

While the grand jury was winding up its investigation of the case, Beesemyer, who pleaded guilty to ten counts of grand theft Monday afternoon, prepared to receive his sentence in Superior Judge Wood's court next Friday and start toward San Quentin. Each count carries a sentence of from one to ten years and if Judge Wood rules that they should run consecutively Beesemyer will have an aggregate sentence of not less than ten and not more than 100 years to serve.

Realizing that he would soon be on his way to prison, Beesemyer yesterday asked to see his wife and son and a tragic meeting is expected when the trio are scheduled to meet today in the County Jail.

During the afternoon Beesemyer was visited at the County Jail by a committee of officials and stockholders of the Investors of America Corporation, of which Beesemyer was president, who requested his resignation. The resignation had been prepared and Beesemyer signed it without any comment, other than to invite the company's officials to call upon him if they needed his help to untangle its affairs. The company had a capital stock of $500,000 and was organized as a holding corporation. Besides Beesemyer the other officials were Ross Urquhart and Miss Mary A. Wilmer.

YULETIDE MAIL MAKES RECORD

Pittsburgh totaled $1,460,000, with prospects of higher figures.

Cleveland's peak day was 5,000,000 pieces, about 1,000,000 less than a year ago. Stamp sales, however, reached $72,000 for that day, a new record for any day.

Postal receipts in Los Angeles touched $70,000 yesterday against $57,000 the same day last year.

Denver had its greatest day, 1,075,000 outgoing letters, while parcel post business was 10 per cent larger this Christmas.

Kansas City handled more than 2,000,000 pieces, a record, and San Francisco increased its figure to 2,800,000 for its greatest day, and today was even busier. Stamp sales in Sacramento were 30 per cent higher, a new record. Portland, Or., also had a new high with 2,000,000 pieces.

POSTOFFICE AND RAIL STATIONS HERE HUMMING

Santa Claus land is not the region of the North Pole. It is in Southern California—Los Angeles, to be exact—and government and railway figures issued yesterday go to prove it.

Postmaster O'Brien yesterday totaled postal receipts for last Monday. They amounted to nearly $75,000, he said, as against an income of $57,007.68 for Monday, December 23, 1929.

Two thousand extra men were given work in the Los Angeles postoffice during the Yuletide rush in an endeavor to get every package to its destination on time.

The Southern Pacific and the Union Pacific, working jointly at the Central Station, are handling 40,000 bags of mail a day, as against a normal of 9000 bags. The amount at the Santa Fe is approximately in proportion, making close to 60,000 bags of mail arriving here yesterday. This has been in progress for the past fourteen days and A. D. Anderson, baggage master at the Central Station, estimates that 650,000 bags of mail will have gone through that station by the time the rush is over. The Santa Fe totals are in proportion and close to 1,000,000 bags will have been handled by the three railways, it was estimated yesterday.

Postmaster O'Brien said that thirty-eight cars of mail arrived here Monday, each car containing from 750 to 1100 pouches of mail.

At one end of the Central Station yards a giant tent has been erected to assist in the handling of the great volume of mail. Here heavy duty army and mail trucks come rumbling in to unload at all hours of the night. Three hundred extra mail cars were required by officials to care for the load.

Officials declare it to be the greatest rush in years not only over rail but air lines as well. Last-minute packages are now soaring over the Rockies from the East and are dropping down in ports where trucks rush the pouches to the distributing stations.

CAROL WOULD OUST HELEN

Conference of Rumanian Royal Family to Decide Status Postponed by New Crisis

BUDAPEST (Hungary) Dec. 23. (AP)—The long heralded family conference of the Rumanian royal house, at which the status of Queen Helen was to have been settled, has been postponed, said advices reaching Budapest today from Rumania.

King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia, husband of King Carol's sister Marie, due at Bucharest today for the parley, deferred his visit. Reports said he had been asked to do so by the Dowager Queen Marie, who feared King Carol's "nerves" would not stand any further rubbing on the subject of his estrangement from the Queen.

On the basis of word here from Rumanian sources the differences between Carol and his Queen have reached a critical stage. One report said he had asked her to leave the country and another one, not confirmed, declared King George of England had sent a sharp message to Carol telling him unless he changed his attitude toward Helen and the Dowager Queen Marie the royal ladies would be invited to make their homes in England.

Helen, it is said, when asked by Carol to leave Rumania, declared she would do so only if the young Prince Michael, heir to the throne, were surrendered to her. Carol is said to have relented, assuring her she might remain, but she must be prepared to live as a private person.

Helen temporarily accepted this condition. She was not invited to attend the Christmas party at Sinia Palace, where Carol will have as his guests his mother, his sister, Princess Ileana, and his brother, Prince Nicholas, as well as the young Prince Michael.

Queen Sophia, former Queen of Greece and mother of Helen, asked permission to visit Helen, according to reports, but this was denied. Helen's brother, the former King George of Greece, will spend Christmas Day with Queen Helen, however.

BOY SLAYER IN OHIO GETS LIFE TERM

John Woods, 14 Years of Age, Must Spend Rest of His Days Behind Bars

ST. CLAIRSVILLE (O.) Dec. 23. (AP)—John Woods, 14-year-old slayer of William Meeker, 90, produce dealer, was sentenced to life imprisonment by Common Pleas Court here last night when he pleaded guilty to a charge of second-degree murder.

Common Pleas Judge Cowen, who accepted the plea, sentenced Woods to serve at Lancaster Reformatory for Boys until he becomes 21 years of age, when he will be transferred to Ohio penitentiary for the remainder of his life.

Woods, who had suffered several heart attacks because of fear of death in the electric chair, was jubilant when the sentence was pronounced. He smiled and joked with court attaches.

Meeker was wounded fatally when he resisted Woods and Louis Kunen, 17, who attempted to rob him.

Kunen pleaded guilty to a charge of second-degree murder and was sentenced to a life term in Ohio penitentiary which he is now serving.

Woods is one of the youngest boys ever indicted in Ohio on a first-degree murder charge.

EDISON CHARTS SCIENCE'S PATH

Great Inventions of Future to Improve Health

Biologists and Chemists to Lead in Research

Eat Less and Live Longer, Advice of Wizard

NEW YORK, Dec. 23. (AP)—Thomas A. Edison said today the outstanding inventions of the future will be in the field of health and that inventors will be biologists and chemists.

Mr. Edison replied to a questionnaire from the Review of Reviews. Edison himself is famous for his questionnaires.

"Sickness is pretty hard on the workman now," said the 84-year-old wizard of Menlo Park. "It's hard for them to get a good doctor, and proper care is expensive. There is too much sickness. Something will have to be done about it, and that is where biology and chemistry come in."

MONEY EASIER NOW

Here are some of the other questions and answers:

Q.: Do you think your work would be easier if you were beginning now—with business ready to give money and facilities for research?

A.: Yes. I was 45 years hustling for pay rolls.

Q.: Do inventions come from necessity—"the mother of invention"—or from scientific curiosity?

A.: Most inventors work to earn money to get a modest living for their families. All they want is enough money to experiment with.

LESS EATING URGED

Q.: Will science tell us to eat less, as it has told us to drink less?

A.: Eighty per cent of our deaths are due to overeating. After the age of 21 a large variety and quantity of food is unnecessary. All those things crowd the stomach and cause poisons. It takes courage to learn restraint, but all that eating is unnecessary. I find that my weight keeps up on a glass of milk alone, every two hours.

Q.: Is there any inherent difficulty in making television as common as the telephone.

A.: Yes, cost and complexity.

AVIATION INVENTION

Q.: Do you think the auto-guro is the coming thing in aviation—the best principle so far developed?

A.: Yes, and it came from Spain. They say that Spain is dead. But that man (the inventor) has the ego of Columbus.

On the wall of Mr. Edison's office in West Orange, N. J., where the questionnaire was presented, hangs a quotation from Sir Joshua Reynolds: "There is no expedient to which man will not resort to avoid the real labor of thinking." Pointing to it, Mr. Edison said to his interviewers, "that is what's the matter with us."

SENSATION SPRUNG AT VICE TRIAL

Informer Says He Gave Evidence of Corruption That Official "Hushed"

NEW YORK, Dec. 23. (AP)—"Chile" Mapocha Acuna, self-appointed Nemesis of twenty-eight vice squad policemen whom he accuses of victimizing innocent women, testified today at the departmental trial of four policemen that he had made the same charges of corruption before the start of the current investigation of magistrates' courts.

A ruling by Deputy Police Commissioner Ruttenberg, presiding at the trial, prevented the ex-stool pigeon from naming the authority to whom he says he complained about police corruption.

Police Commissioner Mulrooney said he understood Acuna had written last year to Grover A. Whalen, then Police Commissioner, but that he did not know the outcome of the matter.

Acuna declared policemen had threatened his life before he visited Special Counsel Kresel in the Appellate inquiry into magistrates' courts. His motive in going to Kresel, he said, was fear and not the desire for revenge.

BODY FOUND NEAR RATON IDENTIFIED

RATON (N. M.) Dec. 23. (AP)—A body found five miles from Raton Sunday was identified today as that of Phil Roy of Roy, N. M., who left home November 5, last, for Denver with $350 in his pocket. Identification disproved a theory the body might have been that of Ray Sutton, missing dry agent.

SAN DIEGO GRANTED POWER

City Given 90,000,000 Kilowatt Hours Provided It Complies With Certain Conditions

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23. (AP)—The city of San Diego today was allotted 90,000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity from Boulder Dam, keystone of the Boulder Canyon project, in an agreement approved by Secretary of the Interior Wilbur.

The allotment was in addition to the 4,240,000 kilowatt hours previously allocated. The additional power was made available because of the increased height of the dam.

The contract must be executed by San Diego before April 15, next, Secretary Wilbur said. The city of Los Angeles will supply the machinery for the power San Diego will receive, and the cost to San Diego will be determined by Secretary Wilbur.

Transmission of the power given San Diego must be arranged through negotiations with the other cities to share the production.

The grant was made conditional upon the city's filing with Secretary Wilbur within sixty days plans for transmitting the power, subject to his approval.

The contract with the Interior Department will be drawn by the city and R. J. Coffey, district counsel of the Bureau of Reclamation at Berkeley.

The present allotment of power from the dam on the Colorado River provides that the Metropolitan Water District receives 36 per cent; the city of Los Angeles 6 per cent; the State of Nevada 18 per cent; the State of Arizona 18 per cent; California utility companies 9 per cent.

I have never found fault with I concede his right to change political affiliation every time office if he wants to but n't found it necessary my-while, it was disclosed that not only fought the so-called progressives in the last election but jumped into the wet and dry fight in various States on the side of those supporting the Eighteenth Amendment.

This was Lucas's explanation for the disposition of most of the $4000 loan secured by the national committee funds, some of which was expended for the asserted "secret" attack against Senator Norris, Nebraskan insurgent. He filed today with the secretary of the Senate a statement of the expenditure of $4237. He said $850 went for the printing of literature and the rest against wet drives in Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, North Carolina, Delaware, Montana and Massachusetts.

With the Republican National Committee not at liberty to take a hand in the wet and dry fight, Lucas declared he made an effort to "offset the hurtful effect the hundreds of thousands of dollars spent by Democratic Chairman Raskob and the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment by using a cartoon which called attention to the evils of the barroom and giving publicity to Raskob's slogan: 'I am accepting the chairmanship of the Democratic National Committee to help Al Smith rid the country of this damnable prohibition.'"

"THOUSANDS SPENT"

Lucas in a statement issued before leaving for Louisville for the holidays said these cartoons were used in States where these two forces were spending thousands of dollars "against our Republican candidates."

He added:

"The Nye committee shall be given every co-operation in the inspection of the Republican National Committee's records of expenditure and I can give assurance that our records will be found proper and correct to the penny.

"I shall demand of the Nye committee that a similar inspection be made of the books of the Democratic National Committee, the Democratic Senatorial Committee, Mr. John J. Raskob and the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment."

This brought immediate retort from the antiprohibition organization's president, Henry H. Curran, asserting that Lucas is "untruthful."

"I am beginning to wonder how much Lucas and Fess are helping the Republican party," Curran said.

Curran denied that his association had spent a single dollar in the Nebraska campaign, into which Lucas had injected the barroom cartoons.

MORE OF STATEMENT

Mr. Lucas's statement continued:

"Senator Norris cannot understand why I would personally spend that much money for the Republican party. Of course, Senator Norris would not understand why anybody would spend that much for the Republican party."

Senator Watson, Indiana, Republican leader, in his first discussion of the Lucas case, asserted tonight that the question was one confronting the President and the national committee.

"The issue of Senator Norris's regularity is not before the Senate," he said. "A year ago when the Senate organized after Senator Norris had opposed the candidacy of Mr. Hoover the Republicans took no action against him. In the last election Senator Norris was elected as a Republican and I do not see now how we can take any action. However, that is not before us and will not be before us until next year, when the new Senate organizes.

"As for Mr. Lucas, the selection of officers for the national committee is one belonging to the President. If he wants to keep Lucas I will support him to the limit."

Meanwhile Senator Fess, Republican National Committee chairman, said:

"I know nothing about these statements; they were not shown to me before they were issued. They are not statements from the Republican National Committee, but are Mr. Lucas's own views."

HOOVER LISTS RELIEF FUNDS

Nation to Put $724,058,500 in Unemployment Aid

Agriculture's Remedies to Cost $170,000,000

Road, Building and Harbor Work to Be Speeded

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23. (Exclusive)—The Federal government will spend $724,058,500 on unemployment relief and $170,000,000 for agricultural relief during the calendar year just ahead, according to an analytical statement of the administration's program made public today by President Hoover.

These huge totals compare with about $275,000,000 the government has been spending each year for the same purposes prior to the depression.

AGRICULTURE AID

Relief for agriculture in all forms, including appropriations for the Farm Board, will total $250,000,000 for the fiscal year 1931-32. The amount to be spent in 1931 is just half that figure, plus the recent emergency drought-aid appropriation of $45,000,000.

Of the total of $724,058,500, $116,000,000 will be used on emergency projects speeded ahead to provide employment during the critical period of the next six months. To this amount will be added $30,000,000 available by the application of accumulated and unexpended balances from previous appropriations which now can be expended through the expedition gained by the authority to employ outside architects on government building projects.

SPEED CONSTRUCTION

The emergency fund of $116,000,000 for public construction will be divided into two parts, with $90,000,000 spent on highway construction and $25,000,000 on river and harbor improvements.

President Hoover pointed out that in order to arrive at the expenditures for construction work during the calendar year 1931 he had taken half the budget figure for 1931 and half that for 1932 and added the emergency appropriation.

HOOVER FIGURES

His figures then stood as follows: Federal aid to highways for calendar year 1931, including $90,500,000 emergency funds, $219,922,500; public works, including $30,000,000 emergency appropriation, $173,869,000; rivers and harbors, including $25,500,000 emergency funds, $159,857,000; ship construction, $129,920,000; aircraft and air navigation, $30,882,000; miscellaneous, $9,607,000—total, $724,058,500.

President Green of the American Federation of Labor, said today that latest reports to him indicated 5,300,000 unemployed at this time, an increase of 300,000 over November. He declared, however, that the increase in the idle ranks was less for this time of the year than normally.

Miss Bennett divorced the millionaire in Paris in 1929. Downey is the husband of her sister Barbara.

CLADOCERA EVOLUTION GUMMED UP

Two Suit Cases Chock Full of Data on Water Flies Stolen From Professor

NEW YORK, Dec. 23. (AP)— Solen: Two suit cases full of data on the evolution of the Cladocera, from a locked sedan in front of a church.

Dr. Arthur M. Banta, visiting professor of experimental zoology at Brown University, revealed the theft today by advertising a $100 reward for the return of the material, which constitutes the result of five years' research on the life and death of the water fly.

The suit cases were stolen Friday night, he said, when Miss Thelma Wood, his assistant, stopped to visit friends here, en route from Providence, R. I., to Norristown, Pa., to study the contents during the holidays.

"The data," said Dr. Banta, threw some new light upon the breeding and the evolution of those particular species. It took five years to produce them. There is no way to duplicate them in a less period of time and nothing can be published without these data, which are necessary to support the conclusions I have reached in my researches."

ARC'S TRISECTING SIMPLER

Boston Mathematician Tells of New Method to Divide Circles Into Any Desired Units

NEWTON (Mass.) Dec. 23. (AP)—A method of trisecting an arc or of dividing a circle, or a part of a circle, into any desired unit was revealed today by Prof. Harold A. Zager, head of the mathematics department at Boston College. George A. Hurd, a Boston manufacturer, was credited with originating the new method, which was completed in collaboration with Prof. Zager.

Trisection of the arc is a problem that has puzzled generations of students of geometry and mathematics. Bisecting an arc—cutting a curved line into two equal parts—was easily accomplished. Cutting the same curved line into three equal parts proved the stumbling block. However, various methods were evolved.

SQUARE AND ANGLE

Those methods, Prof. Zager said, have used the circle as the basis from which to work. The method worked out by himself and Hurd, he said, "is the only one using the square and angle only." He demonstrated the method by a few sweeps of the compass, and the drawing of a few lines. Zager and Hurd are reticent about exact proof and detail because they plan to have the method copyrighted.

They assert it has broad application in navigation, range finding at sea, and even in astronomy.

SUPERIOR SYSTEM

Reiterating the new method can be applied to determining any unit of an arc or circle accurately, Prof. Zager said it is in this respect the discovery is superior to previously evolved systems. The older methods, he said, "failed after a certain critical angle was reached."

There is a human drama behind the announcement—the story of Hurd, a manufacturer who was fired with the ambition to solve this ancient problem, and who laid aside his business ten years ago to that end. At length, he evolved the present theory, based upon square and angle instead of the circle—a method in which the previous theory based upon the circle only was reversed. He met Prof. Zager last fall, described his ideas and convinced the professor he had achieved an important discovery. Together they perfected the remaining details.

POWER BOARD OUSTS THREE

Bonner and Two Others Let Out at First Meeting

"Internal Strife" Stated to Have Caused Action

Move Arouses Protests by Several Legislators

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23. (AP)—In their first day of operations, Claude L. Draper—today discharged F. E. Bonner, executive secretary of the commission, Charles A. Russell, its solicitor, and William V. King, the chief accountant.

Bonner announced he had resigned from the government service shortly before Dr. Smith announced the three had been removed from office. Dr. Smith said he had accepted no resignation from Bonner, and so far as he is concerned, each is in the same class.

IMMEDIATE PROTEST

An immediate protest arose on Capitol Hill against the discharge of Russell and King.

Hurried conferences in the Senate resulted in half a dozen demands for reconsideration of the nominations of the three members of the commission who participated in the action.

Several Senators and members of the House, both Republican and Democratic, condemned the commission for dismissing the two employees they considered "able public servants, friendly to the public's interests."

Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, announced he will move to reconsider the vote by which Draper was confirmed. He voted against Smith and Garsaud, and therefore cannot move to reconsider their confirmation.

Brookhart's move was soon sponsored by Senators Borah, Republican, Idaho; Norris, Republican, Nebraska; Nye, Republican North Dakota; Wheeler, Democrat Montana, and Dill, Democrat, Washington.

"STRIFE" BLAMED

The commission chairman, in announcing the action, said the employees had been dismissed because of "internal strife of the past few months." He denied any influence had been exerted on the commission.

King pointed out he is a civil service employee and indicated he will challenge the commission's authority to dismiss him.

Russell declared the commission's action was "a signal to all men who are trying to protect the publict interests they had better be careful."

Senator Walsh of Montana in a letter to Smith, expressed "amazement" at the commission's action and said he is "unable to interpret it in any light except as punishment of two devoted public servants for the faithful discharge of duties that devolved upon them."

Wheeler commented that the commission's action is "proof Smith and Garsaud were tools of the power trust."

FRANCO-ITALIAN PACT HOPED FOR

Naval Conversations to Be Resumed in Geneva

Both Nations Showing "Good Dispositions" on Issue

Temporary Holiday Runs on Pending Parleys

PARIS, Dec. 23. (AP)—Franco-Italian naval conversations will be resumed at Geneva next month just before the opening of sessions of the League of Nations Council.

Both France and Italy are described as showing "good dispositions" to achieve an agreement which would permit adherence to the London naval treaty. The whole problem was the subject of discussions today between Robert Craigie, who was a British delegate to the London naval conference, and Count Rene Massigli, the French delegate to Geneva.

SARRAUT WELL POSTED

A new factor in the situation is that Albert Sarraut, the new French Minister of the Navy, is thoroughly familiar with the naval and colonial problems which to the French mind are indissolubly linked.

Sarraut has begun intensive study of the Franco-Italian question with Aristide Briand and has indicated the importance he attaches to the matter by appointing as director of his Naval Bureau, Admiral Darlan, who was naval adviser to Count Massigli in the recent Geneva conversations with Italian representatives.

The French position was authoritatively outlined to the Associated Press tonight as follows:

First, France accepts parity with Italy in the Mediterranean and is willing to reduce her naval strength there to any point Italy desires.

ADDED FLEET WANTED

Second, France will want an additional fleet of 140,000 tons to cover the strength of the fleet which Germany eventually will be able to put in the North Sea.

Third, France will need a total of 100,000 tons to maintain her defense communications with distant colonies.

The temporary naval holiday with Italy which expired December 1, will be extended into January to await the outcome of the Geneva conversations.

Leading French newspapers urge the government to avoid weakness in dealing with the Italian problem, insisting weakness eventually would imperil the French possessions in Africa.

SCRUB WOMEN REIMBURSED

Harvard Men Make Up Purse to Cover Wage Loss in Minimum Pay Dispute

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) Dec. 23. (AP)—Christmas presents ranging in size from $300 to $69 were left today at the humble homes of nineteen scrub women who did their bit for Harvard education until they were discharged just a year ago.

In Widener library, where the accumulated knowledge of the world from Confucius to Einstein is stored in stack on stack of books, these women for years dusted the books and swept the floors for the comfort of the students Harvard-trained and the scholars Harvard-nurtured.

Then the minimum wage commission of Massachusetts told the great university these unpretentious handmaidens of the arts had been paid 2 cents an hour less than the least the law required. The scrubwomen lost their jobs.

The corporation, governing body of the university, investigated and, after several months, announced the women had not been underpaid because they had been granted half-hour rest periods not required by law and included in the hours of work for which they were paid.

A group of Harvard undergraduates, teachers and alumni, headed by Corliss Lamont, the son of J. P. Morgan's partner, Thomas W. Lamont, was not satisfied. The sum of $3880 was raised by 268 of them to make up the back wages. In the form of savings bank account books the money was distributed today so the scrub women might use some of it for Christmas presents.

In letters accompanying the gifts the givers said, "We hope that the payment of back wages by Harvard men will convince you that the corporation's attitude has been from start to finish a misrepresentation of Harvard. A very Merry Christmas and a very Happy New Year."

World Trade Declared to Be Showing Improvement

Growth of Airplane Travel in China Described

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 23. (AP)—World trade has begun to improve, Capt. Robert Dollar, steamship company head, said on arriving here today from a tour of the Orient. He came on the President Taft.

Business conditions in the Philippines he found better than in any other part of the Orient. Japan, he said, is making a good uphill start after having been through severe commercial hardships.

The outlook is better in China, he said. Conditions are actually booming in Shanghai, where a population of 3,000,000 enjoys a stable government and security under which trade has flourished.

The remainder of the nation needs stabilization, he observed. Warfare and banditry, along with the burden of supporting an army of 3,000,000 soldiers, have held back commerce, but with President Chiang Kai-shek's new and aggressive campaign against the Reds hope has been rekindled that the great commercial resources of China will again be made accessible to world trade, he said.

Development of aviation in China, Capt. Dollar said, is progressing more rapidly than America realizes, and has become an important influence on business.

The speed of the airplane was some help to Capt. Dollar in making business calls on 735 persons. One of these was President Chiang Kai-shek, who pledged not only to push the extermination of the Reds with vigor, but to have piers built in the Yangtze River so the stream will do its own dredging. This will enable larger liners to dock at Shanghai without scraping their bottoms on the mud of the river bottom.

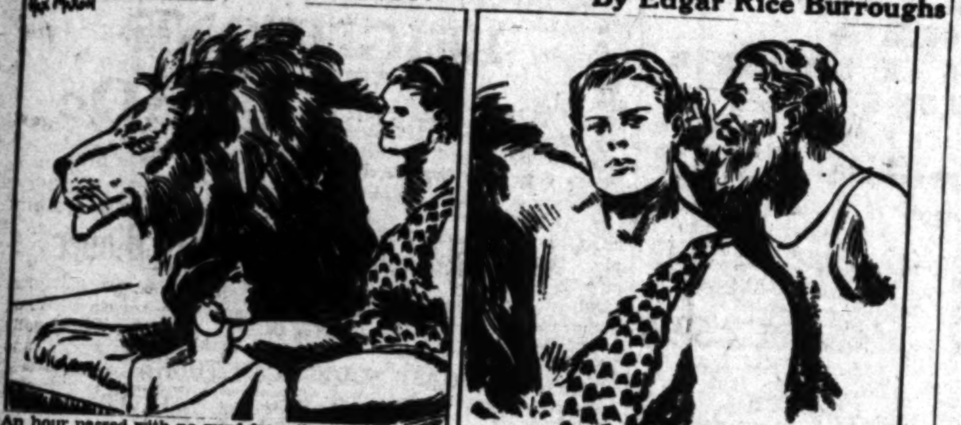
A CHUCKLE FOR EVERYBODY

TARZAN AND THE GOLDEN LION

By Edgar Rice Burroughs



An hour passed with no word from the Bolgani and no resumption of hostilities. Then came to the main entrance of the throne room that gorilla-man whom Tarzan had dispatched with his demand for the Bolgani's surrender. "We will never surrender," was their answer. As the ape-man, half-reclining upon the dais, flung one arm about Jad-bal-ja, he could hear outside movements among the Bolgani. What were they up to? The ape-man and La waited impatiently for the black reinforcements. Would they never come?

"They are hatching some evil plan," excitedly exclaimed the old man. "Watch out for a surprise soon." "Calm yourself," replied Tarzan, easily, "remember, they are not supermen—only beasts." "Beasts they may be," the old man answered, "but they are beasts with the brains of men. Long have I lived among them; their cunning and cruelty are diabolical." A long silence ensued, which began to unnerve the Gomangani. To the failure of their fellows to come to their aid was added fear of what the Bolgani were planning.

The silence was more terrifying than an actual assault. It became too much for La. Restlessly she went, disdaining caution, to a part of the room where she could see the terrace and gardens. She beheld, massed outside, scores of gorilla-men. Going quickly to the opposite side of the throne room, she drew the hangings before one of the entrances. That, too, had its guard of Bolgani. They stood there motionless, making no effort to seize or harm her. Plainly, Tarzan was completely hedged in by enemies.

Tarzan, himself, had also noted how the Bolgani had blocked every avenue of escape. "Soon they will strike," remarked the old man, "our doom is near." "Perhaps you are right," replied Tarzan, "but at least we shall give them a good fight." "What is that?" exclaimed La. At a sudden noise they gazed at the ceiling. There, traps were being lifted from a dozen openings revealing the scowling faces of several score gorilla-men. And as if in answer to La's question the Bolgani began hurling burning bundles of oil-soaked rags into the throne room.

COMBINE OF RAIL GROUP IN MAKING

Executives of Eastern Lines Confer on Plans but Keep Silent

NEW YORK, Dec. 23. (AP)—Representatives of four big eastern railroads, after an all-day conference concerning plans for consolidation, adjourned late this afternoon without reaching any final decision. Further meetings will be held.

Railroads involved in the discussions are the New York Central, the Pennsylvania, the Baltimore and Ohio and the Chesapeake and Ohio.

The meeting today was guarded by close secrecy. The only announcement which came from the Pennsylvania offices and was approved by the three other roads stated simply the meeting produced no conclusions, but that further meetings would be held.

Consolidation rumors involving the four lines have been heard in Wall street for some time. The roads have been known to be considering consolidation over a period of years, but Wall street believes them nearer than ever at this time to reaching an agreement.

Although no officials would talk about any of the considerations involved in the proposed consolidation, financial circles generally believe that one matter involved is the sale to the Chesapeake and Ohio by the Pennsylvania of the latter's control of the Lehigh Valley, this to be in return for cash and trackage rights on the Nickel Plate along Lake Erie. The question of rights over the Lehigh to give the Pennsylvania entry to Bethlehem, Pa., also is presumed to have been a matter of discussion.

Power Utility Profits Gain

American Commonwealths Power Corporation and subsidiaries reported yesterday net earnings for the twelve months ended November 30, of $5,757,124 after all charges excepting depreciation, equal after preferred dividends to $2.77 on the average amount of Class A and B shares outstanding, against $4,285,141, or $1.89 after depreciation a year ago.

Gross revenues aggregated $27,899,635, against $24,721,431 in the preceding year, an increase of $3,178,204. Net operating income after operating expenses, maintenance and general taxes totaled $13,298,091, as compared with $10,879,146 a year ago, a gain of $2,418,945.

BROADWAY STORE DECLARES REGULAR

AIR BUSINESS PROGRESSES

Los Angeles-Atlanta Line Reports Gains in Mail, Express and Passenger Traffic

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Although in operation only since October 15, the Los Angeles-Atlanta air route operated by Southern Air Fast Express has already yielded a respectable volume of mail, express and passenger business. Edward H. Sharpe, assistant to the president, yesterday reported December business to date is substantially ahead of November even allowing for the anticipated holiday gain in traffic.

This satisfactory increase in business also obtains throughout the system operated by American Airways, Inc., of which Southern Air Fast Express is a division. Mr. Sharpe's reports from the company's New York office show a gain of $11,147.36 in November over the previous month, although the number of miles flown decreased and passenger traffic dropped off on account of weather conditions.

DECEMBER HIGHER

On the Los Angeles-Atlanta line the mail business in December to date is about 12 per cent ahead of the entire month of November, according to Mr. Sharpe's figures. The greatest volume of mail over this line is Los Angeles bound, but from Phoenix, Tucson and El Paso the preponderance is eastward.

Much of the mail business out of Los Angeles and from Arizona and Texas points consists of monthly statements, reports, etc., from oil, mining and industrial companies addressed to the New York offices. The banks, however, are the largest mail customers over this line, sending securities for transfer, negotiable instruments and other valuable papers in considerable volume.

The express business from Los Angeles to the East by way of Atlanta is recording a healthy gain of about 50 per cent since Southern Air Fast Express started operations. This volume comprises small mechanical parts for interior points, small package goods, etc. The flower shipments of gardenias and poinsettias to New York are becoming more important. The holiday volume of package goods both east and west bound has been up to expectations.

TRAVEL HEAVY

Ever since the line opened, the westbound passenger travel has been running at or close to capacity, Mr. Sharpe said, which indicates to the management that ultimately the revenues from the passenger business will form a considerable part of total gross earnings. The winter travel to Los Angeles is increasing now at such a rate that frequently the transport planes are unable to take passengers at Phoenix and Tucson bound for this city. Arizona-Los Angeles travel is always a large portion of the westbound volume.

East-bound passenger travel is picking up rapidly, according to Mr. Sharpe. For December to date the gain has been about 43 per cent over the same period in November. Phoenix and Tucson supply a substantial amount of this business.

Yesterday was the record day for the Los Angeles-Atlanta line. Mail poundage exceeded the souvenir volume on the opening day, and the transports carried full loads.

Bonus checks are based upon duration of service with the company and the annual salary rate of the individual. In all, employees in more than 1450 stores as well as in the New York and St. Louis district offices will receive checks Christmas Eve.

Exchange Lists New Neon Stock

Governors of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange approved yesterday the listing of 5415 additional shares of Claude Neon Electrical Products, Ltd., to cover the 2 per cent stock dividend which is payable January 1.

The exchange has been notified that no fractional shares will be issued on this dividend and that stockholders entitled to fractional shares will be reimbursed in cash from a fund to be accumulated by sale of the sum total of the fractional shares.

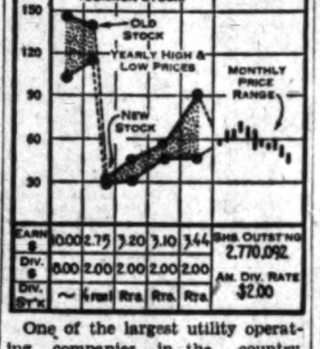
WHAT'S BEHIND YOUR STOCK



One of the largest utility operating companies in the country, Southern California Edison has in recent years been undergoing a rapid growth both in earning power and value of properties developed for operation. The greatest portion of the organization's power requirements was formerly derived from extensive hydroelectric water-power sources on the lakes and rivers of the Sierra Nevada Mountains, but steam generating facilities have more recently been built up to a capacity of about 50 per cent of the annual power production of the company—forestalling any possibility of water supply failure. The territory served, with a population of about 3,000,000, includes the important centers of Los Angeles, Pasadena, Long Beach and Santa Barbara.

Gross revenues for the first eight months of 1930 showed a moderate increase, although net for the same period was substantially the same as a year ago. This satisfactory showing has been made despite rate reductions and lessened agricultural sales.

Exporters Meet Higher Copper Price Schedule

NEW YORK, Dec. 23. (AP)—Export copper was advanced one-quarter of 1 cent a pound by Copper Exporters, Inc., today, to 10.55 cents, c.i.f. European base ports.

The increase resulted from a firming of the price of the metal in the domestic market yesterday, when custom smelters offered limited tonnages at 10 1-4 cents, delivered, an increase of 1-4 of 1 cent.

Sales of copper in the export market totaled 4,000,000 pounds during the forenoon.

In the domestic market today some of the metal was sold at 10 1-4 cents delivered, but trade circles reported that custom smelters now are reluctant to sell at that figure.

Bank Explains Proxy Request

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Officials of the Corn Exchange Bank Trust Company today stated that no plans for any increase in the capital are contemplated in the near future and that in the five-year proxy recently mailed to stockholders authority was merely asked to increase the capital stock to $20,000,000 from $15,000,000. The proposal will be voted on at the annual meeting January 13.

It was pointed out by officials that on previous occasions when the five-year proxies were asked of stockholders, provisions also were made for future increases in capital. The bank increased its capital last July to $15,000,000 from $12,100,000.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 23. (AP)—An early decline in cotton under some further liquidation and a little southern selling was promoted today by easy Liverpool cables.

Offerings were light, however, and there were rallies later on covering and rebuying, while there seemed to be a little trade or commission house demand for provisions. Prices just about recovered their early losses, but the bulges were not fully maintained, with the active months ruling about net unchanged to 3 points lower around 2 o'clock.

DEPRESSION FACTOR CITED

Silas Strawn of Chicago Blames Dumping of Russian Products, in Part, for Present Situation

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Silas H. Strawn, Chicago business man, lawyer and banker, vice-president of the International Chamber of Commerce, returned from Europe yesterday and made a few interesting remarks regarding conditions as he saw them.

"The present economic situation differs from all others," Mr. Strawn said. "Because it is world-wide and an early recovery can be accomplished only with the co-operation of the citizens of all nations. It is a condition calling for the leadership of business men and financial men."

Upon the subject of Russian goods being dumped on the world's markets, Mr. Strawn said:

"The Russians are forcing upon the world large quantities of grain, raw materials and finished products at prices which, in many instances, are below the normal costs of production. It does not seem practicable to stop this practice by collective action."

Mr. Strawn inferred that the increasing unemployment in each European country is the power which is now forcing European manufacturers to not only trade with Russia, but to extend credit to her, often on more favorable terms than they give to their own fellow-countrymen, for by this method it enables the various countries to keep up their own production.

Russia remains not only the biggest problem in Europe, but in the world. Every American business leader, who studies Europe at all, indicates as much upon his return.

The United States government is the largest organized spender in the world. The amounts are fantastic. The government used to spend hundreds of millions and think it too much. Now the totals are in billions—around $4,000,000,000—and very little is said about it.

Here's the allocation of the Federal tax dollar, as actually distributed for the year 1929-30, together with the estimate for 1931-32:

	1929-30 Actual Cents.	1931-32 Est. Cents.
Public debt (war cost)	30.7	26.3
Veterans' Bureau (war cost)	13.0	15.1
Navy Department (war cost)	9.4	8.8
War Department (war cost)	8.2	8.4
Pensions (war cost)	5.5	6.1
Highways, Federal aid	2.1	3.1
Rivers, harbors and flood control	2.6	2.7
Public buildings	1.5	2.2
Postal deficit	2.3	2.9
Federal Farm Board	3.8	2.6
Prohibition Bureau	0.4	0.3
Coast Guard	0.7	0.8
Tax refunds	3.2	2.4
Administration, executive and general	16.6	18.3
Totals	100.0	100.0

Add the first five items in the first column and we find 66.8 cents out of every dollar the Federal government spent was for some war expense—past or future. The total in the second column for 1931-32 shows that 64.7 cents will go for the same purpose.

Who says war can be divorced from business? It never has been and it looks like it never will be.

New Reductions in Mail-Order Prices Effected

NEW YORK, Dec. 23. (AP)—Further reductions in price schedules of mail-order houses came to light today, and reports indicate the cheaper quotations are stimulating business.

Montgomery Ward & Co. has cut prices about 10 to 25 per cent from those of a year ago, and says the fact "we are again extending the privilege of easy payments in everything we sell, except groceries, is substantial proof of our faith in the future and in the ability of the public to meet its obligations."

Similar price reductions were recently announced by Sears, Roebuck & Co., National Bellas Hess Company, which has made cuts of 15 to 45 per cent in its midwinter schedules, is reported to have received cash business already ahead of total cash business of December a year ago.

Montgomery Ward also announced it had made large purchases of merchandise and had placed heavy commitments for the future. The company is not planning to open any more retail stores in 1931.

Cotton Acreage Cut Forecast

MEMPHIS, Dec. 23. (Exclusive)—A cotton acreage reduction of 15 per cent in 1931 is envisaged as highly probable by E. F. Creekmore, New Orleans, general manager of the American Cotton Co-operative Association, who stopped in Memphis today on his way to Fort Smith, his home, to spend the holidays. The A.C.C.A. is the government's cotton stabilization organization.

"Financial conditions are the most important factor in determining the acreage to be planted and these favor a reduction this year," said Mr. Creekmore, "I am basing my estimate on the experiences of 1921 and 1926."

MARKET PRICES UP AT CLOSING

Trading Tone Brighter After Hesitant Start

Rail Group Records Largest Upturn for Day

Turnover in Sessions Heavy for Holiday Eve

NEW YORK, Dec. 23. (AP)—The stock market had trouble deciding which way to go today, but finally caught the Christmas spirit and closed slightly higher after a session of wide irregularity. Trading was active, in view of the holiday's nearness and sales totaled 2,543,18 shares.

Three distinct selling movements were disposed of. The second, coming just before noon, was the severest, but the subsequent rally was also the day's best. That recovery saw a number of stocks up 3 to 5 points, only to lose their gains when pressure was reapplied in the middle of the afternoon. The market again rallied at the close, however, when many of the rails were strong. Pivotal industrials were slightly changed.

The better tone of copper, which was advanced 1-4 of a cent for export delivery, and the good demand for domestic metal was a helpful influence.

Strength of the railroad shares which gained roughly 1 to 5 points had no assistance from the November earnings statements, but may have been based on hope of a definite announcement on the results of the day's consolidation conferences. Last month's net operating income reported by about a dozen carriers showed large losses in comparison with October.

The Iron Age estimate steel production was down to 35 per cent of capacity against 38 a week ago and it might go to 25 by the end of the year caused little surprise.

The cut in the New York Federal Reserve Bank's rediscount rate offered confirmation of reports the easy money policy was to be maintained and credit was to be made even cheaper as an encouragement to business. Outstanding credit was somewhat reduced in the week covered by the weekly consolidated member bank report appearing today, for security loans were down $28,000,000 and commercial loans dropped $139,000,000.

The day's movement in stock prices was broad. The last flurry of selling, quickly checked, coincided with the closing of a small New York bank that had no connection with the financial district, but the shorts who sold on that news had to be content with a small turn. United States Steel, American Can, Westinghouse and other favorites moved in a range of 3 points or more and closed firm. American Telephone traveled a 4-point path, finishing 1½ higher. Auburn Auto's 10-point move was exceptional. It gained about 2 points net.

The stronger rails included Atchison, up 5. Far easterns eased with another sag in bar silver.

CHRISTMAS TURKEYS COST FATHER LESS

PORTERVILLE, Dec. 23.—Christmas turkeys will cost the householder considerably more than the Thanksgiving bird, according to W. B. Roby, manager of the Porterville Poultry Association. In other years the Thanksgiving "piece de resistance" came higher for "pater familias," but this season the situation is reversed. Turkey growers are quoting No. 1 toms, live weight, at 27 cents, with No. 1 hens at 25 cents. Dressed birds will sell at 33 cents and 35 cents. The association handles the turkeys at about 3 cents additional per pound.

ORANGE SEASON ENDS FOR THREE RIVERS

THREE RIVERS, Dec. 23.—The orange season in this section is drawing to a close. All growers have finished picking except Savage Brothers and J. E. Barton. The fruit this year was exceptionally clean, well flavored and ran to large sizes. It was handled by the Sequoia Packing Association and Lemon Cove Association. One grower sent his fruit through the Lindsay-Merryman Packing Association at Merryman.

London has thrown its public parks open to fishermen.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Dec. 23. (AP)—The bond market softened today, although it was the foreign section and the speculative domestics that showed the largest degree of weakness.

There was, however, enough selling of high-grade issues, especially rails, to carry prices down fractionally in this department. United States governments also sagged.

Action of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York in reducing the rediscount rate was of special interest in bond circles. It was pointed out the extension of the easy money policy would doubtless make corporate issues more attractive to member banks, and that switching from government securities, which the banks have been buying in substantial amounts, might be expected.

In the rails, there were declines of ½ point or more in Atchison general 4s and Union Pacific 4½s.

Losses of a point or more in International Hydro-Electric 6s, Armour 5½s, and Shell Union Oil 5s were offset by firmer prices for International Cement 5s, International Telephone 5s and American Smelting 5s.

Berlin City Electric issues, Chile 6s, the Bolivians, Uruguay 6s of 1964, and others were off 2 to 6 points.

Of the United States governments, only the Liberty Fourth 4¼s turned over in much volume. That issue dropped ⅛ of a point.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

Total sales today, $12,119,000; previous day, $13,021,000; week ago, $14,066,000; year ago, $7,996,000; two years ago, holiday; Jan. 1 to date, $2,720,193,000; same year ago, $3,076,376,000; same two years ago, $2,896,301,000.

LOS ANGELES MARKET

CATTLE—The light receipts included three loads of good steers that arrived late and a load or two of desirable cows and heifers. Trade was moderately active on killing classes at about steady rates. The 635 head of holdovers were largely stocker and feeder cattle that were getting little action.

Three loads of good steers averaging around 1050 to 1150 pounds were expected to sell at 9.25. A few odd head of steers brought 7.50@8.50, with common at considerably less money. A load of light steers went to a feeder at 7.25.

May Delivery of Corn Drops to Year's Low

CHICAGO, Dec. 23. (AP)—Upturns in grain values formed the rule most of the time today, but corn toward the last backslid to fresh bottom levels. Influenced by profit-taking, old May corn dropped to 68¾ cents per bushel, outdoing the season's previous low. Earlier, corn had scored brisk gains owing largely to curtailment of receipts, with wheat advancing as a result of unlooked for rallies in Liverpool quotations and because of official statement domestic old crop wheat prices would be maintained and at perhaps higher figures.

Wheat closed unsettled, ⅜@½ cent per bushel above yesterday; corn, ⅛@1 cent down; oats unchanged to ⅛ cent off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 25 cents.

An outstanding development in Chicago wheat was evidence purchases of old crop wheat were made for other than government-sponsored bodies.

Oats followed corn.

SHIPPING NEWS AND ACTIVITIES AT LOS ANGELES HARBOR

START OF PORT PROJECTS NEAR

District Engineer Calls for Bids on Three

Cost of Dredging Jobs Fixed at About $500,000

Work Expected to Get Under Way in January

BY WAYNE B. CAVE

Advertising for bids yesterday was started by Maj. W. H. Lanagan, United States district engineer here, for the dredging of 3,000,000 cubic yards of earth in three deepening and widening projects at both Los Angeles and Long Beach harbors. The jobs are expected to total $500,000.

Launching of the projects at this time is declared possible through the passage of the bill appropriating $116,000,000 for the public building fund.

The call for bids will be advertised for ten days and upon receipt of tenders, the award is to follow promptly to permit start on the work by mid-January.

The three areas affected, on each of which the bids will be tendered separately, are the turning basin, Los Angeles Harbor; Cerritos channel, Los Angeles, and Cerritos channel, Long Beach. The turning basin strip will be widened to 650 feet, the Cerritos channel to 400. All will be deepened to thirty-five feet. Completion is called for by July 1, next.

The City of Long Beach also will call for bids soon after January 1, on the dredging of 450,000 yards of earth from its outer harbor. Another Long Beach job, the construction of a new concrete wharf and rock revetment, awarded to R. R. Bishop for $104,912, is expected to start within a week.

MERCHANT SEAMEN IN PORT TO HAVE TURKEY

Marine Service Bureau will be host Christmas noon at a turkey dinner to merchant seamen ashore, to be given at the Cookery, 323 West Seventh street, San Pedro.

Several hundred are expected to tuck their feet under the festive boards in accordance with the annual custom. This season more seamen are without jobs than in years, and even with good fortune deck and black gang ticket-holders wait sixty days or more ashore for their turn at jobs aboard ships.

Customs Service has a construction gang altering the old Guasti warehouse near Alameda street between Fifth and Sixth streets, Los Angeles, which will be taken over the first of the year as an appraiser's store. The building is one story and fire proof, and comprises 70,000 square feet of floor space. Laboratories for the Food, Drug and Insecticide Administration also will be installed in the building.

Capt. Norman Wilson is in San Francisco getting acquainted with a new daughter, his first, named Audrey Eileen, born while he was in mid-Pacific. His ship, the Silverbell, is at the Los Angeles shipyards undergoing overhaul.

Capt. John Silvia, who claims he is one of the few American-born skippers in the Pacific Coast lumber fleet, yesterday was celebrating his twenty-fourth year in the service of the McCormick Steamship Company, which he joined on Christmas Day in 1906 on the Yosemite. He now commands the Peter Helm, largest lumber vessel in the McCormick fleet, now in port from the Northwest.

W. P. Montague, district manager for the Hamburg American Lines, returned yesterday from another fortnightly tour through Southwestern United States, where his agents reported bountiful crops and a decided improvement in economic conditions. Montague reports that whatever conditions have been elsewhere, Los Angeles passenger travel is holding up remarkably well, with large travel bookings for the ensuing year.

Lady M. Richmond Brown is among the half dozen passengers due from England the 28th inst., on the Furness-Pacific motor liner Pacific Pioneer. The vessel will discharge European cargo and 15,000 stems of Panama bananas here and sail direct for Vancouver.

The Osaka Shosen Kaisha express freighter Tokai Maru sailed for New York yesterday after discharging 200 bales of Japanese silk and 1500 tons of general cargo, and is carrying 4500 bales of silk in her holds. A sistership, the Kinai Maru, returned yesterday from New York to load for Japan.

Vuelve a Presentarse la Niebla Venenosa en Bélgica

BRUSELAS, Diciembre 23.—El periódico "Libre Belgique" dice hoy que la "niebla tóxica", que mató a diecisiete personas en el valle del Mosa a principios de este mes, ha vuelto a aparecer en la misma región. Ha ocurrido una defunción en Tillieur, y se han presentado varios casos graves en Flemelle, según la gacetilla del citado diario. Han aparecido también otros casos en Hermalle-sous-Huy.

La Tormenta del Golfo Causa Cinco Muertes en Tampico

TAMPICO, Diciembre 23.—Se ahogaron cinco personas a causa de la mar gruesa y las tormentas determinadas aquí ayer por un fuerte norte. Tres marineros yanquis perecieron barridos por las olas de la cubierta del pequeño buque-tanque "Dunganon", que venía remolcado hacia este puerto. Son ellos el capitán Hugo Soneson, Joe Strack y un individuo no identificado.

La mujer y la hija de Félix González se ahogaron al zozobrar el bote de éste en el río Pánuco. González ha sido detenido mientras se hace una averiguación.

Santa Claus Desconocido en su Propia Tierra

ESMIRNA (Turquía), Diciembre 23.—Santa es casi desconocido en su ciudad natal.

Aquí es donde Santa Claus, o sea San Nicolás, conocido por nombres diferentes en distintos países, nació, según toda probabilidad; y de lo que no hay duda es de que fue obispo de esta ciudad.

Con todo, sólo un puñado de yanquis y de otros extranjeros cristianos de Esmirna honran a San Nicolás el 25 de Diciembre. Este día, en cambio, en nada se distingue de los otros para los mahometanos, a quienes no les trae las alegrías y las esperanzas que brinda a los cristianos.

En las goteras de Esmirna, en la miserable aldehuela de Dembre, se ven las ruinas de la iglesia de San Nicolás. Allí están también las ruinas de la tumba de mármol del santo, donde fue enterrado en 325 de la era cristiana. Millares de cristianos se llevaron los huesos del santo a Italia, 700 años después de su muerte.

Para los campesinos musulmanes nada significa el nombre de San Nicolás; pero están seguros de que la tumba en cuestión fue la de una persona constituída en santidad. Todavía atan hilachitos en las piedras caídas, con la esperanza de que esos les traiga lo que íntimamente desean.

Los Ferrocarriles Competirán en Pasajes con los Omnibus

WASHINGTON, Diciembre 23.—Tres vías férreas del sudoeste se hallan ahora en posibilidad de tratar de competir en precios de pasajes con los ómnibus y los aviones de línea.

El ferrocarril de San Luis y San Francisco, la compañía ferroviaria de San Luis, San Francisco y Tejas, y la de Fort Worth y Río Grande han recibido permiso especial de la Comisión del Comercio entre Estados para vender billetes sencillos a 2 centavos por milla.

Esta nueva cuota no se aplica ni a los coches salones, ni a los coches Pullman de turistas, ni a los vagones particulares.

La Pareja Morris Tiene que Llenar las Medias de Dieciséis Vástagos

PENWICK (Michigan), Diciembre 23.—Habría palpitado de gozo el corazón del presidente Roosevelt si hubiera podido contemplar este grande hombre la familia de Wilmer Morris, residente de esta ciudad. Cuando el señor Morris llama a sus hijos a comer, dieciséis vástagos responden a su llamada. Y eso quiere decir toda una colección de medias que tendrá que llenar Santa Claus mañana en la noche. Hasta ahora no ha habido una sola defunción en la familia de que hablamos, la que a pesar de ser muy numerosa, se queda un poco atrás de la familia de Edward Butcher, de Murphysboro (Illinois), que, este último sábado, se vio favorecida con el vigésimo descendiente.

"HARD-BOILED" OFFICER PLAYS SANTA

Sheriff's Aide and Wife Make Scores of Children Happy

Annex to Kriss Kringle's Factory
Night Captain Harrod of Sheriff's office and Mrs. Harrod in their workshop putting finishing touches to beautiful home-made gifts.

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 23.—If J. L. Harrod, night captain in charge of the Sheriff's office in Los Angeles, is hard-boiled, so is Santa Claus. So say several hundred boys and girls of the Los Angeles Orthopedic Hospital, the Salvation Army, City Mothers and other humanitarian organizations each Christmas, when the man before whom crooks quaver enjoys his annual Santa Claus role. Tomorrow and Thursday the captain, who is an expert woodworker, will distribute 139 hand-made articles of toy furniture, rolling pins, etc., which he has been making during his off-duty hours at the well-equipped shop he maintains in the rear of his home, 1443 Yale street, Santa Monica.

Mrs. Harrod applies the paint and enamel. She is as enthusiastic as her husband. This year's "Santa Claus bags" includes gifts also for older "children," members of the night crew at the Sheriff's office. A beautifully made smoking stand goes to each. Then there are some "vanities" for grown-up girls, each made with 740 separate pieces of native California redwood and white pine, inlaid and artistically joined.

"They're all alike around Christmas, the little kids and the big," Capt. Harrod declared. "They like to be remembered. And I get a kick out of remembering them. I must get away from the grief of the night shift, you know; and I find my relaxation in woodworking."

A two-story building, large as many professional machine shops, houses the captain's power-driven lathes, surfacing machines and other woodworking equipment.

POLICY ON WATER LAND ANNOUNCED

Condemnation Proposed by Porter in Acquiring Mono Basin Areas

In a formal written statement, issued yesterday, Mayor Porter enunciated the policy of acquiring water-bearing lands for the aqueduct extension in Mono Basin by condemnation proceedings, rather than by negotiation with the owners.

According to City Attorney Werner, one suit, covering about ninety defendants, has been filed in the basin, and service is being made upon these landowners as rapidly as possible. The City Council has requested the State Railroad Commission to make an appraisal of the value of the water rights of the Southern Sierras Company in the basin.

The purchase money is to come from the $38,800,000 voted by the people for the aqueduct extension many months ago.

In his statement Mayor Porter traces his connection with the Mono Basin water project, which began, he says, through fishing trips into that region.

Cab Company Gives Children Yuletide Fete

Five hundred children were made happy yesterday afternoon, their faith in Santa Claus being confirmed by the presence of the old saint himself at the annual Christmas party which was given by the Yellow Cab Company to the children of its employees at Turnverein Hall.

As the children entered each was handed a small grab bag of toys and a bag of candy. Then came sound pictures, a Punch and Judy show and other entertainment. At the conclusion all gathered about the Christmas tree where Santa Claus himself was standing, his bag filled to the brim with individual presents for each child. The festivities were concluded with ice cream.

This party was in line with the established policy of the company, it was stated by George E. Worster, general manager, who supervised the affair. Children of all employees were invited, and special pains were taken to see that each child received the sort of gifts he or she wanted. Preparations for the Christmas party had been under way for the past two weeks.

Mother of Child Dead in Mystery Held for Inquiry

Recommendation that Mrs. Custodia Murillo, 33 years of age, be held for further investigation into the death of her 2-year-old daughter, Elizab Pisano, was made by a Coroner's jury yesterday following an inquest. In its verdict the jury stated it had found the child had died of injuries believed to have been inflicted at the mother's home.

Mrs. Murillo and her third husband, Joe Vasquez, 29, are in County Jail on suspicion of murder. They live at 265 South Sunol Drive, Belvedere Gardens, where they were taken in custody last Saturday by Deputy Sheriffs Morrell and Mendoza. Their arrest was ordered after an East Side undertaker had delivered the child's body at the morgue and called attention to bruises on the body. Mrs. Murillo maintains the baby was injured in a fall from an automobile while being taken to General Hospital.

COUNTING OF JOBLESS TO START SOON

Director Tells Plans for Registering Unemployed in Unincorporated Areas

Registration of the unemployed in unincorporated territory of Los Angeles county will begin with the opening of the schools in the various districts around January 1, according to Harvey C. Fremming, employment stabilization director, following a conference yesterday with Supervisor Shaw, chairman of the county-wide citizens' unemployment committee.

Director Fremming yesterday held a meeting with representatives of the Sheriff's office, county superintendent of schools and fire warden relative to the establishment of places where the unemployment registration will be taken.

The registration will be taken in advance of a survey of work to be done in the county outside of incorporated cities. Efforts then will be made to allocate such work to residents who need it, Director Fremming said.

Occupants of Building Feted by Hellmans

More than 400 tenants and other occupants of the Herman W. Hellman Building, participated yesterday in a Christmas good-will buffet luncheon.

The Herman W. Hellman estate, which owns and operates the building, was represented by Marco H. Hellman and Irving H. Hellman, who received the guests.

A large sixth-floor suite was used for the reception. Christmas heralds greeted the visitors with the strains of muted carols. Luncheon was served between the hours of 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Several of the veteran tenants of the building delivered brief speeches of felicitation to the Hellman brothers, whose father erected the structure.

County Funds Assure Tunnel

Construction of a pedestrian tunnel under Figueroa street at Thirty-ninth street was made possible when the Board of Supervisors yesterday allocated $16,000 from the county good roads fund to help pay for the work. The new tunnel will be in the vicinity of the Coliseum and will provide a safe crossing for thousands of persons during the 1932 Olympic games, according to Supervisor Shaw, on whose motion the money was appropriated.

CAROLS SUNG FOR CHAMBER

Commerce Body Forgets Trade to Listen to Spiritual Talks by Religious Leaders

Motion pictures, climate, industries, agriculture, the harbor and everything else that helps to make the Southland prosperous and famous were temporarily ignored by more than 100 representative business men of Los Angeles yesterday when they sat in the dining-room of the Chamber of Commerce to listen to a program of Christmas carols and to hear outstanding religious leaders extol those spiritual values which are the basis of civilization.

John C. Austin, president of the Chamber of Commerce, who presided, told his audience that while the chamber exists primarily to further the material welfare of Los Angeles, its members are not unmindful of the fact that unless the community grows in righteousness it will be like a city built upon a crumbling foundation.

"The civilization ushered in by the Babe of Bethlehem 2000 years ago has endured in spite of war, famine, superstition and all the weakness and wickedness of the world, and it inspires all true culture of today," said Bishop Cantwell. "Faith in Almighty God is essential to the peace of mind of the individual and the safety and prosperity of nations, and those peoples who, before and since the advent of Jesus, have attempted to abolish the thought of God, have perished."

Declaring that a few generations ago it would have been almost impossible even in America to assemble spiritual leaders of differing churches and creeds, Dr. Maxwell H. Dubin, assistant rabbi of Temple B'nai B'rith, said that one proof that the world is growing better is notable from the increase in the spirit of tolerance and co-operation among adherents of various faiths.

"I rejoice with you in the spirit of good will that marks your Christmas season, and I pray that this spirit may continue to be manifested every day of your new calendar year," said Dr. Dubin. "There are many races, but there is only one humanity, there are many creeds, but the essence of religion is love."

STATE ENJOINED OVER GAS ORDER

Reducing of Rates Held Up by Federal Court

Temporary Action Effective Until January Hearing

Company Asserts Cut Would Overreach Income

United States District Judge James yesterday granted the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation a temporary restraining order prohibiting the California State Railroad Commission and various State officials from carrying into effect a recent order of the commission reducing by 9 per cent the gross revenue of the company.

The order went into effect yesterday and extends until January 2, at which time a Federal statutory court, comprised of one United States Circuit Court Judge, and two United States District Court judges, will determine whether a permanent injunction against the same State agencies shall be in effect pending trial of the case in general. The new lower rates were to have gone in effect January 1, but under the court order will not do so until the statutory court determines the preliminary issues.

Judge James's order is that the temporary restraint remains in effect until January 2 and that on that date the statutory court convenes here. It was stated that United States Circuit Judge Wilbur, Judge James and another United States District judge will hold the hearing January 2.

The gas company asserted in its complaint that the order of the Railroad Commission is confiscatory and in violation of the United States Constitution. It is stated that the net income of the company will be reduced to less than 5 per cent of the investment, whereas the commission asserts it would be 7 per cent. The company says its income would be reduced by about $1,300,000, of which about $1,100,000 would represent net income.

Ship With Four Aboard Hunted by Coast Guard

Coast Guard vessels yesterday took up the search for the fifty-foot fishing boat Effencee, with four Redondo fishermen aboard, which had been overdue at San Pedro for four days. The men are Capt. Jack Belcher, master and owner; Jess Long and two youths whose names are not known.

According to John H. Long, brother of Jess, the craft sailed out of San Pedro the 17th inst. to fish for rock cod near Santa Rosa Island, and took provisions for only three days. They now have been gone a week, and some uneasiness is felt at their failure to appear, following the choppy sea whipped up by an offshore wind Sunday, harassing many small craft.

The Coast Guard patrol boat No. 2:1 is reported searching the course between San Pedro and Santa Rosa Island for the missing craft.

Juveniles Help Less Fortunate

Children of members of the Advertising Club of Los Angeles yesterday gave their aid to Santa Claus in spreading Yuletide cheer to youngsters in the King's Daughters' Day Nursery and the All-Nations Foundation.

Bearing toys, cereals, canned goods, candy and other gifts, they heaped them before Saint Nick in the ballroom of the Biltmore for distribution Christmas Eve.

A Christmas program was given following the luncheon. Earl G. Hicks of the club's Good Samaritan committee was chairman, L. D. West, official host, and Daniel L. Scott presiding officer.

Police Badges to Be Replated

In view of its decision to defer indefinitely distribution of the new regular police badges because they have not met with the approval of either the Police Commission or the police department, the commission yesterday approved the recommendation of Chief of Police Steckel that 150 of the present badges and cap insignia be repaired and replated for distribution to new officers.

The new special badges for officers engaged in private patrol duty in various parts of the city are to be distributed for use beginning January 1, next.

HELLO GIRLS SERENE IN FACE OF TRAGEDY

Girls who plug switchboards at the main exchange of the Southern California Telephone Company, 716 South Olive street, had a chance yesterday to display their traditional calm in the face of peril—and they were found not wanting.

One of their number, Miss Katherine Stevens, 35 years of age, of 1115 South Broadway, had been playing the role of Santa Claus in front of a decorated Christmas tree at the annual Yuletide party. Gifts had been distributed and refreshments served—the affair was about to break up.

"Just a minute, please!" called a company photographer. "We want to make a picture."

The group formed before the tree. Then the boom of the flashlight powder turned the gathering into near-tragedy. Sparks from the explosion ignited the tree and the highly inflammable costume worn by Miss Stevens.

But not one lost her head. While some coolly extinguished the crackling flames about the tree, others gave the same attention to Miss Stevens. She was burned severely, however, about the face, neck and back and is in Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. Surgeons report she will recover. Mrs. Seena Hathaway, supervisor, and Mrs. Nell Kerner, operator, received minor burns in putting out the flames.

AIR MAIL IN CRASH STILL BEING FILED

Authorities Check Up on Shipment Partly Destroyed in Crack-up Monday

Postal authorities continued yesterday to check the 1445-pound air-mail shipment, part of which was burned when a Western Air Express passenger-mail ship made a forced landing and crashed near the company's terminal in Alhambra early Monday morning.

Postmaster O'Brien said registered material in the cargo is being checked against the list forwarded here yesterday from Salt Lake City, where the plane picked up the westbound shipment six hours before it flew through a string of telephone wires and struck a house due to poor visibility from orange grove smudge pots.

It previously had been announced that about 40 per cent of the mail aboard will be salvaged and forwarded.

The only person injured in the landing and fire, Al Osterhout, 65-year-old rancher from Big Piny, Wyo., was burned slightly about the head and hands and was resting yesterday at the home of his daughter in Alhambra. He was the only passenger aboard the plane. Neither the pilot nor the copilot was injured.

Forestry Staff Will Landscape County Hospital

Landscaping of the fifteen acres of ground in connection with the new General Hospital will be done by the County Forestry Department instead of outside contractors, the work to begin soon after the first of the new year.

This was announced yesterday after the Board of Supervisors transferred $25,000 budgeted for landscaping the hospital grounds to the Forestry Department's fund with order to Spence D. Turner, chief county forester, to proceed with the job.

Actual planting of trees and shrubbery will be under direction of J. R. Witmer.

LIGHTING PROTESTS DENIED

Protests against the installation of lighting appliances in Third street between La Brea avenue and Branch Road were denied yesterday by the City Council, while the matter of confirming assessments for the improvement of Laurel Canyon Road between Pacoima avenue and Lookout Mountain Road was continued until Friday.

MRS. PANTAGES'S STIGMA ERASED

Probation Terminated and Slate Wiped Clean

Judge Hardy Grants Plea on Ill-Health Basis

Manslaughter Conviction of 1929 Reversed

Mrs. Lois Pantages's debt to society for the death of Joe Rokomoto, Japanese gardener, who died from injuries received in an automobile accident eighteen months ago, was marked paid by Superior Judge Hardy yesterday when he terminated her ten years' probation agreement, which permits her to return to her normal life with no restrictions imposed by the probation department or the Superior Court.

Judge Hardy's order came as a Christmas present to the wife of Alexander Pantages, millionaire theatrical man, but not as a complete surprise, for Mrs. Pantages had written several letters to the probation department urging officials to request that the probation period be terminated.

NOT GUILTY PLEA MADE

Dismissing the case under section 1203 of the California State Penal Code, Judge Hardy terminated the probation, restored the case to the calendar, entered a plea of not guilty for the defendant and then ordered it dismissed.

This action amounts to a reversal of the original conviction and, unless Mrs. Pantages should some time in the future be tried and convicted of another felony charge, she will assume the status of never having been convicted of a felony. Should Mrs. Pantages face trial at a future date on another charge, however, the manslaughter case will be considered as a prior conviction under the law, Judge Hardy said.

FITTS INDIGNANT

Dist.-Atty. Fitts when informed of Judge Hardy's action expressed indignation over the release order.

"It is a disgusting episode," he said heatedly, "a travesty on justice in Los Angeles county. The excuses offered in extenuation of the order are so flimsy they are sickening. Los Angeles county was put to tremendous expenses through Mrs. Pantages's trial, which lasted over a period of five weeks. She was then convicted and released on ten years' probation, which served adequately the ends of justice."

Mrs. Pantages, convicted of manslaughter for Rokomoto's death September 25, 1929, was released by Judge Hardy on ten years' probation November 8, 1929.

INTOXICATION CHARGED

It was charged that she was intoxicated at the time her automobile collided with one driven by Rokomoto at Sunset Boulevard and Serrano street on the night of June 16, 1929. During her trial, however, Mrs. Pantages denied this charge, stating she was suffering from serious injuries received in the accident. Rokomoto died and several members of his family suffered injuries.

Officers and witnesses asserted they were forced to pursue Mrs. Pantages for several blocks before she would submit to arrest or questioning.

Subsequently her husband was arrested and tried and convicted of attacking Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer. He has since appealed the case to the Supreme Court and the matter is still pending.

According to the files of the case, Mrs. Pantages, November 8 last, wrote Carl May, supervisor of the adult division of the probation department, asking that she be released.

The probation department, however, declined to make any recommendations in the case and the matter eventually was disposed of by Judge Hardy himself.

MRS. PANTAGES'S LETTER

In requesting that she be released from further restrictions, Mrs. Pantages wrote, in part:

"On September 25, 1929, I was convicted of manslaughter in the Superior Court of this county, and thereafter I filed application for probation, which was approved and granted by Judge Carlos Hardy on November 8, 1929, at which time he

THREE DEAD FROM TRAFFIC

Small Girl Killed in Safety Zone and Woman Loses Life on Street; Three Arrested

Two persons were killed outright in traffic accidents here last night and several others were injured possibly fatally. One was a child returning from a Christmas entertainment and the second was an unidentified woman. Both were pedestrians and one was killed inside a safety zone.

At Commonwealth avenue and Wilshire Boulevard a car driven by Edward Fletcher, 21 years of age, 732 Cole avenue, struck two persons crossing the street. A woman was killed instantly and Italiano Corrado, 45, of 1756 East Slauson avenue, is at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital with serious head injuries. Fletcher was booked on suspicion of manslaughter. A broken whisky bottle, asserted to have been taken from his car, was recovered by members of the Central homicide squad, they reported.

Celia Binder, 8, of 2770 San Marino street, was killed instantly as she stood in a safety zone awaiting a street car in the 3500 block, Ramona Boulevard. A Mexican, assertedly in a drunken condition, was arrested charged with being responsible for her death. He was taken to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital for a sobriety test and then booked on suspicion of manslaughter.

James L. Van Meter, 36, of 343 West Seventy-sixth street, died in General Hospital yesterday of injuries he suffered last Friday when two automobiles collided in the downtown district, and one of the cars crushed Van Meter, who was passing on foot. The two cars were driven by Irvin L. Myers, 1519 West Fifty-sixth street, and Eldon Hibbert of 1016 West Thirty-seventh Place.

Not expected to live, Harold Forster, 17, living at 12027 Vose street, North Hollywood, was in the Hollywood Receiving Hospital last night suffering from a skull fracture. Forster was struck by an auto driven by Miss Violet Mason of 2412½ North Beachwood Drive as he attempted to cross the street at 1983 North Beachwood Drive. Miss Mason was not held following an investigation by police, who held that the accident was unavoidable.

NOW here is something really charming.

Down on El Paseo they are giving an old-fashioned Mexican Christmas—just as they had in California before we gringos came and spoiled everything.

Monday night Senora Bonzo had a tree in her cafe for all the little Mexican girls and the boys who work there.

The great feature, of course, was La Pinata.

LA PINATA

This is the gayest part of the Mexican Christmas.

They decorate an earthen jug—an olla—and hang it from the rafters; then they blindfold the guests one at a time; give him a hammer or a club and he reaches wildly around in midair reaching for la pinata. Finally somebody hits it, the olla breaks into a million pieces and presents scatter all over the place.

THE BARBECUE

This afternoon Mrs. Sterling, the guardian angel of the Avila house, is to give a barbecue for all the tenants and venders of the little Mexican street. They are excited almost beyond human endurance at the prospect.

EL NACIMIENTO

The big stuff comes off at 6 o'clock this evening.

This is the lovely and charming ceremony of "El Nacimiento del Nino Dios en el Pesebre la Noche Buena." (The Birth of the Infant Jesus in the Manger on Christmas Eve.)

LOVING HANDS

For days the loving hands of the little peons of El Paseo have been at work making the manger at one side of the street. At the appointed hour the figure of the Infant Jesus will be laid therein with quaint and touching ceremonies. If you have never seen one of these you have missed one of the loveliest experiences of your life.

LAS POSADAS

In the old days of California and in modern Mexico this is part of "Las Posadas."

This is a ceremony in which a woman impersonates the Virgin Mary. Carrying an infant in her arms, she goes from house to house begging for shelter. She is told crossly to go away. Finally she comes to the house where the ceremony is to take place and is welcomed.

This house has usually been decorated with miniature scenes from the story of the Christ. Sometimes Mexican or old California families spent so much money on this ceremony—which at the old ranches lasted for weeks on end—that they were ruined financially.

A KINDRED SOUL

Will Rogers has discovered El Paseo. Senora Bonzo says he stopped in the middle of his encore bowl of chili to demand, "Say, has Harry Carr ever been down here?" Reassured, he added, "Well, he'd better or I'll write him a letter."

MIDNIGHT MASS TODAY

Christmas activities at St. Matthias Church on Normandie avenue will begin with the singing of midnight mass at 11:30 p.m. today, it was announced yesterday by Dr. Irving Spencer, the rector. The "Gloria in Excelsis" by Pergolesi, "Noel" by Gounod and old English carols will be sung. The music will be repeated at the high mass at 11:30 a.m. tomorrow.

Sherman as Ralph Sheldon, notorious Chicago hoodlum, police last night awaited the delivery to them of the body of a dead gangster as the latest developments in the sensational kidnaping of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. (Zeke) Caress—the man a wealthy Spring-street gambler—and the subsequent wounding of a Long Beach police officer in a gun battle on the P. & O. docks Sunday night.

While the police affirm positively the identification of the one-time Torrio gangster, liquor runner and gunman, the authorities are informed from underworld sources that another of the Caress kidnapers, fatally wounded in the dock fight, is dying and his body will be delivered when he expires.

BLOODY CLOTHES FOUND

Bearing out the strange deal between the law and the lawless, police yesterday recovered a bundle of blood-stained clothes which the wounded gangster is believed to have worn when he received a bullet in his breast, but escaped despite the wound.

About 10 p.m. Monday W. M. Brewster of 532 Corona street, and Robert Dawn of 5324 Zone street, told police they saw a man leap from a large, black sedan in the rear of an abandoned riding academy at 2154 Eastern avenue and race into the building.

They said they watched for a few moments and then saw a burst of flame leap up as the man ran from the house and sped away in the car. They reported that they rushed into the place, extinguished the fire, and recovered a bundle of clothing that had been soaked in gasoline.

Inspection of the clothing disclosed a heavy light-gray overcoat, a silk shirt and underwear, a dark suit and a belt with the buckle removed. The coat, shirt and underwear had a bullet hole directly over where the wearer's heart would have been—all were bloodsoaked.

Shortly after the finding of the clothing, Long Beach police were told that one of the hoodlums in the gun fight had received mortal wounds, and that as soon as he died his body would be delivered to the authorities.

Although the officers say they have positive identification of "Sherman" as Sheldon, the suspect has on his lips the seal of gangland and will not talk. Neither will he admit his name, nor recognize a police photograph of himself.

LONG CRIME RECORD

The Chicago Sheldon, a product of "back of the yards" thirty years ago, has a long criminal record in the eastern city. He threw his talents with John Torrio after the murder of "Big Jim" Colosimo and aspired to be a "big shot" in racketeering, but he made a mistake in opposing Al Capone, the Big Boy of Chicago crime. Sheldon's health got bad shortly afterward. It failed to improve a little later when two of his gang were murdered and their bodies flung on his doorstep, and he came west to prevent a total breakdown.

Sherman, or Sheldon, was arrested Sunday night in a gun battle at Long Beach with Officers W. H. Waggoner, C. A. Jenks and W. E. Slaughter—in which Waggoner received possible fatal wounds—after the kidnaping of Caress and his wife.

Caress was taken to a secluded spot believed near Alhambra where he was forced under threats of death to sign checks for $50,000. The checks, with the aid of Les Bruneman, a friend of Caress, also held by the hoodlums, were to be cashed on one of the gambling boats moored off Long Beach where Caress and Bruneman were well known.

The suspect with two other unidentified men and Bruneman were awaiting transportation at the docks for the gambling ship when the officers accosted them and the gun fight ensued. Bruneman did not fire at the officers.

After the wounding of Waggoner, Sheldon emptied his gun at Slaughter and then surrendered. He tossed his weapon away. The others fled—one believed fatally wounded.

The automobile seized at the scene of the shooting has been traced to a Hollywood hoodlum, and he is being sought for questioning, although lawyers speaking for him say that he was not in the shooting fray.

Waggoner is fighting for his life at Seaside Hospital—paralyzed from his chest down by a bullet striking against his spine.

Detective Lieutenant Le Barron of Long Beach and Detective Lieutenants McMullen, Leslie, Wearne and Taylor and Capt. Miller of the local homicide squad are conducting the investigation in an effort to obtain sufficient evidence to warrant further arrests.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Brayton, assigned at Long Beach, announced last night that today he will issue complaints charging two counts of assault with intent to commit murder against Sheldon—one count on the shooting of Waggoner and the other on the exchange of bullets with Slaughter.

CATCH YOUR TROUT RIGHT IN CITY!

Fishy New Sport Introduced on Wilshire Boulevard

Alice Doll and Roy Hazlett Get a Thrill

A NEW fishing winter sport—trout fishing in the heart of the city—has made its debut in Los Angeles. At the busy intersection of Wilshire Boulevard and Fairfax avenue is a large pool stocked with approximately 10,000 mountain trout.

Trips either to the ocean or to the mountains now will be an affair of the past. Although true fishermen may scorn and scoff, it is expected thousands of those who never before have hooked a fish will more than welcome the opportunity.

To make it easier for embryo Izaak Walton devotees, a restaurant is to be erected near the pool where fish may be scaled, cleaned and cooked for immediate consumption. Poles and bait are rented and payment is made according to the number of fish landed.

CAROLS TO FILL AIR TONIGHT

Wandering Playground Groups Will Sing Christmas Songs on Streets of City

Tonight the air will be filled with Christmas carols. The traditional songs of the yuletide season will be sung on the streets of Los Angeles by approximately 25,000 carol singers under the direction of the Playground and Recreation Department and sponsored by the Christmas-Out-of-Doors Committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

Wandering bands of minstrels, stringed orchestras, harmonica bands, ukulele groups, church choirs, and many other types of musical groups will scatter through almost every street of Los Angeles, Pasadena, South Pasadena, Venice, Santa Monica, Sawtelle, Culver City, San Pedro, Wilmington, and other cities, stopping wherever there is a lighted Christmas tree to play and sing their carols.

"God Rest You, Merry Gentlemen," "Here We Come A-Wassailing," "Silent Night," and all of the other old-time favorites will ring out on the night air as the singers, drawn from the playgrounds, Boy Scouts, Parent-Teacher groups, churches, schools and colleges travel through the streets.

The program will be ushered in at 7 o'clock this evening by an hour of Christmas music put on by the Los Angeles Playground Department at Westlake Park. This music will be broadcast over the radio, and will be followed by broadcasts of carol-singing over many of the local radio stations, so that the "ether" as well as the air may be filled with the sound of young voices raised in yuletide song.

ordered that I be admitted to probation for a period of years.

"Immediately after the granting of said order I caused to be paid to the injured parties in cash the sum of $78,500 and since that time I have conscientiously obeyed each and all the orders of said court and each and all the orders and regulations of your office, as your records will show, endeavoring on my part to show a conscientious effort to pay my debt to society. All of the above will be substantiated by inquiry of Mrs. Ellen Ladico of your department and an investigation of her files, she being the person who was put in charge of my case.

"Since the making of the above order my husband, Alexander Pantages, was confined in the County Jail on a felony charge for a great many months after his conviction in the Superior Court of this county, and his case is now on appeal before the Supreme Court of this State, all of which has caused me great mental anguish, and has hindered me from recovering my health and rehabilitating myself from injuries sustained in this traffic accident out of which grew the manslaughter charge on which I have been on probation.

"I have been continually advised by my doctor that in view of these facts and by reason of my husband's case, it was necessary for my health and well-being to be removed from the scene of these tragic events, but due to the probation order it has been impossible for me to go to a place sufficiently removed from here to relieve me mentally and otherwise. I am also advised by my physician, that I must be constantly in charge of a competent nurse to look after my well-being.

"My eldest son, Rodney Pantages, is now engaged to be married shortly, and it is my earnest desire, as a mother, to remove the stigma of my conviction and probation so that my three children together with my future daughter-in-law may mingle in society in Los Angeles without being embarrassed by reason of my misfortune.

RESPECT FOR THE LAW

"My conduct for the past year will certainly bear out my respect for the law and the officers administering it, and also as a full recognition on my part of paying the debt I owe society; and now that the year has passed, I appeal to you to submit the same to Judge Hardy for his earnest consideration."

Accompanying the request was a letter from Dr. E. C. Fishbaugh, Mrs. Pantages's physician, who corroborated her statement concerning her health and urging travel to restore her to normal.

Before granting Mrs. Pantages's request, which was presented by her attorney, W. I. Gilbert, Judge Hardy reviewed the case briefly, pointing out that it is not customary to release a person from the restrictions of probation until half the period has been served. In Mrs. Pantages's case, however, Judge Hardy made an exception in view of her record as disclosed by the files of the probation office and because of her precarious physical condition.

Mrs. Pantages declined to comment on the court action when sought at her Vermont-avenue home. Speaking for her, however, her husband stated she had received the news of her release with a deep sense of gratification. Now that she is free to leave the State, he said, she plans to accompany her son Rodney and his bride-to-be, Vera Sweney, on their honeymoon.

No itinerary has been mapped out as yet, the theater man explained, but the bridal trip will be an extended tour and by traveling with the newlyweds, possibly to Europe or the Orient, Mrs. Pantages hopes to regain her health. Pantages added no date has been set for the son's wedding, but it is likely to take place during the holidays.

Mrs. Pantages's release from probation was but one of 149 cases of a similar nature dismissed by Judge Hardy yesterday. The remainder of the subjects, according to Probation Officer May, all have served half their probation periods. The names of the 149 persons were selected from a list of 3000 carried in the probation office files held to be really deserving of leniency.

THREE DEAD IN AUTO MISHAPS

County Jail on a drunk-driving charge yesterday as the result of a collision with a truck at Norwood Place and New avenue. Wilmar. Monterey physicians pronounced him intoxicated, according to a Sheriff's office report. He is to be arraigned before an El Monte justice of the peace at 10 a.m. today.

Search was started by the police for a hit-and-run driver after Mrs. Eulalie Davis, 49, of 406 North Ezra street, was picked up by a passing motorist at the intersection of Wilshire Boulevard and Manhattan Place. The badly injured woman was taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital and treated for a broken leg, broken shoulder and internal injuries. Doubts are expressed for her recovery.

Witnesses reported that the injured woman was attempting to cross Wilshire Boulevard when she was struck down by an automobile. The driver of the car sped away without slackening speed, according to police reports.

Three persons were injured seriously last night when a car driven by E. C. Archer, 42, of 745 North Fuller avenue, collided head-on with a Pacific Electric work train at Martel avenue and Santa Monica Boulevard. All were taken to the Hollywood Receiving Hospital. Archer suffered a possible skull fracture and concussion and his wife, Cora Archer, fractured ribs and severe cuts. Buelah Burns, 48, of 1313½ North Hayworth avenue, suffered a fractured jaw.

An unidentified white-haired woman, possibly 65, was struck and injured, possibly fatally, last night while she was crossing the street in the middle of the block on Eighth street near Burlington avenue. She suffered a concussion of the brain, both legs were broken and it is feared she has a fractured skull. The car was driven by James Wolfstein, 617 South Lucerne avenue. The woman was taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

TRAVELERS WON'T MISS YULE FEAST

Railways and Air Lines Plan Christmas Dinners for Those En Route

Holiday travelers by air and rail unable to reach their destinations in time for the Christmas Day festivities will not be without the usual turkey feast and the yuletide decorations and spirit of goodfellowship.

Arrangements have been made by the Southern Pacific, Santa Fe and Union Pacific to see that all passengers on their lines tomorrow are tendered a bountiful dinner, replete with all the trimmings of a real old home gathering. Air passengers on the Transcontinental and Western Air planes between here and all points will be served with the choicest parts of the turkey as they travel tomorrow.

Heavy passenger travel is reported on all rail lines both arriving and leaving here, with extra cars needed for the pre-Christmas Day rush. A record for Christmas Eve travel between here and San Francisco will be set today for air travel, according to officials of the T. W. A. More persons will come here from the north for Christmas than will travel in the opposite direction.

Full capacity of the two thirty-passenger and two twelve-passenger ships of the air line had been reserved last night for the northern trip. Two twelve-passenger planes will leave both in the morning and afternoon. Air travel into Los Angeles from the Atlantic Coast and Middle West for the holiday period has been much heavier than last year. For the past ten days planes leaving New York have been filled to capacity, and the same is true on eastbound ships for the past week.

optimistic Christmas," said Dean Harry Beal of St. Paul's Cathedral. "The purpose of Christmas is God's answer to man's need. He is a God of hope and every child born into the world is a proof of His love, every life an evidence of God's dependence upon man to help Him fulfill His good will to the human race. It may not be easy for some of us to forget that we are Episcopalians, Catholics or Jews, but we fall short of our duties and privileges as human beings if we do not strive to remember that we are all children of the Most High, and that love to the Supreme Being is manifested in no better way than in service to humanity."

WIDOW WINS CONTEST OVER HUSBAND'S WILL

Settlement of the contest over the will of Andrew Convert of Clearwater was approved by Superior Judge Tryon yesterday, and the widow, Mrs. Sophie Convert, will receive about $20,000 of the $74,000 estate. The will left her only $10,000 in trust and the remainder of the estate to friends and relatives.

POLICE ACCUSED IN DIME MURDER

Ells's Attorney Says Third-Degree Tactics Used

All Prosecution Witnesses Questioned Closely

Officers Deny Confessions Were Forced

Charging that police used third-degree methods in obtaining a confession from Emory Ells and Benjamin F. Brown, on trial before Superior Judge Schauer charged with the murder of Mrs. Merle Ells on September 2, last, William T. Kendrick, Jr., defense attorney, subjected all prosecution witnesses to a rigid cross examination yesterday.

Ells is accused of hiring Brown to kill Mrs. Ells, promising him $2000 for the execution, but paying him only $2.20 in dimes after the deed was done.

The principal witnesses called were Ralph B. Savage and W. M. Baggott, Los Angeles police officers, and John H. Hamlin, South Gate policeman. They testified concerning their investigation of the case but denied that they had mistreated the defendants in obtaining the asserted confessions.

The trial will be resumed on the 29th inst.

CULVER CITY BRIBE JURY DISMISSED

Trial of ex-Police Chief Fails to Result in Verdict After Thirty Hours

After deliberating thirty hours, the jurors trying Macy O. Bernard, former Police Chief of Culver City, on charges of bribery, last evening reported to Superior Judge Craig they were totally in disagreement and unable to reach a verdict. Judge Craig dismissed the six men and six women jurors and then ordered the defendant to report today in Superior Judge Woods's master calendar court for resetting of his trial.

Bernard is charged with five counts of bribery. He is accused of asking and receiving bribes in exchange for police protection of a liquor-law violator who sold liquor in a Culver City restaurant and who owned a still.

The chief accuser was Harry A. Howard, a self-confessed liquor-law violator, who testified he paid Bernard four bribes of $100 each and one of $250.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Kearney prosecuted the case and Attorneys Clare Woolwine and James T. Hogan represented the defendant officer.

ATTORNEY HEADS ALUMNI

Announcement was made yesterday of the election of G. M. Grant, attorney, to the presidency of the McMaster Alumni Association for the coming year.

BAKER'S WIFE PANS HIM AND ASSERTS SHE'S DONE!

Ambitious to be a better cook, she started to a night high school cooking class, but her husband jealously accused her of going there to meet other men, little Mrs. Carrie L. Milner testified yesterday in asking a divorce from James W. Milner, a baker. Superior Judge Scott granted her a decree.

"Your husband is a baker. Did he teach you to bake?" asked Judge Scott.

"No, sir," Mrs. Milner replied." He said my dresses were too short or too long. He objected to my curling my hair and putting mascara on my eyelashes, although nearly everyone uses it. He didn't object before we were married. He was jealous of my mother and whenever any friends came, he threatened to throw them out."

Judge Scott, in giving her custody of the son Edward, 3 years of age, asked whether there was objection to taking the child for occasional meetings with the father at his present abode. Mrs. Milner vehemently objected. The judge ordered that the child's meetings with Milner should not be in the presence of a woman named and ordered the father to pay $8 a week toward the boy's support. Attorney Caroline Kellogg appeared for Mrs. Milner.

Physician Opens Fight to Regain Revoked License

Dr. Francis James Bold, whose license to practice was revoked by the State Board of Medical Examiners, yesterday filed the opening brief in his appeal from the judgment of Superior Judge Yankwich affirming the medical board's proceedings.

The physician, who was declared to have performed an illegal operation upon a 21-year-old Whittier woman, set forth that the court refused to hear the proper evidence adduced, that the complaint was not a sworn complaint and that the evidence was insufficient.

Dr. Bold was acquitted several months ago in Superior Court of a murder charge growing out of the death of the patient. Following his acquittal, the State Board of Medical Examiners revoked his license, refusing, according to the physician's brief, to accept the testimony which resulted in his acquittal.

SEVEN ACQUITTED OF VAGRANCY CHARGES

Seven men were acquitted of vagrancy charges by Municipal Judge Northrup yesterday. Police Officer Boshards testified that they were arrested during a clean-up drive. He had never seen any of them before, he said. Judge Northrup ruled that one act of idleness does not constitute vagrancy under California law. Those acquitted are Charles Williams, George Harron, Alfred Kempe, George Scott, George Wilson, Paul Cook and George Patterson. Jury trial of Tony Long, arrested at the same time, was delayed by Municipal Judge Eagan until January 16, next, on account of a crowded calendar.

Woman Seeks Happier World

Mrs. Estella Dye, 63 years of age, wrote that she was not happy in this world and believed the next would be more pleasant and then swallowed poison yesterday at her home, 1515 Shatto street. She died at Georgia-street Hospital.

Mrs. Dye lived with a companion and had been despondent.

DE PAUW ALUMNI TO DINE

The De Pauw University Alumni Association of Southern California will hold its annual midwinter dinner the evening of the 29th inst. at the Masonic Club, 623½ South Grand avenue. Dr. G. Bromley Oxnam, president of the Greencastle (Ind.) university, will be the guest of honor and speaker. Mrs. Charles E. Seaman of Los Angeles, daughter of the man whose name the institution bears, will also be an honored guest.

Alphonse W. Tower, 427 Wall street, is president of the association, and Mary Little Grim is secretary.

LICENSE GIVEN TO "LATE" MAN

Used-Car Permit Received by C. Edward Jones Despite His Procrastination

The "late" C. Edward Jones of Wilmington yesterday was granted a used-car permit for his agency in Wilmington by the Police Commission, after he had failed to appear with the regular group seeking second-hand applications.

He showed up some time afterward and his application was reconsidered and approved, on which President Drake said:

"The late C. Edward Jones is hereby granted his permit."

second man running back toward the scene of the fight. At first not knowing what it was all about, he pulled his revolver from a pocket and leveled it at the running bandit.

The latter stopped suddenly. "All right," he said. "You've got me. Put up the gun. I give up."

Calderwood, according to the police report, lowered his weapon. As he did so the bandit whirled suddenly and plunged a knife in the bailiff's back. Then, as Calderwood crumpled bleeding to the sidewalk, the bandit whipped out a revolver and shot Krause in the back.

In the excitement which followed the bandits succeeded in getting away. But Arrington, according to Capt. Miller, dropped the bill fold which led to his identification and the arrest of O'Neil.

Inquest into the death of Calderwood will be conducted at 1:30 p.m. today.

Wife Divorces Mate and Tells of Good-by Choke

One good-by kiss her husband asked, and then he choked her, Mrs. Lueen Edwards complained yesterday in telling Superior Judge Yankwich her farewell to the arms of Joseph L. Edwards, transfer company employee. Mrs. Edwards teaches dancing at a Hollywood dancing studio, where she said Edwards sought her last November 1, following a stormy Halloween party.

"He called at the dance studio where I am employed and asked me to kiss him good-by. Instead of kissing me he tried to choke me, and only stopped when my screams brought help."

Judge Yankwich granted the wife a decree.

RITES CONDUCTED FOR MR. AND MRS. DEGEN

Double funeral rites were conducted yesterday at the J. D. Paris chapel, 960 South Flower street, for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Degen, whose deaths occurred three days apart at the family residence, 110 North Van Ness avenue. Mr. Degen died last Friday and his widow Monday. Interment was in adjoining crypts in Forest Lawn Mausoleum. Mr. Degen was a retired Kansas merchant. He and his wife came to Los Angeles fourteen years ago. He was 78 years of age and she 76. Mr. Degen was a member of the Masonic lodge, Scottish Rite and Shrine, and Mrs. Degen was a life member of the Eastern Star. They leave one son, Fred Degen, and three daughters, Helen, Fannie and Mrs. Esther Howden.

SANTA BECOMES SEMAPHORE

Holiday Traffic Kept Unsnarled

Substitute Officer

ONE of the numerous envoys Santa Claus has sent to Southern California yesterday relinquished his yuletide mission temporarily in favor of mundane pursuits and by so doing won the gratitude of motorists hurrying along Valley Boulevard to their homes.

Just when the traffic rush through Alhambra was at its height an elderly woman homeward bound afoot dropped one of an armful of bundles. Unable to stoop and retrieve it without dropping the others, she cast an appealing look at Traffic Policeman Turner, on duty at a busy intersection. Turner couldn't leave his post unattended, but he spied a kindly St. Nick greeting little children in front of the Happy Market.

"Hey, Mr. Claus," he called, "c'mon and stand in for me a minute."

So Santa leaped into the breach and played the part of a human semaphore, thus preventing a serious traffic snarl, while Officer Turner picked up the woman's bundle.

Religion Urged to Match Pace of Civilization

Unless religion adapts itself to the advancement of the present age it cannot survive, G. Bromley Oxnam, president of De Pauw University and former pastor of the Los Angeles Church of All Nations, yesterday told members of the City Club at a luncheon meeting.

"Scientific research and learning have disclosed the many inaccuracies and fallacies which exist," Dr. Oxnam said. "Religion necessarily must advance at the same pace that civilization advances."

In his address on "The New Patriotism," he said the old order of patriotism no longer exists. Dr. Oxnam said it would be advisable to place patriotism under the control of ethical idealism as formulated by educators and men qualified to speak.

According to an announcement from the City Club a children's Christmas party at noon today will take the place of the regular Wednesday program and Friday sing. Gifts are to be distributed and entertainment will consist of acrobatic dancing, violin solos, singing and a stage presentation.

Appeal Court Reverses Case of Noble Webb

Holding that Noble Webb was found guilty on the uncorroborated testimony of an accomplice, the Appellate Department of Superior Court yesterday reversed the conviction and remanded the case to the Long Beach Municipal Court for a new trial.

Webb was accused of petty theft and on trial was found guilty on the testimony of Lawrence T. Rankin, who previously had been convicted of the same theft. Webb was fined $100, following his conviction in Municipal Court. His appeal was heard by Superior Judges McLucas, Shaw and Bishop.

"In this case there is nothing but suspicion by way of corroboration," they held. "The uncorroborated testimony of an accomplice is not sufficient for a conviction."

MAN ATTACKED AND SHOVED FROM AUTO

Shoved out of an automobile after being struck over the head with some weapon and suffering a possible skull fracture, Joseph Dupont, 30 years of age, of 1737 Pine street, was in a precarious condition last night in Georgia-street Hospital. Dupont was forced out of the car at Eastlake avenue and North Broadway. He was seen to stagger a few steps by A. L. Butcher, of 221 South Fifth street, Montebello, a passing motorist, who in the brief glimpse that was afforded, saw a sailor and another man in the automobile which sped rapidly away. Butcher took Dupont to the hospital. He was unconscious by then and police could not learn from him what had happened.

PACT ENDS DE FOREST RADIO SUIT

Row Taken Out of Court When Eastern and Local Companies Compromise

By the approval yesterday by United States District Judge Cosgrave of a compromise settlement between the De Forest Radio Company, of New Jersey, and the Lee De Forest Manufacturing Company of Los Angeles, litigation regarding the use of the name De Forest in connection with the making and sale of certain radios was brought to a close.

Under the terms of the agreement the local company is not to use the name De Forest in connection with the sale and manufacture of radio apparatus without using the words, "Not connected with the original De Forest Radio Company."

It was stated in the original complaint that Lee De Forest received more than $3,000,000 for his interest in the New Jersey Company.

"The chief activity of the Los Angeles firm will be the manufacture of power transmitters for police purposes," said Dr. De Forest yesterday. "We will continue to manufacture midget radios for police work and for automobiles. We will also install the new Los Angeles radio station."

Film Contract Given to Child

A holiday present in the form of a long-term contract was presented yesterday to Jackie Searl, 9 years of age, according to announcement from the Paramount studio. The young actor was placed on contract as a result of his work in the talking-picture version of "Tom Sawyer."

JACKIE SEARL

The youngster is a native of California, born in Anaheim, and he first appeared before the public in a juvenile radio feature conducted by KHJ. Two years ago he made his debut in pictures and now has more than fifty to his credit.

HOLLYWOOD SCHOOL GRADUATES TO MEET

Graduates of Hollywood High School will celebrate their annual alumni day January 2, 1931, it was announced yesterday by Dr. F. E. Hogeboom, president of the alumni association. The morning session will be addressed by Dr. William H. Snyder, former principal of Los Angeles Junior College; Louis F. Foley, principal of the school; Mary Ann Tucker, girls' vice-principal, and Ralph Winchester, boys' vice-principal. Following luncheon there will be a vaudeville program, featuring Frank Albertson, film player, as master of ceremonies, and Mildred Costello, recent recruit to the screen, in dance specialties. Other numbers are to be given by Howard Swan, Marjorie Young, Bill Ritchie, Arlowyn Hohn, Carol Weiskopf, six girls directed by Miss Mary F. Heap, and a boys' glee club directed by Miss Edna Ames.

ANNANDALE BUS LINE WILL BE EXTENDED

Extension of Annandale motor coach line to serve Herman district in Highland Park will take place January 6, the Pacific Electric Railway announced yesterday, under authority of the State Railroad Commission. The extension adds about two miles to the line. Half-hour service during the day will be provided and the fare over the entire extended line will be 5 cents each way, with 10 cents where transfer is wished. The service will be tried for three months and continued indefinitely thereafter if patronage warrants, the company states.

BANDIT SUSPECT GROUPS JAILED

Police Round Up Forty-two During Present Month

Eleven Hold-ups Increase Total of December

License in Auto Leads to Capture of Pair

> The Police Commission yesterday informed Chief of Police Steckel to instruct his men to take no chances when dealing with such desperate criminals as figured in the fatal fight at Vermont avenue and Eighth street.
> "Policemen should be told to shoot to kill when there is any question of their safety being in jeopardy," Commissioner Drake said in effect. "The Police Commission will stand firmly behind the Chief of Police in his order."

Striving desperately to curb this season's unprecedented crime orgy, police yesterday captured two bandit suspects shortly after they had assertedly robbed a citizen and his wife, announced the apprehension of forty other suspects within the last week and declared forty-one robbery complaints have been obtained against as many others since the 1st. inst.

At the same time eleven more hold-ups were reported between 7 p.m. Monday and noon yesterday, increasing this month's total to 268 since the first of the month as compared with 206 during the same period last month and 124 in the first twenty-two days of December last year.

BURGLARIES INCREASE

Burglaries increased to 490, as compared with 436 last month and 406 in December last year. In one case burglars smashed their way into the Lone Star Pharmacy at 861 East Jefferson street and carried away a safe containing $450 in cash.

The capture of the two suspects was made by Officers Johnston and Barry an hour after George E. Todd and his wife were held up at their home at 5222 Lexington avenue and robbed of $12. Todd obtained the license number on the bandit car and turned it over to police. It was immediately teletyped to all divisions and thence broadcast to beat officers and motor patrols.

PAIR IN STOLEN CAR

At Second and Flower streets Johnston and Barry spotted the machine, overtook and captured the occupants. They gave the names of Jack H. Deckle, 21 years of age, and Edmond Franklin, 22. The car they were driving and which, the police say, they used in the hold-up of Mr. and Mrs. Todd, had been stolen from another citizen.

Varying the usual daily list of pedestrian, drug store and service station robberies, Monday night's report shows two street car crews the victims of bandits.

TROLLEY CREW ROBBED

Motorman L. B. Dundas and Conductor W. S. Shield were held up at Kensington Road and Douglas street by a bandit. When Dundas stopped to pick up a pair of gloves the bandit struck him a vicious blow on the head with his revolver. Shield quickly leaped from the street car and the bandit fled without getting anything. Dundas was taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital and treated for a severe scalp laceration.

The other street car robbery occurred at Avenue 20 and Pasadena avenue. As Motorman J. P. Dewey and Conductor S. M. Alexander were about to change cars a bandit, who had ridden a short distance as a passenger, suddenly whipped out a revolver from a coat pocket and held them up. He got $29.

POSED AS PATIENTS

Dr. Alexander Goodman reported two bandits entered his office at 3158 Wilshire Boulevard posing as patients, and then produced pistols and robbed him of $208.

While throngs of Christmas shoppers passed by in front two bandits leveled pistols at Mrs. Dorothy Speer, proprietor of a candied-fruit shop at 622 South Hill street, threatened to shoot her if she cried for help, and robbed her of $40. They escaped easily in the crowds.

Exclusive of the hold-up which resulted in the fatal stabbing of Perman Caldwerwood and shooting of Henry Krause in front of the latter's bottle-supply store, two other bottle-supply stores were held up. At 4717 West Adams street Max Frankel reported losing $25 to a bandit, and at 3204 Sunset Boulevard another lone bandit robbed W. E. Coleman of $70.

COUPLE LOSE $29

As they drove into the driveway of their home at 418 South Normandie avenue, Mr. and Mrs. James V. McCandless were held up by two bandits and robbed of $29.

A lone bandit robbed Miss Marjorie Bretham of $60 in Radlick's confectionery store at 6235 Hollywood Boulevard.

Robert Clenny reported being robbed by three bandits of $50 in a Texaco service station at Sixth street and Occidental Boulevard.

A. T. Nunamaker of 1193 South Norton avenue was held up by a bandit as he walked by Fifth and Witmer streets and robbed of $1.50.

AUTOIST LOSES CAR

As he slowed down for a boulevard stop at Melrose and La Brea avenues, George M. Arthur of 806 North Genesee street was held up by two bandits who climbed into his car and forced him to drive to Fourth street and New Hampshire avenue. There they put him out and fled with the car and $2.

Attempting to elude two purse snatchers who had stopped her in front of 674 Lafayette Park Place, Mrs. E. F. Elehatfelt of 1010½ East Wilson avenue, Glendale, was struck down by a blow in the face delivered by one of the men. Her scream frightened her assailants away.

Of twenty-nine burglaries reported Monday night Miss Alva Preston reported her home at 2158 Ivar street ransacked and $1000 worth of jewelry taken, R. S. Roher reported $1000 in jewelry taken from his home at 404 North Detroit street, and William T. Haight told police burglars obtained $200 worth of Christmas gifts which had been left ready to mail in his dwelling at 10344 Woodbridge street.

BULLETS PERIL SHOPPERS AS GUNS BARK IN HOLD-UP

Forty Christmas shoppers were endangered by flying bullets, police were told, at a hold-up attempt last evening at the clothing store of Ben Schwab, 6432 Hollywood Boulevard.

Two bandits who entered on a pretense at buying some hose were fired at by Schwab while one was rifling the cash register and the other was threatening Harold Gillespie, a clerk, with a revolver.

The bandits returned Schwab's fire, their bullets periling customers. They finally fled and escaped in an automobile without getting any money. A parked car in front of the store was hit by three bullets fired by Schwab. No one was hurt.

PERMIT FOR CITY CENTER DEAL ASKED

Pacific Electric Wants to Sell Beverly Hills Area for Municipality's Use

Permission to sell three parcels of property bounded by Santa Monica Boulevard, Burton Way and Canon and Rexford drives, Beverly Hills, to the city of Beverly Hills for a civic center was sought yesterday by the Pacific Electric Railway Company in an application filed with the State Railroad Commission.

The area of the property was given as 228,197 square feet and the price as $287,212.50. In addition, it was stated that Beverly Hills has agreed to pay to the carrier $45,667.50 to meet the cost of building a new railroad station on the west side of Canon Drive, the lowering of tracks and the moving of stock chutes.

Opening of Crescent Drive and Rexford Drive is involved in the contemplated improvement.

Bride Charges "Slavery" in Divorce Plea

Virtually coerced by threats of violence into matrimony, according to her complaint for an annulment on file yesterday, Mrs. Antoinette White is seeking to end what she terms a period of "emotional slavery" with Foster E. White.

Mrs. White asserts that she married White in San Diego the 5th inst. only after he had become so violent and uttered such terrifying threats that she postponed her wedding with a man named Ed Ryan with whom she had filed an intention to marry. Later she went to San Diego with White and married him there after he informed her that she would not return to Los Angeles alive otherwise.

After the marriage, Mrs. White asserts she was kept in a continual state of exhaustion and fear by reason of her husband's actions.

RITES OF MRS. MYERS PLANNED FOR FRIDAY

She was a member of both the Daylight and Amaranth chapters, Eastern Star. Besides her husband she leaves two daughters, Mrs. William M. Brown and Mrs. Donald Doig, and three sons, Harry E., Lloyd B. and Glenn E. Myers. Funeral services will be conducted Friday at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale.

It would suit certain American celebrities better if the British "Who's Who" were frankly entitled, "Who We Think Is Who."

DEEP

When Einstein arrives after having been on the briny many days, will he be deeper than ever? At least he is a relief from the cross-word puzzle.

UNBRIDLED SOLONS

Communist leaders declare that constitutional "freedom of speech" no longer is enjoyed by the American people. Huh! They should sit in the Senate or House gallery for an afternoon.

HEALTH

New census figures indicate that New York is the healthiest city in the world; Chicago is second; Berlin, third; London, fourth, and Paris, fifth. Well, anyhow, the world is coming to Los Angeles to live.

JUSTICE VS. MERCY

A Virginia court uses only the unemployed in filling the jury box. If enough intelligent men and women can be found to function, this may be all right. But there are other questions to be settled besides unemployment.

ANGELIC HESITANCY

Even Congressmen shy at disputing the rule of gangsters in Chicago. The House campaign expenditures committee has passed the buck in the row over the election of Representative Kunz to the Cook county authorities. The election is alleged to have been controlled by the underworld.

BOVARD'S LEGACY

Although his name may not appear as the donor, Warren Bovard has left behind him a priceless gift to the people of Los Angeles—the beauty that was in his soul and that he expressed in park plantings. It is a monument that only the man-aided hand of the Great Sculptor could carve.

A SPECIAL INVITATION

Railroads report heavy bookings for California and the trek already has started. Most of these are the regulars who seek annually the warmth of the Southland. And this number will be augmented in January by the thousands attracted by The Times Midwinter Annual. Have you ordered your invitation?

THERE ARE OTHERS

In a special article in a crime weekly, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., includes "excessive fees for professional services" and "excessive rates charged at hotels where one's identity is known" as parts of a series of depredations against the rich that "constitute one big racket which is a tremendous underworld industry." We might add that such thoughts are not confined to the wealthy.

NOISY PESTS

A recent casualty list recorded an accident on Monterey Road, in which one was fatally hurt and three others painfully injured. The ages of the victims were 21, 24, 20 and 18, respectively. A check-up on fatalities among drivers generally would likely supply similar statistics.

When some one tears around at breakneck speed and cuts in, it is usually some half-baked youth. When some one rushes into a blind intersection and throws traffic into screeching brakes and consternation, it is generally a bareheaded maniac burning up his dad's gasoline.

If parents are not able to manage their boys, their offspring should be deprived of drivers' licenses. Sometimes it would almost seem the part of wisdom to withhold license for driving until the applicant is old enough to respect citizenship. Life and property would both be conserved.

However, youngsters cannot be accused of all the distress from hard driving. There are noisy and dangerous pests among the oldsters, gray-headed morons who have never grown up. But the general charge, unfortunately, still stands.

FIGHTING FOR PEACE

The plea of Arthur Henderson, British Foreign Secretary, that the English-speaking peoples co-operate in a fight for peace, is one that while especially appropriate to the Christmas season, is not out of place at any time. This is because the danger of war is always present and because it is heightened, rather than removed, by the "unreasoning fear" of which the British foreign-relations chief spoke—a fear which, combined with the military maxim that "the best defense is a good offense," leads to preparations for getting in the first blow.

Mr. Henderson is probably correct in saying that "there is no one who wants war, no one who is plotting for war, no one who does not realize war would be an unmitigated disaster to all concerned;" he is undoubtedly correct as to all who had any part in the struggle of 1914-1918; and he strikes a timely note when he declares that action to forge the bonds of peace needs to be taken before the lessons of that conflict are forgotten.

In the recent report of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon there is a reminder to Americans which will be repeated in a good many subsequent reports of subsequent secretaries. The expense is not, of course, the worst phase of war, but it is the one easiest to understand, and provides the burden most widely distributed. When Secretary Mellon shows that the cost of the World War up to June 30, last, to the United States was $37,873,908,499, and when it is realized that every cent of this expenditure represents the wasted exertion of human energy which might as well have been turned to the benefit of humanity instead of to its detriment, there is a concrete example of what it is worth to fight for peace.

Direct expenditures of the War Department in this total were $14,849,000,000; of the Navy Department, $3,401,000,000; of the Shipping Board and Emergency Fleet Corporation, $3,042,000,000; of Federal control of transportation, $1,629,000,000; of war risk insurance (to June 30, 1921,) $504,773,000; of the Treasury Department, including Coast Guard war service, $240,899,000; of vocational rehabilitation (to June 30, 1921,) $135,739,000; of European food relief, $94,942,000; of administrative and executive departments, $273,000,000; of the Veterans' Bureau (since June 30, 1921,) $4,055,000,000; and for interest on the war debt, $10,136,000,000. Credits for European war debt payments amounted to $521,114,000; these were deducted from the grand total shown above.

This was our most expensive war, but others have been proportionately costly. The Revolutionary War total, including pensions, amounted to $132,658,000—a trifling amount nowdays, but a staggering sum when it was incurred. The War of 1812, though much shorter and more desultory, cost, including pensions, $179,892,000. The war with Mexico cost about $159,073,000, but the struggle lasted only a few months.

The Civil War laid a drain upon the American taxpayer, amounting at the close of the fiscal year (the cost still continues,) to $14,460,000,000. Direct operations of this war cost $4,006,000,000, pensions, $7,400,000,000, and interest on the public debt, $3,054,000,000. The Spanish-American War, so far, has cost $1,146,000,000, of which $568,700,000 went for direct activities, $475,000,000 for pensions, and $102,300,000 for interest on the public debt.

The grand total for all wars is approximately $54,000,000,000, a considerable sum for a peaceful country with a total existence of only 150 years. One of the notable features of this recapitulation is the tendency of cost to increase. The Mexican and the Spanish-American wars were comparable as to length and serious nature of operations, yet the cost of the later war was approximately six and one-half times that of the earlier.

Another world war would come near to bankrupting even this wealthy nation.

GYPPING THE JOBLESS

In what the New York Evening Post calls a beneficent fever our American metropolis plans to spend $8,000,000 for emergency relief for the unemployed. That is one side of the picture. On the other are seen thousands with empty pockets who have paid out almost their last dollar to employment racketeers, who have been doing a thriving trade on the necessities of the jobless, promising them work but giving them none.

All these racketeers are seeking is the little fee. It is those who want work, who must have work, that are exploited. The padrone, the petty shark, the gyp artist trade in two emotions—hope and desperation. Money hungry, they prey upon the bones of defeat and failure and reck not of the result, which is only to make desperate men more desperate. These sharks know that a jobless man will stake his last dollar or dime on the chance to get work.

Many women, too, are the victims of this soulless game, the leading feature of which in their cases, is the "homework" racket, ranking among the most despicable of schemes for robbing the poor.

The white-collared idle are duped by the hundreds. They become the easy victims of firms that advertise that they "merchandise in men," but who scorn the idea that they are employment agents. They will secure $3000 to $15,000 jobs for the payment of a fee of $50 to $500. But in most cases nothing comes of the transaction, as the firms are swindlers, having no jobs scheduled for anybody.

But New York City has begun a hot campaign against these smooth crooks and they are being investigated and exposed by the newspapers in a way that should soon put an end to their nefarious activities.

SLUMP

The annual convention of United Farmers of Ontario, Can., recently passed a resolution unanimously beseeching the government to close all liquor stores "during the present economic crisis." Old John Barleycorn is chargeable with about as much leakage as anybody we know. If he had not been routed out of this country, we might have bigger holes in our pockets.

The LEE SIDE o' L.A.

BY Lee Shippey

NOT all traffic cops are hard-boiled. At least one, who pop-pops along Wilshire Boulevard, is notably tender-hearted and humane.

Mrs. Grenville Wilberforce Joyce was in a hurry, for she was bound to be late to her club, and she was the presiding officer. She was driving just as fast as the law would allow, but was efficiency-expert enough to take no chances. She knew her rights and was keeping strictly within them, though the margin was narrow.

So when she heard a siren and a motor cop flagged her to the curb, she felt indignant, in addition to being greatly distressed because of the delay.

But she didn't lose her head. She waited till the officer was just beside her and just about to speak. Then she fired the first volley, not in an insulting or aggrieved tone, but in her best madam-chairman style.

"May I ask why you stop me?" she inquired, guilelessly. "I have been watching the speedometer every minute. I haven't run through any traffic signals. I have done those things which I ought to have done and have left undone those things which I ought not to have done. Therefore, prithee, why am I detained?"

The officer blinked twice and gargled thrice, but at last managed to speak.

"Lady," he said, "I don't know anything about all that. But you're runnin' your dog to death. He's been following your car for the last mile, trying his best to catch up, and it's awful dangerous for the little fellow in traffic like this."

At that moment a chow dog, panting like a choo-choo, heaved rather than hove into sight and fixed mournful eyes of reproach on Mrs. Joyce. She, however, almost lost her chairmanly dignity.

"Good heavens!" she exclaimed, "that isn't my dog. That's the pet of our next-door neighbors. I'm in a great hurry, officer."

NOW, WHAT, MISTER OFFICER?
YOU ARE FOLLOWED, MADAM!

But the officer held up a warning hand. "Call the dog and hold him for me and give me the address and I'll take him home," he said. "Even if it ain't your dog, you don't want it to get killed following your car, do you?"

So Mrs. Joyce was fifteen minutes late in calling her club to order. But for once she had a real human-interest story to tell when she did.

Truthful Advertising

You can't quench a really good salesman. A man customer was looking at a very cheap suit in a little shop on Spring street and felt the material dubiously.

"This doesn't seem to be very fresh stock," he suggested, timidly.

"Fresh!" exclaimed the salesman, with pained surprise. "I'll say it isn't fresh. Why, sir, that's genuine pre-war stuff."

"Oh!" said the customer, abashed. And darned if he didn't buy it.

Traveling Christmas Tree

The prettiest Christmas custom we know of is that of having traveling Christmas tree parties on Christmas Eve, which Sierra Madre inaugurated last year and intends to establish as an institution. The town's volunteer fire department co-operates, a beautifully decorated tree is mounted on a truck which heads a procession of motor cars. And that procession visits every shut-in or seriously sick person in the town.

Suddenly from just around the corner comes the jingle of sleighbells, then an organ softly rolls out a Christmas carol and a chorus of many voices begins to swell on the orange-scented night air. The procession halts before the home of a shut-in, the carol ends and Santa Claus bounds in with a greeting or perhaps a gift—and the shut-in feels that his whole town has remembered him, without his asking or hinting for it. Some one has gone to the trouble to find out who and where all the afflicted are, and the leaders of the town have left their own bright firesides to come and brighten his.

It is done in such a neighborly, friendly way that nearly always it brings a gush of wholesome and helpful tears to the eyes of those visited. But almost immediately a little girl, representing the new year, runs in with flower-filled hands, tells Santa his work is done, and wishes the shut-in a happy New Year. And then the procession moves on, while another song of good will floats back to the person just visited.

Exposing Our Light-Mindedness

It wouldn't have been half so funny if he hadn't been a pompous chap, trying to look important despite the fact that he was a little agitated.

But, as it was, we've been snickering about it ever since.

That may show what a light mind we have but, all the same, we're going to tell it. We never claimed to have anything but a light mind, anyhow. Twenty years ago we saw a fellow pick up a piece of gaspipe and heard him ask: "What's the difference between this pipe and a crazy Dutchman?" Then he answered himself: "One is a hollow cylinder and the other a silly Hollander." And thousands of times since then we've chuckled at that bit of foolishness. That shows how light-minded we are.

But back to our mutton, if such the pompous gentleman may be called.

He strode majestically into a drug store at Franklin and Western avenues and seemed to rather expect that the clerks would leave their customers and hasten to see what they might do for him. But all the clerks were busy. The pompous man waited a moment, then broke in:

WHEN IN DOUBT TRY DRUGS

"I say, druggist! I only wish to ask a bit of direction. Can you tell me where the main office of the Tell Belephone Company is?"

The clerk was a marvel of politeness. He didn't laugh. But all the rest of us did.

IN PROHIBITION'S WAY

The seizing of $1,000,000 worth of narcotics by customs officers from a liner at a Brooklyn pier emphasizes the extent of the American dope ring. In times of international business depression, the fact that so huge a traffic in the degrading of human beings is being carried on gives some idea of the power of the most nefarious gang of crooks in the world.

Because most of the "mob" that do the dirty work of gang leaders are dope addicts, the effectual breaking up of the illicit narcotic trade by the government might prove to be the most effectual weapon in the enforcement of the Prohibition Act.

POTENTIAL COSMETICS

"Lipstick Proves Bandits' Undoing," headline informs us. That's nothing. Many a poor fellow has been caught by the judicious use of this favorite feminine aid to Cupid.

IS THERE A SANTA CLAUS?

[Reprint of Charles A. Dana's famous New York Sun editorial, in answer to a letter from little Virginia O. Hanlon.)

Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. They do not believe except they see. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect compared with the boundless worlds about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole truth and knowledge.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas, how dreary the world would be if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith, then, no poetry, no romance, to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would then be extinguished.

Not to believe in Santa Claus? You might as well not believe in fairies. You might get your papa to hire men to watch all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus; but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Not everybody sees Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that is no proof that they were not there. No one can conceive or imagine all the things that are unseen or unseeable in the world.

You may tear apart a baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world that not the strongest man, not even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond. It is all real. Ah, Virginia, in all the world there is nothing else real and abiding.

No Santa Claus? Thank God, he lives and he lives forever! A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay, ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the hearts of children.

THE OLD DAYS

By James J. Montague

I am deeply steeped in out-of-date traditions;
I remember Jackie Coogan in the days
When the roguish little creature
Used to be the leading feature
Of a number of the leading "movie" plays.
I recall the sand-and-cactus motion pictures
And the heroes of the bronco-busting art,
I can still envisage dimly
Bands of Greasers, scowling grimly,
When they found they couldn't shoot up old Bill Hart.

I remember pretty, pallid Mary Pickford
Whom base villains seemed determined to pursue,
I recall her flaxen tresses
And her simple gingham dresses
Which she wore, I think—in 1922.
Even further through the past my memory travels,
Calling back to mind full many a stirring scene,
Filled with stabbing and with shooting,
Not to mention theft and looting
In a drama called "The Perils of Pauline."

Rip Van Winkle-like I dwell upon these dramas,
But for understanding ears in vain I seek,
People listen most politely
Even smile upon me brightly,
But I'm sure they do not know whereof I speak.
They sometimes say, "How very interesting!"
But all these outworn memories leave them cold;
But I am never bitter
When they glance aside and titter,
For possibly I'm getting rather old.

CHRIST AND CONFUCIUS

BY FRED HOGUE

II

The precepts of Confucius, with all his wisdom, cannot satisfy the longings of an enlightened human intellect. His moral philosophy is only preparatory to the religious philosophy of Christ. He deserts faltering humanity at the portals of the tomb, which is only a way station, not a terminal for the human soul.

Confucius had no vision of the "House of many mansions." He taught men how to live, but not how to prepare for the life hereafter. He gave them not a single ray of light to guide them in the gloom beyond the sepulcher. For virtue, he offered only material rewards and these are not enough.

If one followed the precepts of Confucius it was well, and if one did not follow them, it was well; for death ended all.

The result has been that, as the centuries passed, the precepts remained, but the practice of Confucian virtues became faulty. China has not progressed, because the Confucian code offers no incentive to progress.

The missionaries found China a century ago morally awake, but spiritually dead. They found a fertile field for the propagation of the Christian faith, but they were too ignorant of oriental thought to cultivate it. They began by attempting to destroy what it was essential to preserve. They scoffed at traditions which were as sacred to China as the most sacred traditions of any western people. They used the torch of Christianity to enkindle, where it is only intended to light.

The early Buddhist priests did not fall into this error. They recognized the value of Confucian thought and they promptly made Confucius one of the saints of the Buddhist galaxy. When the Buddhists accepted Confucius, they made the way easy for the Confucians to accept the teachings of Buddha, who was a spiritual teacher. The rapid spread of Buddhism testified to the eagerness of the Chinese as a people to find a spiritual light, to attach themselves to something beyond the tomb.

The arrogance of the Christian missionaries in China was a glaring contradiction to the humility of the Christ, whose apostles they claimed to be. I do not question their faith and sincerity; it is their methods that I condemn, methods that have delayed the Christianizing of the Chinese for perhaps a century.

To me, Confucius compares to Christ in the sense that Moses compares to Christ. Each prepared the way for Him who was to come after. Both were great lawgivers. In each it was not the man, but the thoughts he uttered, that put a stamp upon the world that 2500 years have not been able to efface. If the intelligence, the understanding of the missionaries the Occident sent to convert the Orient had been equal to their faith, what miracles might they not have accomplished!

Their very sacrifices were rendered vain by their lack of understanding. I recall in my youth that sending missionaries to China was referred to as sending missionaries to the heathen. The mistakes they made were honest, but this did not prevent them from being mistaken.

If they had told the Chinese, in substance, that Christ, Confucius and Mencius followed almost parallel paths to the tomb, but that Christ alone went beyond, how different the reception of their gospel of love in China would have been!

Respect alone commands respect. How those Christian missionaries would have been greater, in the eyes of the Chinese, if they had consented to be less! They permitted their enthusiasm, born of their faith, to carry them so far that they have to walk back.

None extolled higher human virtues, none studied them with a higher understanding than Confucius.

Tzu Chang, one of his followers, asked Confucius for more light concerning moral virtue. Confucius replied:

"Moral virtue simply consists in being able, anywhere and everywhere, to exercise five particular qualities. These are self-respect, magnanimity, sincerity, earnestness and benevolence. Show self-respect, and others will respect you. Be magnanimous, and you will win all hearts. Be sincere, and men will trust you. Be earnest, and you will achieve great things. Be benevolent and you will be able to impose your will on others."

Tzu Lu asked, "Does not the princely man value courage?"

Confucius replied, "He puts righteousness first. The man of high station who has courage without righteousness is a menace to the state. The common man who has courage without righteousness is nothing more than a brigand."

Tzu Kung asked Confucius, "Has the nobler sort of man any hatreds?"

Confucius replied: "He has. He hates those who publish the faults of others. He hates men of low condition who vilify those above them. He hates those whose courage is unaccompanied by self-restraint. He hates those who are audacious, but narrow-minded."

Then he asked: "Have you, Tzu, also hatreds?" And his pupil answered:

"I hate those who think that wisdom consists in prying and meddling, courage, in showing no compliance; and honesty, in denouncing other men."

The nine points of Confucius are taught in the primer of Chinese classics. "The noble sort of man," said Confucius, "pays especial attention to nine points. He is anxious to see clearly, to hear distinctly, to be kindly in his looks, respectful in his demeanor, conscientious in his speech, earnest in his affairs. When in doubt, he is careful to inquire. When in anger, he thinks of the consequences. When offered an opportunity for gain, he thinks only of his duty."

When asked about the pursuit of riches, Confucius replied: "If the pursuit of riches were a commendable pursuit, I would join in it, even if I had to become a chariot driver for the purpose. But seeing that it is not a commendable pursuit, I engage in those which are more to my taste."

I find it highly instructive to connote from the writings and conversations of Confucius the few brief things he had to say about himself. Here are some examples:

"At 15 my mind was bent on learning. At 30 I stood firm. At 40 I was free from delusions. At 60 my ears were attentive to truth. At 70 I could follow the promptings of my heart without violating the laws of morality."

Again he said: "The failure to cultivate virtue, the failure to examine and analyze what I have learned, the inability to move toward righteousness after having been shown the way, the inability to correct my faults—these are the causes of my grief.

"I do not expound my teachings to any who are unwilling to learn. I do not help put anyone who is not anxious to explain himself. If, after being shown one corner of a subject a man cannot go on and explain the other three, I do not repeat the lesson."

Confucius based his philosophy and ethics on the premise that human nature is capable of both good and evil, and that environment and association are the forces that control its development. He established on the one hand the rules of propriety, that youth should be taught only by noble precepts and example; and, on the other protected from all evil influences and example; and, on the other hand, he gave his ideal precepts of benevolence and righteousness, in order to cultivate in youth the seeds of good.

Temples in which this creed is taught, to the exclusion of all others, certainly are not, as some uninformed missionaries warned their converts, "pools of idolatry and iniquity."

I do not seek to maintain that the precepts of Confucius are superior to those of the New Testament. I do not hold that our occidental moral and ethical code is not sufficient without them. But I do hold that there is nothing of fundamental importance in the Confucian ethics which a Chinese should be called upon to renounce in order to become a Christian convert.

So, I do not regard the conversion of Chiang Kai-shek as a political gesture, based on expediency. I grant him freely the sincerity of his convictions; and I regard this conversion as an opportunity for establishing the Christian movement in China on a firmer foundation.

For several years Chiang Kai-shek was secretary to Sun Yat-sen, who was at that time a member of a Christian denomination. Leaders of the three major factions in China now pay equal homage to Sun Yat-sen as the great Chinese liberator.

These two examples should do much to remove from the average Chinese his prejudice against the Christian religion. While the missionaries are now scattered or dead, and most of their churches and schools are in ruins, a new hope rises from the ashes. The Chinese are deeply spiritual by nature, and opportunity now beckons to turn this spiritual impulse from superstition to faith.

With Time Out

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 18.—[To the Editor of The Times:] With reference to the letter written by Mr. Frank J. McGrath which appeared in your issue of December 18 as per the attached clipping, relative to high-speed, long-distance trains in the United States.

I note that in the letter referred to, mention is made of a train operated from Windsor to St. Thomas, which would indicate that some of the Canadian trains had been taken into consideration. If such is the case, the fastest long-distance train in the world is the International Limited, operated by the Canadian National Railways.

This train, operating between Montreal and Chicago, consumes only 360 minutes in running the 334 miles from Montreal to Toronto. As this elapsed time includes four scheduled stops, forty minutes should be deducted on account of necessary slowing down and starting and dead time at these stops, which leaves the actual running time of 320 minutes for the 334 miles, or a rate of 63 miles per hour—the fastest time for any train in the world for a comparable distance.

CHRISTMAS CIRCUS ROLE TAKEN

Woman's Athletic Club Scene of Fete

[Curtis Biltmore studios]

Miss Virginia Bourke

ONE of the charming affairs of the year at the Woman's Athletic Club is the annual Children's Christmas Circus, held yesterday.

Under the direction of Miss Gladys Huls, a delightful program of folk songs and dances was given, and among those who took part was Miss Virginia Bourke, daughter of Mrs. Charlotte Bourke of West Santa Barbara avenue, who appeared as a little Dutch boy.

Others who took part were the Misses Donna and Susan Fether, Edith Kayser, Melrose and Kathleen Coffin, Barbara Norton, Marlyn Jewett, Mary Ellen Haver, Arleen and Marion Boyle, Jane Bosung and Helen and Dorothy Ledger.

Holiday Celebrations

Native flora will serve as a background for the holiday celebrations at El Mirador on the desert at Palm Springs. The annual trek to magical Chino Canyon has been made and from the grove there at 3000 feet above sea level have been brought branches of mistletoe, mountain elm, cottonwood, alder and sycamore, now in autumn colors, and with them the mystery of the region where a hot spring and cold spring exist within a few feet of one another. Pale frosted desert holly and tumbleweed also are used to striking advantage, and in the spirit of the first Christmas, which was of desert locale.

The Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve parties at the El Mirador are old-fashioned to a degree with the additions of impromptu ceremony depending upon the talent of the guests.

Those who have already arrived are: From Detroit, Allen S. McKinney, Flora M. and Arch Miller; from New York City, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bijur, C. C. Kurzman and his sister, Mrs. William W. Mayer; from Chestnut Hill, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Judson; from Santa Barbara, Frederick T. Merrill; from Big Bear Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Burke; from Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Hammond and Mrs. G. C. Hammond, T. D. Hammond, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meyer and son Eugene, Mrs. W. H. Milbank and Mrs. L. L. Milbank, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Hohms, the recently married Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harkness and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Perkes; from Pasadena, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Espey, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Davis, Prof. and Mrs. Edward H. Thorndike, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Torvar; from Beverly Hills, Mr. and Mrs. H. Keith Weeks; from San Francisco, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Luecke, recently married.

Interesting Sale Week

Among the well-known social leaders of Hollywood who started yesterday to pass the entire day and evening working for the welfare of disabled veterans of the World War at the Buddy Shop, 6756 Hollywood Boulevard, are included Mrs. Walter G. Hudson, Mrs. Eugene Holmes, Mrs. L. G. Muller, Mrs. L. H. Levens, Mrs. Daisy Farrington, Mrs. George Green, Mrs. Edward F. Schenck, Mrs. Clarence Conely, Mrs. Warren Clark, Mrs. Antoinette Smith, Miss Alice Oge, Mrs. H. L. Wright, Miss Zoe Munson, Miss Miriam Welke, Mrs. Charles Stark and Mrs. Oscar Hauptman.

These women volunteered several days ago to throw aside all their personal work in order to devote their entire time to working in assuring a happy Christmas for disabled veterans of the World War.

The Buddy Shop sells articles made by war veterans with the entire proceeds made from the sale going direct to the makers. The shop is being operated under the auspices of the Post War Service League, of which Mrs. E. B. Wierick is president, with Mrs. R. M. Brin in charge of the store.

MISSION TO SERVE DINNERS

Christmas dinners will be served the needy tomorrow at the Victory Mission, 2503 Pasadena avenue, Sister Alice Frank, president, announces. There also will be distribution of clothing and toys.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

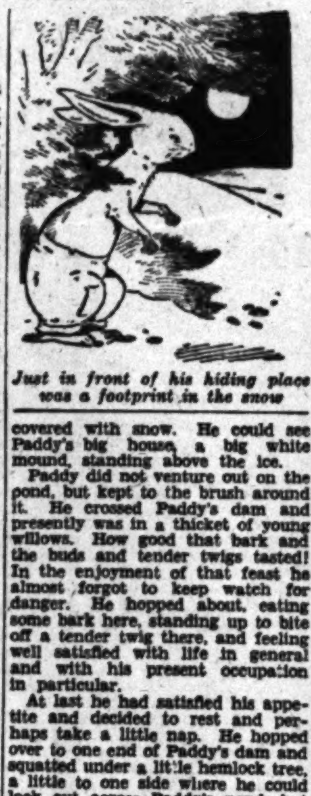
by THORTON W. BURGESS

JUMPER FINDS A FOOTPRINT

A footprint made is out of mind,
Yet we a record leave behind.
—Little Joe Otter.

Jumper the Hare travels about considerably in the Green Forest. He has to in winter in order to get enough to eat. That is one reason Old Mother Nature has given him snowshoes. Of course, they are not real snowshoes, but they answer the purpose of snowshoes and make it possible for Jumper to move about on soft snow in which little people much smaller and lighter than he would flounder about. What Old Mother Nature has done for him is to give him very big feet with long toes and cover these in winter with a heavy coat of hair. This makes broad pads of the feet and Jumper does not sink in the snow as others do.



Just in front of his hiding place was a footprint in the snow

It was a moonlight night, Jumper likes the moonlight. He likes to travel about then. This night he had followed the Laughing Brook deep in the Green Forest. He wanted some willow bark and young willow twigs and he remembered that there were some young willows growing around the pond of Paddy the Beaver. Jumper is fond of willow and having thought of it he couldn't get it out of his mind. I guess you know how that is. So now he was on his way up the Laughing Brook. He was keeping a sharp watch for danger, knowing full well that on a night like this there would be hungry folks abroad—Hooty the Great Horned Owl, Yowler the Bob Cat, Old Many Coyote, Reddy Fox, Billy Mink, Shadow the Weasel. Any or all of these might be hunting in this part of the Green Forest. Particularly did he watch for signs of Yowler the Bob Cat, who is very fond of Hare. Also, he was all the time looking for a moving shadow which might be Hooty the Owl.

He reached the pond of Paddy the Beaver without mishap. Once as he peeped out from beneath an overhanging, snow-covered hemlock branch, he saw a swiftly moving shadow, but heard no sound. "That was made by Hooty the Owl," said he to himself. "Hooty was flying just over the tops of the trees and made that shadow on the snow. I'll stay right here for a while to give him a chance to go to another part of the Green Forest."

Some time later from far away toward the edge of the Green Forest there came the sound he had been hoping to hear. It was the hunting call of Hooty the Owl. At once Jumper than hopped out and started on his way again. You see, he knew now where Hooty was and that there was nothing to fear from him at present. So at last Jumper reached the pond of Paddy the Beaver. Like the Smiling Pool, it was frozen over and the ice was covered with snow. He could see Paddy's big house, a big white mound, standing above the ice.

Paddy did not venture out on the pond, but kept to the brush around it. He crossed Paddy's dam and presently was in a thicket of young willows. How good that bark and the buds and tender twigs tasted! In the enjoyment of that feast he almost forgot to keep watch for danger. He hopped about, eating some bark here, standing up to bite off a tender twig there, and feeling well satisfied with life in general and with his present occupation in particular.

At last he had satisfied his appetite and decided to rest and perhaps take a little nap. He hopped over to one end of Paddy's dam and squatted under a little hemlock tree, a little to one side where he could look out across Paddy's pond, but where he would not be likely to be seen by any who might come along that way. Hardly had he settled himself comfortably when his glance fell on something that caused his eyes to fly wide open. He sat up abruptly. Just in front of his hiding place was a footprint in the snow. It was of good size and it was very odd. Looking to left and right he saw more such prints. It was plain to see that the maker of those prints had passed that way not long before.

Jumper stared at that print right in front of him. It was a queer print. It was not unlike such a print as Honker the Goose might have made had he been there. That is to say, it was a print that showed toe nails, but hardly any signs of toes, the kind of a print that would be made by a foot the toes of which were joined by a web.

"So," said Jumper to himself, "Little Joe Otter has returned and is to be looked out for."

Health and Diet Advice

DRESSING FOR WINTER

The big problem in dressing for the winter months is to adapt your clothes so that while indoors you will never be overheated or uncomfortable, and when out of doors you will be warmly clad. Offices and homes are usually kept as warm as a balmy summer day, while the outside weather may be near the freezing point, so that unless one dresses properly, one will be overheated indoors and inadequately heated out of doors.

One of the best ways to dress for the winter months is to accustom yourself to wearing either ordinary underwear or a moderate weight of knit underwear. In this way you you will not be too warm in the house, but on going out of doors where you have to face the biting cold you should plan to wear good warm heavy outer garments, a pair of warm gloves to protect the fingers from getting numb and cold, and a scarf or muffler to protect the throat. You will find that wearing more of the warm clothing externally will protect you from the blasts of winter and has the great advantage that when you come again into a warm room you may easily remove your heavy outer wraps and be comfortable near the fire.

Many women insist on wearing thin silk hose even in the coldest weather, but if they do insist on doing this they should at least be sure that they have a pair of warm overshoes which cling snugly around the ankles to keep the feet warm. While it is wise to keep the skin warm at all times, it is not healthy to be overheated, as this reduces the tone of the skin and causes a slight sweat all over the body so that when we go out into the cold chilliness may occur.

If the skin has been overclothed for years it soon loses its power of reacting against the cold. A good reaction means, for example, if you take a cold bath and rub the skin well it turns rosy and warm. If the skin has been coddled for months, it no longer reacts and a person is apt to catch cold every time he sits in a draft. You should form the habit of rubbing the skin vigorously every day to bring a good flow of blood to the surface. Take a warm shower bath and gradually make the water cool until you get a good reaction. After the bath, scrub the skin well with a coarse towel. In this way the skin can be given a better circulation of blood to keep it warm when one ventures out into the cold.

Those suffering from cold feet during the winter will find it advisable to change to slightly heavier woolen hose. However, cold hands and feet are due to poor circulation and one should attempt to overcome this by taking vigorous physical culture exercises. We should learn not to overdress for the cold. Think of the children in Switzerland who are hardened until they are able to play in the snow perfectly nude except for a loin cloth. The cold season should brace us up. Cold is good for us. The zip of the winter season should give us added strength for success and fun. Don't lose all of the finest effects of the bracing weather because you keep yourself bundled up like a cocoon. The days of the long red flannel underwear which itched and scratched should be gone forever. Dress yourself in the modern fashion and enjoy better health.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

BAKED NOODLES AND PRUNES

Boil half a pound of noodles, in water, to which has been added one tablespoonful of butter, until tender. Drain in colander and run cold water through it. Boil a pound of prunes with one slice of lemon, a small stick of cinnamon, and half a cupful of sugar until tender. Butter a deep earthenware or glass baking dish, place in it one quarter of the cooked noodles, seed the prunes, place a layer of them on the noodles, dot with bits of butter, cover with one-half the remaining noodles, dot again with butter, add the rest of the prunes, cover with the remaining noodles, pour over the prune juice, sprinkle with buttered bread crumbs and brown in a moderate oven.

CHICKEN SOUFFLE

Make a sauce with two cupfuls of scalded milk, two tablespoonfuls of butter rubbed to a paste with two tablespoonfuls of flour, a seasoning of salt and pepper; add one-half a cupful of stale bread crumbs and allow to simmer for ten minutes. Remove from the fire, stir in two cupfuls of cooked chicken that has been chopped fine, one tablespoonful of minced parsley, the yolks of three well-beaten eggs, and fold in the stiffly beaten whites. Place in a well-oiled baking dish, filling about two-thirds full, set in a pan of boiling water and bake in a slow oven for thirty-five minutes. Turn out and serve with a mushroom sauce.

AMBER PIE

One-half a cupful of sugar, one-half a cupful of apricot jam, four tablespoonfuls of flour, one-half a cupful of orange juice, four tablespoonfuls of grated orange rind, one-half a cupful of sour cream, three tablespoonfuls of melted butter, the yolks of three eggs, mix the sugar and flour together, add the orange juice and grated rind, the yolks of the eggs, beaten until light and creamy, then add the melted butter and sour cream. Lastly, fold in the jam, place in an unbaked pie shell, place in a hot oven for the first ten minutes, then reduce the heat and bake slowly until the filling is set. Cover with meringue made of the egg whites.

SPINACH NUT RING

Three cupfuls of cooked spinach, three eggs, one-half a cupful of stale bread crumbs, two-thirds of a cupful of walnuts, one-fourth of a cupful of melted butter, a seasoning of salt, paprika, and a few grains of mace; chop the spinach, add to it the well-beaten eggs, bread crumbs, chopped nuts and melted butter, season with the salt, paprika and mace. Place in a well-oiled ring mold, set in a pan of water, and bake until firm in a moderate oven. Turn out onto a platter and fill the center with cooked, buttered carrots. Serve with a cream sauce.

YOUR BABY and MINE

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

VEGETABLES ARE ONLY A PART OF WELL-BALANCED DIET

Doubtless I have remarked before that when attention is focused upon a certain article of food, mothers become imbued with the idea that this alone is important to the diet. The excellence of vegetables and their early inclusion in the baby's diet give rise to the assumption that only vegetables are important, and that if a child eat plenty of vegetables, little else matters.

Of course, this is wrong. Vegetables are an important part of the diet, but still only a part of it. They contain important vitamins but not very much nourishment. They contain lots of indigestible cellulose which contributes bulk to the diet and stimulates good elimination. They lend variety to the diet. They are alkaline in their reaction and are vastly necessary in the prevention of acidity.

Our leaflet, "An Explanation of Calories, Vitamins and Food Elements" will clear up some of these points for mothers. Simply send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request for it to this department.

REFUSES MOST VEGETABLES

Mrs. L. S. has this exaggerated idea that vegetables are the only food important to good health. "My son is 4 years of age and weighs thirty-five pounds," she says. "He has good habits, rises at 7:30 and goes to bed at 7:30. Plays outdoors most of the day in all weathers. Has never been sick except a few colds. He will not eat vegetables and this worries me. He will accept only potatoes, peas, celery and lettuce, no matter how I disguise them. This worries me as I know vegetables are the only things to keep one healthy and in good condition.

"He has two teaspoonfuls of cod-liver oil and three cupfuls of cocoa daily and will eat meat in any form. How can I convince him he must eat vegetables?"

KINDLE HIS INTEREST

His unconscious selection of vegetables is a good one. Celery does not have vitamin A, as you stated, but lettuce has the A, B, and C vitamins. Give him the three he likes in some form daily. Incidentally, here are the vegetables which contain all three vitamins: lettuce, tomatoes, potatoes, fresh peas, string beans, dandelion greens, spinach and cabbage. He has three of them in his diet.

Another leaflet, "Introducing Vegetables Into the Child's Diet," will also be helpful to you. If he plays outdoors all day and has a good diet, he does not need cod-liver oil at this age, and without it his appetite for some of the vegetables might be spurred. It is worth a trial at any rate. Too often interest in vegetables is killed by the mother's insistence on how good they are for a child. If no pressure were brought to bear on him and vegetables were served at the table and obviously enjoyed by the adults, his interest might be kindled.

Mission Ready to Feed Army of Hungry Men

Mountains of food await the attack of hungry men tomorrow at 11:30 a.m. when the Midnight Mission will begin feeding all homeless wayfarers who come to its headquarters at Fourth and Los Angeles streets.

Basing their figures on the Thanksgiving turnout when 3542 dinners were served, preparations have been made by officials to feed in excess of 4000. To give the holiday full sway, decorations have brightened the plain walls of the mission and each diner will receive some token of the season.

A staff dinner was given to sixty members of the mission workers yesterday by the board of directors.

PRINTS OF TIRE MURDER CLEW

Officer Identifies Tracks in Horton Slaying Trial

Sale of Weapon That Killed Recluse Traced

Court Takes Recess Until Monday Morning

Identification of the tire prints left near the home of Wade Albert Horton by the car driven by two bandits who killed him May 18, last, yesterday featured the trial of Lloyd Dye and Gordon Gauss in Superior Judge Fricke's court. The youths are accused of slaying Horton after they had attempted to rob him and his brother George, 92 years of age.

The identification was made by Dave Chapman, deputy sheriff, who photographed the tire prints and later compared them with the tires of Dye's automobile after the man was taken in custody. He asserted that from his examination the tire prints apparently were made by Dye's car.

Another important witness called by Dep. Dist.-Attys. Menzies and Blalock was Elmer Flynn of Bakersfield, who stated that in 1928 he sold an automatic pistol of German make to a man named Bart Jenkins. Later in the trial other witnesses will be called in an attempt to trace the weapon into the possession of Tony Martinez, who is accused of planning the robbery.

At the close of Chapman's testimony, Walter Hewitt, nephew of Wade Horton, was recalled to the witness stand by the defense and questioned more closely concerning Martinez's dealings with the Hortons while he was employed by them as a ranch hand. Court then was adjourned until 10 a.m. Monday morning.

CITY'S NEWSBOYS READY TO EAT AND EAT AND EAT

Scattered in all parts of Los Angeles, 3000 youngsters are anxiously waiting Christmas morning, when they will invade the Biltmore to be guests of Fred H. Solomon at the fifteenth annual newsboys' Christmas dinner.

The Los Angeles Fire and Police departments, officials of the Breakfast Club and the staff of the Biltmore are co-operating in the final rush of preparations.

Assembling at 9 a.m. at the various newspaper offices, the newsboys will parade in taxis to the hotel. Assistant Chief of Police Finlinson has detailed a motorcycle escort and Fire Chief Scott will send the fire department band to head the procession. J. A. Baldi of the Yellow Cab Company arranged transportation.

The youngsters, arriving at the Biltmore at 10:45 o'clock, will sit down to a five-course Christmas dinner with turkey and all the fixin's. Chief Scott will preside as master of ceremonies and an entertainment program has been arranged by Maurice De Mond, president of the Breakfast Club; Harold B. Link, his amusement director, and Norman Manning.

Entertainment features will include Charles Murray, comedian, once a newsboy; Joe Cobb, juvenile funster; Jules Buffano, pianist; Ray Randolph, the Meglin Kiddies, Tommy Weber, leader of the Breakfast Club Orchestra, banjoist; Tomboy Taylor, danseuse; Marilyn Tuttle, acrobatic songster, and three musical ensembles, including Sunny Brooks's Jazz Hounds, Tom Moore and his Dublin Orchestra and the fire department band.

GREETERS TO BE GUESTS

His birthday anniversary falling on Christmas Day, Robert E. Rogers of the Hotel Elms, 321 Olive street, will celebrate by giving a Christmas breakfast to the members of Charter No. 30, Hotel Greeters of Southern California, at Ye Bull Pen Inn. Walter A. Coughlin, manager of the Hollenbeck, will be master of ceremonies. Motion-picture stars will assist in the entertainment.

Bride Preferred Man of Leisure

Unemployment won him a wife and employment lost her, Edward M. Borrowe testified yesterday in Superior Judge Sheldon's court where he divorced Glenica Borrowe, his one-day bride.

Borrowe said he was out of work October 10, 1929, while in Tishomingo, Okla., so he became married. Next day he received an offer of employment in Los Angeles and came here without delay. Mrs. Borrowe refused to accompany him, he said.

"Since then I have established a home here and frequently begged her to come, but still she refuses," he said.

RADIO PLANS ENGLISH FILMS

Mitzi Green Wins Feminine Lead in Lasky's "Skippy;" Bette Davis is Ingenue in "Gamblng Daughters;" Yola D'Avril Plays Opposite Frank Fay

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

It appears inevitable that all picture concerns will sooner or later find it necessary to acquire studios in foreign lands, due both to quota requirements and foreign language pictures.

Plans for an extensive program of British-made features for Radio Pictures were revealed yesterday following the departure for London of Basil Dean and R. H. Baker, English film executives.

Dean and Baker, it was disclosed, visited Hollywood for the specific purpose of discussing British production activities with Joseph I. Schnitzer, president, and William LeBaron, vice-president.

The British producing branch of the Radio organization, known as Associated Radio Pictures, will soon acquire studio property and facilities near London which will compare favorably with the most modern American studios, it was announced.

During their short stay in the film capital the Englishman made thorough inspections of the Radio studio for the purpose of taking back with them the latest methods of sound recording and studio operation.

Mr. Dean is one of the most prominent film impresarios in England. During the past year he made two notable contributions to the screen with "Escape" and "The Perfect Alibi." Baker is a prominent English capitalist with large film holdings throughout the Empire.

It is likely, we learn, that certain English players will come to Hollywood to appear in Radio pictures here, such players to be sought out by Messrs. Dean and Baker, who will keep in constant touch with Schnitzer and LeBaron along this line.

CHILD ACTRESS TO PLAY IN "SKIPPY"

MITZI GREEN

I don't know of a child actress who ever, without huge exploitation and starring billing, has made the impression on the public that Mitzi Green has.

And now, having achieved unusual success as Becky Thatcher in "Tom Sawyer," little Miss Green has been given another role calculated to make all the other child actresses turn green with envy. Paramount has just assigned Mitzi to "Skippy," and she will play opposite Jackie Cooper, the little boy who has the name role. She will be the girl who lives in the house next door to Skippy, who insists on reciting, and on being taken places.

Sam Mintz is writing the story, with dialogue by Joseph L. Mankiewicz, and Edward Sloman will direct.

Yola D'Avril Plays Lead

YOLA D'AVRIL

When Frank Fay starts work on his First Warner Brothers' starring vehicle, "The Devil Was Sick," he will have as his leading lady no less pleasing and accomplished an actress than Yola D'Avril, it was announced yesterday by Darryl Zanuck.

Miss D'Avril has appeared in a number of successful film roles, principally for First National. One of her roles was in "All Quiet on the Western Front."

Michael Curtiz will direct, and the production is slated to be a special.

UNIVERSAL ASSIGNS BROADWAY ACTRESS

After having taken various screen and voice tests of Bette Davis, who recently came to Hollywood from Broadway, Universal has decided that she will fit admirably into one of the leading roles of "Gambling Daughters," which Hobart Henley will direct.

Miss Davis, therefore, will play the ingenue lead, that of Sidney Fox's sister, in the picture.

The talker is to be made one of Universal's specials of the year. So far no leading man has been selected.

Mary Duncan Ill

MARY DUNCAN

It looks as though the exotic Mary Duncan will have to spend her Christmas in bed.

Miss Duncan is still suffering from influenza, and confined to home. She is improving, however, according to the word of her sister, yesterday, and will doubtless be able to go into her role in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production for which she has been engaged, and on which work will be commenced around the first of the year.

Louise Fazenda Featured

The picture fans simply must have their fun, and nobody seems able to hand them any more laughs than Louise Fazenda. Wherefore, that young actress is busy all the time.

Now she has just signed with Liberty productions to play the featured comedienne rôle in "Women Like Men," to be produced by M. H. Hoffman. William Beaudine is to handle the direction of the new cinema.

Roscoe Ates Gets Contract

So very popular has Roscoe Ates become in the short time during which he has been cavorting in Radio Pictures that he has been given a long-term contract by that organization, according to announcement of William LeBaron.

And not only this, but he is also to be featured in leading comedy roles.

Ates has scored in a number of Radio productions, including "Check and Double Check," "Cimarron" and "She Went for a Tramp." In the latter he was cofeatured with Hugh Herbert.

Marcia Manners Assigned

MARCIA MANNERS

Marcia Manners, screen newcomer recently placed under contract by Paramount, yesterday was given her first film assignment. She joins an all-star cast of Paramount's romantic farce comedy of big business ventures tentatively titled "Have You Got It?"

Although trained as an operatic singer, and a member of the Milan Opera Company in Italy, Miss Manners was signed as an actress before making her American debut.

Norman Foster carries the stellar role in the new comedy, with Carole Lombard, Skeets [illegible] Pallette and others in the picture, which [illegible] to direct.

WIFE WEARIES OF CHARGES

False Accusations Against Her Morals Asserted in Divorce Plea

Repeated false accusations wore her down, Mrs. Gertrude Dunham yesterday testified in divorcing Charles G. Dunham of Huntington Park. For two years, she told Superior Judge Burnell, her husband continually accused her of:

Associating with other men.

Drinking intoxicants.

Smoking cigarettes.

"And I do none of these things," she concluded.

Judge Burnell approved a property settlement.

Whispers in the Wings

BY MURIEL BABCOCK

ETHEL BARRYMORE will be in town as early as February with "Scarlet Sister Mary."

And Mitzi, diminutive little star of many a musical, will be along the latter part of next month with a new comedy (not musical.)

Mr. Herbert Rosener of San Francisco, partner in the Pacific Coast Erlanger interests, confided these items yesterday.

ETHEL BARRYMORE

Mr. Rosener came to town to cast an appraising eye over the production of "Lost Sheep," which Arthur Collins has assembled for a next Monday opening at the Erlanger Columbia, San Francisco. He seemed to think Mr. Collins had done a very nice job. The show will come here to the Biltmore in about four weeks, according to present plans.

Ethel Barrymore may play the Mason. The last time she was here she told somebody she wouldn't play any other theater. She likes the old operahouse personally and she thinks she gets better crowds there than at other theaters.

The show she brings to town is the same that New York just witnessed and the one that Miss Barrymore has had on tour for several months. It presents her in a blackface role, the first in her theatrical career. She plays a Gullah Negress of South Carolina with coal-black make-up, kinky hair and gingham apron costume—quite a contrast from other roles in which Los Angeles theatergoers have seen her. The play is, of course, from Julia Peterkin's prize novel.

Mitzi's show will be produced and cast on the Coast. In fact, it will be a new play which, if successful, will be taken east. It will mark the third Erlanger western venture into production, the first being the ill-fated "Subway Express" and the second, the about-to-start "Lost Sheep."

Ann Rork in New Show

Ann Rork, who has appeared in quite a few motion pictures, and who is known, aside from her good looks and dramatic ability, as the daughter of Sam Rork, will have a good part in the new Oliver Morosco show, "Between the Covers." She was glimpsed at rehearsal yesterday along with Moneai Lindley, the young leading lady, Raymond Hatton, star of the piece, and Barry Thomas, English youth who furnishes the romantic interest.

ANN RORK

Morosco plans to follow this first show with two others, he said yesterday. One is a new play by Richard Walton Tully, "The Thrill Lady," and the other, "Mr. Betty," by Willis Maxwell Goodhugh. Tully's play has been tried out in San Mateo county; the Goodhugh play was one of the string which Morosco produced at Long Beach.

Pasadena Folk Abroad

Joseph Sauers, who was a Pasadena Community Playhouse "discovery," has a small part in the next New York Theater Guild production . . . Jeanne Wood, daughter of Sam Wood, the director, and also a former Pasadena player, makes her Broadway debut in the same production . . . Jerome Cory was to have been in "Hamlet," a production by Norman Bel-Geddes, when the production fell through for lack of funds . . . David Loring, just finished an engagement in "Death Takes a Holiday" . . . Charles Levison is with the Stewart Walker Stock Company in Cincinnati.

Along the Eastern Front

Because of the scarcity of touring attractions the Shubert Theater in Newark will present as its bill for New Year's week a new revue assembled under the title of "The Parade of the Stars." Irene Bordoni will head the cast, which also will include Lester Allen, "Red" Stanley, Dudley Wilkinson, the Albertina Rasch girls and Irving Aaronson's Commanders. Matinees will be given every day except Monday.

Another house on the subway circuit, which may lack an attraction next week is the Majestic Theater in Brooklyn. A bill headed by Harry Richman, Lita Grey Chaplin and Vincent Lopez and his orchestra is being considered for the week there.

The Broadway premiere of Booth Tarkington's new play, "Colonel Satan," is now scheduled for Monday, January 12, at the Fulton Theater. A London production of the play will open at the Haymarket Theater on January 14.

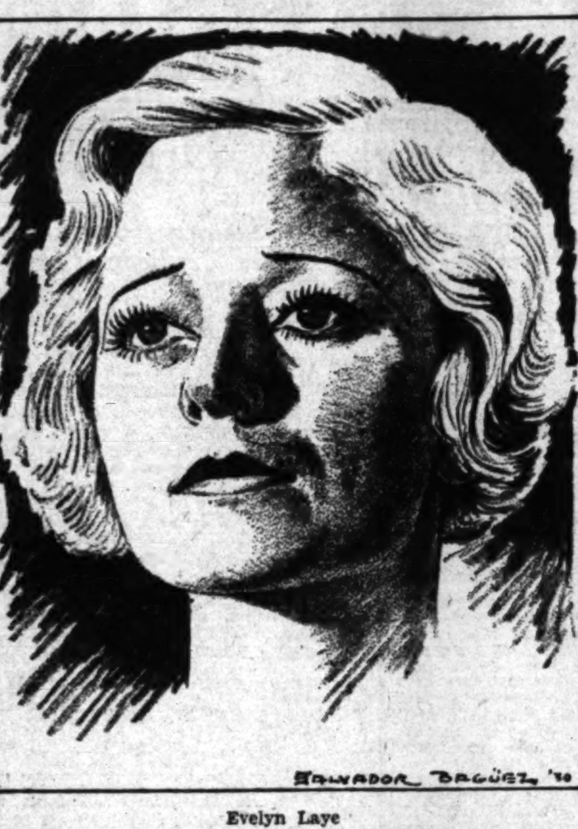
William Courtleigh and C. Anthony Hughes have joined the cast of "With the Tide," the play which Josephine Victor Reid has adapted from the German. The production, under the direction of Clifford Brook, will open New Year's night in Washington and probably come to New York about January 19.

"Tom Sawyer" Due Tomorrow

"Tom Sawyer," which starts at Pantages Hollywood Theater tomorrow, marks the return to the screen after three years of Jackie Coogan, noted as "The Kid" in the Charlie Chaplin picture. Young Coogan recently completed a European vaudeville tour with his father. Mitzi Green is seen opposite in the role of Becky Thatcher and Junior Durkin plays Huckleberry Finn.

Eddie Lambert, well known here for his appearances in vaudeville and musical comedy, will be on the stage for a week.

Footlight Idol Plays Film Role



Evelyn Laye

NEW FILM IN VITASCOPE

Warner Brothers will introduce their new wide film and screen device, Vitascope, at the Hollywood Theater Friday, in connection with Richard Barthelmess' vehicle "The Lash."

This is the first time a complete picture has been shown in Hollywood with Vitascope. Sequences have been seen from time to time.

"The Lash" is said to be an appropriate picture in which to use the wide screen, inasmuch as the majority of the action takes place out of doors. Vitascope is the result of several years of experimental work and is now said to be perfected to such an extent that it is to be installed in all Warner theaters in the near future.

The new wide screen device differs from others of its kind in that special projection machinery and other expensive attachments are not necessary. It is operated through larger lenses and projection head differences.

"The Lash" opens Friday at both Warner Brothers' Hollywood and Downtown theaters—Vitascope is to be shown at the Hollywood Theater only. Richard Barthelmess portrays El Puma, a bandit of early California. Others in the cast are Mary Astor, Marion Nixon, Fred Kohler, James Rennie and Robert Edeson. Frank Lloyd directed.

Comedian Feels Comfortable in Baseball Togs

Joe E. Brown feels right at home in the baseball suit he wears in the second act of "Elmer the Great," Ring Lardner's comedy which is playing at El Capitan Theater.

JOE E. BROWN

During his colorful career, which started at the age of 9, when he was an acrobat in a circus, Brown served his apprenticeship as a baseball player, starting with the St. Paul team, when he was 17 and ending with the New York Yankees some years later.

Mitchell Ingraham, who plays the gambler in the comedy, remembers playing ball with Joe Brown years ago in Toledo and also recalls vaudeville days, when they were both booked on the same bill.

Supporting the comedian in "Elmer the Great" are Emerson Treacy, Mia Marvin, Ruth Matteson, Jean Reno, Jane Darwell, Lottie Williams, Kernan Cripps, Ben Taggart and others.

Two New Year's Eve performances of "Elmer the Great" are scheduled at El Capitan.

TALKIES ATTRACT FOOTLIGHT PLAYER

Marjorie Rambeau

The silver screen had to talk to Marjorie Rambeau before she would listen to its offers!

The talented stage star has been proffered numerous contracts during her footlight career, but it was not until the advent of audible pictures that she turned a receptive ear to the entreaties of producers.

Miss Rambeau makes her film debut in "Min and Bill," the diverting feature attraction currently at the Carthay Circle Theater. On the strength of her performance in this production, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has signed the actress to a long-term contract.

SPORTS FIGURES ACT

Old-Time Movie Program Slated for Late Bill

"One moment please, while the operator changes reels."

This and other expressions familiar to theatergoers of fifteen years back, will flash from the screen of the Chinese Theater at the midnight show on New Year's Eve on a slide with a rosebud background.

Then will come the sleek-haired illustrated song artist who will give his interpretation of "Down by the Old Mill Stream," with gestures.

All of this will serve as a fitting prelude to the showing of a Mary Pickford picture, the exact vintage of which is not known.

Bringing the performance up to date, and whetting the appetites peculiar to New Year's Eve audiences, the theater is offering Joyzelle, interpretive exotic dancer as part of the stage show. This will mark the dancer's first stage appearance since the advent of talking pictures. In the past year she has appeared in "Just Imagine" and other films.

Noted Actors Applying for Roles in Play

When Sid Grauman opens his first production, "Once in a Lifetime," the Hart-Kauffman comedy of the talkies, at the Mayan Theater January 26, the cast may be termed an all-star one, if all the noted stage and screen players who have applied for roles are accepted.

With Moss Hart, co-author of the comedy, and Robert B. Sinclair, the New York director, Grauman is now busily engaged in selecting players for the fifty or more important speaking roles, which will not be filled by the arriving players chosen in the East, reports say.

A number of important stage and screen stars are said to have sought even minor roles in the cast.

Both Hart and Sinclair are astonished at the number of beautiful and talented girls that have sought the feminine roles, they declare, and say that as far as beauty is concerned they greatly outshine those in the New York company.

Broadway Will See Play After Premieres Here

Following the local engagement of "Between the Covers" at the Biltmore Theater starting Monday night, the comedy-drama is to be sent on to New York, according to Oliver Morosco, the producer.

It is Morosco's ambition to resume the successful theatrical policies he inaugurated here twenty-five years ago, when he staged many plays before taking them to New York. These included "Bird of Paradise," "Abie's Irish Rose," "The Brat," "Upstairs and Down," "So Long Letty," "The Unchastened Woman" and others.

"Between the Covers" is an original story from the pen of William A. Jefferis. The cast includes Raymond Hatton as star, Moneai Lindley, Henry Hall, Ann Rork, Verna Mersereau, Lou Dunn, Barry Thomson, Sven-Hugo Borg, Jerome Jordan, Ann Clancy and Adam Fangman.

FILM FARCE WILL START RUN TODAY

Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey Cavort Again in "Hook, Line and Sinker"

Wilbur Boswell and Addington Ganzy (Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey) trying to establish a modern hostelry forms the basis for the fun in "Hook, Line and Sinker," which starts today at the Orpheum Theater.

The multifarious trials and tribulations faced by hotel managers are only a part of the troubles of the naively nonchalant comedians, for one "falls hook, line and sinker" for a girl.

Dorothy Lee, aide of Wheeler and Woolsey in "Rio Rita," "The Cuckoos," "Dixiana" and "Half Shot at Sunrise," heads the supporting cast. Jobyna Howland has an important part as the mother.

Ralf Harolde is the chief scoundrel; George Marion is a comical bellhop; Natalie Moorhead is a seductive villainess, and others seen are Hugh Herbert, Stanley Fields and Bill Davidson. "Hook, Line and Sinker" was written by Tim Whelan, directed by Eddie Cline, and produced by Radio.

APARTMENT SERVES AS PLAY SCENE

"Up Pops Devil" Depicts Adventures of Youths in Greenwich Village

"Up Pops the Devil," the current New York success which opens a limited engagement at the Belasco Theater tomorrow night, has to do with the adventures of a group of young people in Gotham's Greenwich Village.

The locale of the comedy is a studio apartment. Steve is an advertising man, but has ambitions to write the great American novel. Anne proposes to go into the chorus at Roxy's, Steve to devote all his time to the typewriter and run the flat. He finally agrees, but first they get married.

Steve's literary efforts strike a snag and he makes a failure of housekeeping, for joyous and always thirsty friends are in the habit of using the apartment as a sort of club room. Amid much merriment and good intentions, complications arise thick and fast.

In the cast of this Belasco & Curran offering are Raymond Hackett, Ann Teaman, Esther Howard, John Arledge, Leyland Hodgson, Lex Lindsay, Marguerite Warner, Jac Foss, Helen Dickson, Herbert Fortier and Alma Powell.

'Sisters' Ready to Perform for Holiday Throng

The "Stepping Sisters" are ready to step on the stage of the Hollywood Playhouse under the supervision of Henry Duffy who presents the comedy Christmas Day matinee.

MAY BOLEY

May Boley, Kathryn Givney and Frances Woodbury are the cavorting trio in the comedy, which has to do with three ex - burlesque queens.

The humor of the piece is said to be in the reminiscences of these "ladies of the chorus" as they meet in a Long Island mansion.

Radio Soloist Heads R.-K.-O. Variety Bill

Peter Higgins, noted radio soloist, holds the star spot in the vaudeville unit which will supplement Evelyn Brent in "Madonna of the Streets" on the program opening tomorrow at the R.-K.-O. Theater.

Higgins also is known to the variety stage, and will enter a third field of entertainment shortly when he begins work in motion pictures on a five-year contract just signed with the Radio studios. In his act he is assisted at the piano by Frank Dixon. Also featured in the incoming unit is Jack Usher in a comedy skit, "Married Life." Gladys Head and Margaret Peters are his aides.

"Madonna of the Streets" is said to be the dramatic story of the redemption of a woman of the world in a salvation mission on the Barbary Coast.

Supporting Miss Brent are Robert Ames, Ivan Linow, Josephine Dunn and Ed Brady. John Robertson directed for Columbia.

Fanchon, Marco Idea Includes Popular Player

One of Fanchon and Marco's popular comediennes, Nell Kelly, will be featured in the new "Vaudeville Echoes" idea, which starts on the Loew's State Theater stage tomorrow, along with the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer comedy, "Reducing," costarring Marie Dressler and Polly Moran.

Miss Kelly, who is a favorite with Loew's patrons, returns from an eastern tour. Other players who will be seen on the new stage bill are Bobby Henshaw, the Allison Troupe and Ed and Jenny Rooney.

ARMED BANDIT ROBS DRUGGIST

San Diegan Loses $200 in Drugs and $60 in Cash

R. L. Cavin Threatened With Death by Drug Addict

Victim Forced Into Store's Washroom at Gunpoint

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 23.—In a daring daylight hold-up about 10 a.m. today an armed bandit robbed R. L. Cavin, proprietor of a prescription pharmacy at 1210 Third street, of $65 in cash and narcotics valued at more than $200. Cavin told police he was confronted by the man, who held a revolver to his side and threatened him with death if he made any "phoney moves."

Cavin said the bandit produced a canvas bag after forcing him into a rear room and scooped up all the narcotics available. The bandit then attacked the cash drawer and obtained all the money it contained.

Cavin added that after the bandit had obtained the loot he forced him into a washroom and cautioned him to remain quiet for ten minutes. The man escaped.

Detective Lieutenant H. J. Kelly began an investigation of the crime and secured a description of the bandit. He was described as being about 32 years of age and weighing about 140 pounds. Cavin said his assailant wore a heavy overcoat and was unshaven. From the actions of the man police believe he is a narcotic addict.

Stanford Youth to Return to Take Quizzes

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 23.—Donald E. Stanford, 18-year-old Stanford University student reported to have run away from Palo Alto early last week rather than face his examinations, will go back to the university and complete his course, his father declared today.

Father and son met in the City Jail, where the tall young student had been held since local police found him wandering the streets here at 3:30 o'clock in the morning, they reported. He told them he was on his way to San Diego to "get a job," but a check-up with northern authorities led to communication with the father, Prof. E. E. Stanford, of the botany and zoology department of the College of the Pacific, who came today to take Donald back home to Stockton.

According to the father, Stanford University heads informed him that the boy had no reason for dreading his examinations, as he was well up in all his studies. A heavy scholastic schedule was responsible for the impulse, in a moment of nervous apprehension, which had induced Donald to leave school so suddenly. Father and son greeted each other at the jail with cordial hellos, and a handshake and everything was fixed up again.

Grocer Finds His Customer to Be Bandit

HUNTINGTON PARK, Dec. 23.—"I want to purchase a package of cookies," was the order given C. E. Pierson at his grocery store on Pacific Boulevard by a stranger last night.

When Pierson filled the order, the man handed him a $1 bill in payment, and as the groceryman opened the cash register, he was pushed aside, a revolver being pointed at him by the customer-bandit. The man scooped the money from the drawer, placed it in his pocket, and on reaching the door, remarked, "I just took some of your change, Bud," and with that ran across the street, jumped into an automobile and made his escape. He took between $7 and $8.

Pierson described the bandit to police as being about 5ft. 10in. in height, weighed 150 pounds, about 30 years of age, an American, wore a gray brown top coat, light suit and light felt hat, and talked in a mild and quiet manner.

New Auditor to Retain Staff

SANTA ANA, Dec. 23.—County Auditor-elect W. T. Lambert of Laguna Beach will retain all the present staff of County Auditor William Jerome, whom he succeeds in office January 5, he announced today.

The staff will be headed by Chief Deputy Auditor L. H. Eckel, who has served for many years under Jerome, and will include M. Louise Jerome, daughter of the present auditor; Mrs. Laura Bettis, Marian Smith and Gertrude Hellis.

Miss Helen Craemer, county statistician, will work in Lambert's office so that she can have access to the documents from which she compiles her annual report.

Lambert said he was determined to provide a business-like administration of the office and to that end desired to retain seasoned workers who were acquainted with the detail and routine of the place. He said he was very much determined that every employee should "hit the ball." As for Lambert himself, he intends to be on the job early and late to render the best possible personal service in the office along with his staff, he said.

Appointments of Sheriff-elect Logan Jackson are expected to be made within a few days. There have been a wide variety of reports concerning the list, but Jackson said no list would be authentic except that which he will reveal himself.

"RIDE" SUSPECTS HELD

E. W. Paine and B. F. Johnson, Accused of Forcing Bernie Isensee to Jump Into Ocean, Jailed

VENTURA, Dec. 23.—E. W. Paine and B. F. Johnson, accused of taking Bernie Isensee for a "ride" Saturday night, forcing him to plunge off the end of the pier at Pierpont Bay and then leaving him alone to swim to the beach, were held at the County Jail today in lieu of $2000 cash bail each, following their arraignment in justice court yesterday.

Both men pleaded guilty to the charge of battery, after Isensee had sworn out complaints against them from his bed at the County Hospital. Isensee, local photographer and formerly on the State motor patrol here, is resting comfortably today at the hospital, but will not leave there for several days. He is suffering from nervous shock and painful bruises as a result of his long, cold swim and longer wait on the beach afterward. The two assailants, he said, took his clothes and he was forced to wait for an hour and a half before help arrived.

Paine and Johnson are to be given their preliminary examinations in justice court tomorrow morning before Judge Malvern Dimmick.

LAST RITES CONDUCTED FOR PAIR

Double Funeral Service in Alhambra for Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Fulton

ALHAMBRA, Dec. 23.—A double funeral service was held at the F. A. Utter and Son funeral chapel this afternoon for Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Fulton of Monterey Park, victims of an automobile accident near Bakersfield last Friday.

In a chapel crowded to the doors and banked with flowers, Rev. Edward D. Gaylord of Los Angeles officiated, assisted by Rev. Norman K. Tully of Alhambra and Rev. Oliver D. Butterfield of Monterey Park. Following the service the bodies were cremated.

Mr. Fulton was principal of the Jefferson High School in Los Angeles and former Mayor of Monterey Park, where he had lived for nearly twenty years. Mrs. Fulton was active in social and club affairs and was a former president of the Ramona Woman's Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Fulton received fatal injuries while on their way by motor to spend Christmas with their daughters in San Jose.

Seibel Plans Factory for Making Springs

ONTARIO, Dec. 23.—By February 15, or March 1, the Seibel Air Springs Manufacturing Company, Ltd., expects to have a factory completely established here and on production basis, H. Seibel, president, announced today.

Seibel announced, in selecting this city as the place to open his factory, that the company has had its product manufactured on a contract basis heretofore, but that it will be manufactured exclusively here within a short time, in the company's own plant.

The Seibel company has secured the old Ironall factory building in South Sultana avenue, and will expand the building to meet the needs of the company, Seibel said.

"We do not propose a great, industrial concern for Ontario overnight," Seibel said, "but we do plan to grow as rapidly as our sales justify."

According to Seibel, his product is a pneumatic cushion, adapted to more than 15,000 uses. It is a spring device for tractor seats, office chairs and motor trucks, increasing efficiency in the case of motors by utilizing power otherwise lost through vibration, Seibel said.

Steel work, rubber moulding, and all processes in the manufacture of the product, will be done at the local plant, according to Seibel.

Other officers of the company are E. M. Massey, vice-president, San Francisco; Dr. E. O. Mattison, treasurer, Pasadena, and Dr. S. J. Mattison, and Thomas Vickers, directors, San Francisco.

Burbank Plant Full on Orders

BURBANK, Dec. 23.—There is no complaint against the so-called business depression by the Empire China plant, one of the most active of the Burbank industries. V. L. Boeck, manager, today stated he had enough orders on his books to keep the plant going full blast during 1931.

One order, alone, to be delivered next month, amounts to $250,000, and will require forty-five cars to ship. The concern manufactures fine chinaware which it ships to all parts of the country. Nearly 150 persons are on the pay roll which represents a disbursement locally of $12,000 to $15,000 a month in wages.

Tom Gotham, an expert modeler, has recently arrived from the East to take charge of one of the plant's departments. "There is no reason," he said today, "why Southern California should not have the lagest of industrial plants everywhere. The very best of labor is always obtainable and working conditions in this section of the country are better than in any part of the United States."

Doctor's Pile of Sand Wrecked; He Gets Even

SANTA ANA, Dec. 23.—Grant Langseth, well flavored with what he said was vanilla extract, just couldn't seem to avoid Dr. Harry Huffman last night although it appeared for a while that Dr. Huffman had missed him.

Police sent an ambulance to a South Main-street address when they received a telephone call about a "bad wreck." Upon arriving at the scene of the crash, Sergt. C. W. Wolford found a light-model car embedded in a sand pile with Langseth near by. Wolford bundled Langseth into the ambulance and a fast trip was made to the County Hospital.

When Wolford attempted to lead the supposedly injured man into the hospital he was surprised, to say the least, to see him sprinting down the boulevard. Wolford gave chase for 100 yards and got his man. Returning him to the City Jail, he asked that a doctor be called.

A call was put into the hospital for a doctor but there was none present. Dr. Huffman was finally located. When he arrived he found that Langseth was the man who had wrecked the sand pile in front of his new office building. He had gone to the Santa Ana Valley Hospital to find out who the miscreant was.

Dr. Huffman made short and scientific work of certifying that Langseth had been drunk. He will probably appear against him when Langseth, who is 24 years of age, and lives in this city, appears in court. In the meantime Dr. Huffman will have repairs made to his sand pile.

"Apple a Day Keeps Dentist Away," He Says

YUCAIPA, Dec. 23.—Yucaipa apple growers are making plans to cash in on the statement made by Dr. John T. Hanks, who spoke at the sixtieth annual better dentistry meeting held at the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York. For he said, "Use apples, they are just as good or better than a toothbrush." Dr. Hanks says that the apples not only cleanse the teeth, but they have an acid content which leaves the mouth clean and free of the things that tend to break down teeth.

So the apple growers are preparing to advertise just as the orange growers have done. The orange growers discovered there was no fruit which would successfully combat acidosis, the greatest disease of mankind, as a citrus fruit, especially oranges. They began to advertise and in that way have prevailed on the public to eat two or three oranges a day, instead of using one orange now and then. Many people have found their health greatly improved by drinking two or three glasses of orange juice each day.

Now the apple growers are planning to push the sale of apples for keeping the mouth clean and preventing expensive visits to the dentist.

TWO SUSPECTS HELD IN CAR-THEFT CASE

SANTA ANA, Dec. 23.—Asserted to have been in possession of an automobile reported stolen in El Centro, Russell Weaver, 22-year-old laborer, and M. W. Lanthorn, 24, mechanic, both of El Centro, are being held in the County Jail following their arrest by Detective-Sergeants E. E. Perry and Carl Adams of the Santa Ana police force. Imperial Valley officers will take the two men back late today, police said.

INVOLUNTARY JUMP ASSURED

E. R. Trusty Invents Parachute Which He Asserts Will Permit Pilot to "Bail Out" Passengers

FULLERTON, Dec. 23.—Declaring that he has developed a type of parachute arrangement for use in passenger airplanes which would be regulated by the pilot of the ship, E. R. Trusty of Los Angeles appeared before proprietors of the Fullerton Airport yesterday and explained that he is seeking a field in which to make a demonstration of his invention.

The parachute equipment which Trusty has perfected permits the pilot of a ship to unload his passengers via the parachute route even against their will, at any time he considers necessary, by use of a simple lever in the cockpit. The advantage of the new invention, according to Trusty, is in the case of passengers who would refuse to use a parachute under any conditions even when their lives were in danger.

Although no definite announcement was made as to whether or not the local airport would be available to Trusty for his demonstration, he plans to install his equipment in a Curtis-Wright airplane and will be prepared for the demonstration in about six weeks.

Trusty has made numerous inventions and is well known for his contributions in the field of aviation.

FUGITIVE SOUGHT BY AUTHORITIES

Both Sides of Boundary Combed for Loreto Arce, Accused in Fatal Shooting

CALEXICO, Dec. 23.—Both sides of the international boundary line here are being combed today by police officers of two nations in search for Loreto Arce, former delegado in the Black Butte district, who is wanted in connection with the fatal shooting of Emilio Leon, former mounted policeman in Lower California.

The killing took place at 7:30 o'clock last night in a Mexicali restaurant. Witnesses told the police that Arce entered the cafe and without any warning pulled his revolver and shot Leon dead. Police Chief Garcia in Mexicali reported to American officers that the slayer was seen to cross the international line into the United States after the murder.

According to friends of the two men, the attack was the result of personal ill feeling which has existed for several years.

Arce is described as being 23 years of age, 5ft. 8in. tall, and wearing low-trimmed burnsides.

Action Delayed on Underpass by City Council

SANTA ANA, Dec. 23.—Faced with a roomful of taxpayers who desired to protest the construction of an underpass to permit travel beneath the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railroad tracks on East Fouth street, a project estimated to cost in the neighborhood of $150,000, the City Council postponed action until January 5, next, when a report from City Engineer Clyde Jenken is expected regarding the petition signed by 148 persons, protesting the project, presented to the Council last night.

Two attorneys were present and spoke for the protesting taxpayers and one attorney spoke in behalf of the petition.

Reviewing the circumstances under which the matter had come before the Council, Attorney L. A. West said that when the project was inaugurated that there had been no protests, but that now a great shout was going up against it, largely because of the taxation involved. He said the hearing on the proposal had consumed three days in court and that it was not until nine months later that a protest had been made.

Col. S. H. Finley, who circulated the original petition, which resulted in the Council inaugurating proceedings looking to the construction of the underpass, denied the assertion of Attorney Harry Westover, representing the protestants, that he had ever said that the railroads would pay half the expense of the work. Westover said that many of the persons who signed the first petition had done so under the impression that the transportation companies would pay half.

Attorney Fred Forgy, representing other taxpayers who protested, said that they were not now concerned with what the work would cost, the necessity for it or any other projects, except that because of the economic depression that the work should not be ordered now and the additional tax burden put on the property owners. He denied that the underpass was necessary and offered the view that the recent improvement of First street had answered the problem for arterial traffic.

Highway Bids to Be Opened

BRAWLEY, Dec. 23.—Bids are to be opened on January 7 for the construction of twenty-five miles of the new Kane Springs-Julian Highway, which will provide Imperial Valley residents with direct access to the Laguna mountain acres, according to the statement of Supervisor Henry L. Jackson.

The road is to be constructed by a joint county road district recently formed in Imperial and San Diego counties. The bids now being prepared include only the Imperial county section of the project and provide for the grading and levelling of the road through Borego Valley and up the east slope of the coast range.

SHAKESPEARE GUILD PLAYS AT ONTARIO

ONTARIO, Dec. 22.—Dr. Merton E. Hill, principal of Chaffey Union High School and Junior College, announced today that the school has arranged for appearance in Chaffey auditorium of the Shakespeare Guild of twenty-three players. The Shakespearean players will be at Chaffey auditorium January 23 and 24, in presentation of three of Shakespeare's plays, "Romeo and Juliet," "Merchant of Venice" and "Hamlet," the latter in modern costume for one performance, and for the second performance in the garb of Hamlet's time.

FIRE INSURANCE RATE AT UPLAND AWAITED

UPLAND, Dec. 23.—Within a few days the fire insurance rate for this city is expected to be announced by C. R. Small and John Colton, representatives of the Pacific Coast Board of Fire Underwriters, who have concluded their survey of the fire department. Their findings will not be made public until the data gathered here are compiled in the Los Angeles offices of the board. The fire-insurance rate for Ontario is expected to be announced at the same time. The survey was completed there before it was undertaken here.

GRAND JURY IMPANELED

Superior Judge Freeman Instructs New Riverside Body of Inquisitors in Their Duties

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 23.—The Riverside county grand jury for 1930 was impaneled today before Superior Judge G. R. Freeman with instructions to investigate offices of the county and file recommendations to Riverside legislators for the coming session of the California Legislature. The jurist suggested that because of the limited time in which the jury may file its recommendations, the recent report of the 1929 grand jury be considered. A skeleton bill, incorporating the jury's recommendations, if any, for changes in government, Judge Freeman said, could be filed early in January and later completed at following sessions of the Legislature.

The new grand jury, chosen by lot from a list of thirty Riverside county residents, will be headed by Charles D. Hamilton of Banning, appointed foreman by Judge Freeman. The jurors elected as their secretary Mrs. Grace B. Talbot of Perris. Hamilton is a well-known Riverside county resident, having been chairman of the Board of Supervisors for two terms, 1914 to 1922. He was also Clerk of San Bernardino county many years ago before Riverside county was formed. Hamilton is now engaged in almond growing in the Banning district.

Mrs. Talbot is a prominent Riverside county club woman, active in county women's club organizations as well as in Perris social circles.

The jury includes: Riverside, Will H. Marsh, John F. Backstrand, Mrs. Louise Warren, Charles A. Ohlhausen, Edward W. Dent, Mrs. Harriet Funk and Mrs. Elizabeth Drayton; Elsinore, Stephen H. Coogan, Adam G. Keck and James B. Lehigh; Perris, Rufus M. Hook, Mrs. Grace B. Talbot and Mabel Mosgrove; Corona, Mrs. F. Mabelle Fraser; Romoland, W. T. Boardman; Temecula, Alexander J. Escallier; Palm Springs, Zaddie R. Bunker; Banning, Charles D. Hamilton; West Riverside, Hans Jorgenson.

WHEAT MAN SAYS CRISIS NEARING END

Thomas D. Campbell, Back From Conference With Hoover, Voices Optimism

PASADENA, Dec. 23.—"With stocks and commodities at sufficiently low prices, large-scale buying may be expected to be resumed at any time on a general scale," asserted Thomas D. Campbell, leading American wheat grower, who returnd to his home here today following a conference in Washington with President Hoover.

"My survey of conditions in the East," he continued, "has convinced me that the worst of the business crisis is behind. The fact is that despite the unfortunate hardships many have been forced to bear, the depression, taking everything into consideration, appears to have been a good thing for the country in many respects.

"The stock crash appeared necessary to prove that hard work, instead of wild speculation, is the only foundation of substantial success in life. I am confident that we shall emerge from the trying days a wiser and stronger nation, better prepared to cope with the fierce industrial competition with foreign nations which lies around the corner."

President Hoover, according to Campbell, unquestionably understands the present problems and has neglected no opportunity for obtaining facts and figures and organizing the nation's resources to solve the economic problems of the present era.

"The depression has been world-wide," the agricultural expert declared, "but the United States has experienced trying times before and will overcome present problems before long."

Praising President Hoover's request for a reduction of the farm relief appropriation from $60,000,000 to $30,000,000, Campbell voiced the belief that the smaller amount would provide all the seed the farmers require and that the balance of $30,000,000 might well be applied to the relief of unemployment.

Due to requirements for feeding cattle during the winter and conditions following the drought, the grain expert is certain that there will be no abnormal surplus of wheat by next spring.

"It must be borne in mind," he said, "that the wheat carryover should not be less than 150,000,000 bushels, or a three months' supply. As approximately 165,000,000 bushels will be used as feed, the estimated surplus of 350,000,000 bushels, consisting of carryover and surplus, should not cause any worry."

Within less than five years, it is Campbell's conviction that manufacturers will have more cause to worry about surplus than farmers, due to the adoption of American mass production methods in Europe.

"It will not be long," he concluded, "before our farms are on a home-production basis and this will be followed by tariff protection for American agriculture."

Montebello Has Christmas Tree

MONTEBELLO, Dec. 23.—More than 2000 youngsters shouted and laughed when Santa Claus appeared at the Montebello Municipal Park last evening as special guest to the municipal outdoor Christmas party which was being staged by the City Council and the Chamber of Commerce, and presented each child with a box of candy.

The party centered around the huge Christmas tree which was brilliantly lighted. The Montebello Boys' Band under the direction of John H. Hopkins furnished several Christmas selections. Christmas carols were sung by a choir of some fifty voices under the direction of J. C. Moore.

Mayor William H. Cook welcomed the children and grown-ups to the party and acted as master of ceremonies during the evening. The officers and directors of the chamber, as well as the four Councilmen, assisted as members of the committee.

WEBSTER HAD LITTLE USE FOR CALIFORNIA

ONTARIO, Dec. 22.—Daniel Webster didn't think much of that part of the United States called California, according to William Plasman, president-elect of Ontario-Upland Realty Board. One of Webster's famous speeches was brought to the attention of the realty board members by Plasman. This particular speech was made in 1844, in which Webster opposed acquisition by the Union of the State called California. Webster, according to Plasman, could see no reason "Why anyone would want such a vast, worthless area, a region of cactus, savages and wild beasts." He reminded his fellow-members of Congress that the rockbound coast of California had no harbor, and that the territory was full of dust and sand. He vigorously opposed "spending one cent to acquire California."

Elks Santas to Do Their Part

HUNTINGTON PARK, Dec. 23.—Carrying out their annual plans by volunteering their services as the Elks' Santa Clauses of the local lodge, several members of the order will begin loading trucks with baskets of food and bundles of toys and clothing, and will shortly afterward begin their journey throughout the district comprising South Gate, Walnut Park, Bell, Maywood, Watts and this city.

At the homes of approximately 200 needy families in the district baskets and toys and clothing will be left, so that they may share in the Christmas joy which will prevail on Christmas Day.

A. S. Flynn, chairman of the committee on Christmas charity work, announced today that the amount of food purchased weighs several tons. Among these purchases are 1000 pounds of potatoes, 800 pounds of flour, 500 pounds of sugar, 500 pounds of candy, dozens of bunches of celery, boxes of bread, butter, rice, fruit, nuts, 400 pounds of dates and other food. There will also be a ham placed in each of the baskets.

New clothing and new toys have also been purchased for the people who will be visited by the Elks' Santa Clauses.

Weather Makes Autos Ignite

UPLAND, Dec. 23.—Within the past few days fires have broken out in three automobiles in the district, and the cause for the outbreaks is laid to the wind.

According to weather experts, electrical weather has been induced to such a degree by winds from the desert, that the air has become filled with static.

Automobiles coming into contact with metal, caused sparks to fly, and three cars were thus set ablaze.

Such a fire broke out under the hood of A. C. French's car on Depot street, Ontario. In trying to conquer the flames French was burned about the hands.

The other two fires were put out by extinguishers.

MOORPARK THRONG AT CHRISTMAS TREE

MOORPARK, Dec. 23.—Santa Claus and three assistants presided at the Community Christmas tree celebration that took place here tonight in the small park known as the Southern Pacific reservation. Hundreds of children from Moorpark and other towns in Simi Valley were present. The celebration was under the auspices of the Lions' Club, Chamber of Commerce, Knights of Pythias, Simi Community Church, Moorpark Community Church and school officials. The program began at 7 p.m. After the giving of gifts by the Santa Clauses the large crowd present sang Christmas carols. The tree will remain lighted at night during the holidays.

NEW MARKS SET IN MAIL CANCELED

All Records Broken at Fresno Postoffice in Holiday Volume

FRESNO, Dec. 23. (AP)—Mail poured into the Fresno postoffice yesterday in a steady stream and all records for the cancellation of outgoing mail were broken in the twenty-four hours ending at 7 a.m. today. During that period 215,000 pieces of mail were canceled, or 50 per cent more than on the heaviest day last year.

ALL RECORDS BROKEN AT SAN DIEGO POSTOFFICE

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 23. (AP)—All records for the number of pieces to pass through the San Diego postoffice cancelling machines in one day were shattered yesterday when 356,600 pieces were handled, it was announced today by Postmaster E. W. Dort.

Up to midnight last night, Dort said, a total of 2,682,300 pieces had gone through the machines since the 1st inst. or 9900 more pieces than were handled during the corresponding period last year, which was the record year for the San Diego postoffice.

These figures are for first-class mail only, no totals on the amount of parcel-post mail having yet been compiled.

Because of the record amount of outgoing and incoming parcel-post mail, fifty additional postoffice employees are to be put to work tonight.

Advertising to Market Citrus Crop Outlined

REDLANDS, Dec. 23.—Mark Anderson, manager of the Redlands-Highland Fruit Exchange, which ships through the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, has just received word of the great advertising campaign which will be carried on by the exchange to sell the large crop of California oranges now ready to be shipped. Don Francisco will be in charge of all the advertising in the West, while M. Robertson, of the Lord & Thomas and Logan agency, will have chage of the eastern advertising.

The Sunkist will be advertised through eleven national women's magazines with a combined circulation of 18,900,000, using color display and child appeal.

The discovery of vitamin C to such an extent in citrus fruits makes them of the greatest value to children and every effort will be made to increase consumption for this purpose and also to combat acidosis.

The advertising department has been told that it is a big job to sell the large crop this year in the face of a large crop in Florida, and that they must increase consumption from all sources if it is to be done.

Dr. Munro Off for Cleveland

PASADENA, Dec. 23.—Dr. William B. Munro, member of the executive council of the California Institute of Technology, left here tonight for Cleveland, where he will preside as president at the annual meeting of the American Association of University Professors. The association numbers thousands of members and is the largest organization of its kind in the world.

In the course of his journey, Dr. Munro, who formerly was professor of history and government at Harvard University, will confer with the publishers of several textbooks he recently revised.

ZONE-VIOLATION CASE DATE FOR TRIAL SET

ARCADIA, Dec. 22.—Arrested several weeks ago on a charge of operating a "T. B. Home" in a strictly residential district, V. J. Bartold of North Santa Anita Drive will be tried in local justice court on the 29th inst., it was revealed today.

Judge Elliot W. Gibbs of Pasadena will preside, as Judge Horlock of Arcadia disqualified himself after hearing the case, due to criticisms of his previous action in a similar case against Bartold.

Bartold has retained Attorney Shawl of Los Angeles to defend him at the trial.

When Bartold recently appeared before Judge Horlock on a similar charge, the judge, under existing conditions, gave him sixty days in which to close up the place. Later, however, E. C. Barney appeared and filed another complaint, which is the charge now pending trial.

SITUATION HELD DESPERATE

J. Wyn Wilson, Indio Publisher, in Plea to County Supervisors for Aid in Feeding Transients

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 23.—"For the twenty-one years that I've lived in the valley, I've never felt afraid of the transients. All one had to do to get rid of them was to tell them to go to work. But now, frankly, I'm frightened. The situation is desperate. We've got to have help."

With that plea from J. Wyn Wilson, Indio publisher, ringing in their ears, the Board of Supervisors today voted emergency aid for a program by which citizens of Indio are feeding, from public subscriptions, nearly 250 unemployed transient persons daily.

The Supervisors referred a delegation of the Coachella Valley residents to Mrs. J. H. Dodge of the county welfare bureau, and authorized her to expend $50 a month for groceries.

Wilson told the board that the situation became so tense that forty townspeople decided to pay $5 a month each for four months into a common treasury and allow the Salvation Army to administer the money in providing for the veritable army that passes through the town, gateway for Southern California and "bottle-neck" point for travel to and from the State.

"Riverside and the other cities of the county can't realize the problem we had on our hands. These men—some of them have wives and children—reached Indio, the 'jumping-off' place from distant points. They were hungry, and if they couldn't get food any place else, they got it in the best way they could," Wilson declared.

ROCKNE URGED TO SLOW DOWN

Physician Warns Knute to Limit Activities

Complete Breakdown Feared by Dr. Barborka

Famous Coach Can Continue as Irish Mentor

ROCHESTER (Minn.) Dec. 23. (AP)—His physician's warning to limit his strenuous activities or face the possibility of a complete breakdown confronted Knute Rockne, famous football coach of Notre Dame, tonight.

KNUTE ROCKNE

Dr. C. J. Barborka of the Mayo Clinic, gave his verdict after an exhaustive examination of the coach who came here last week for a physical inventory, fearing a return of phlebitis of the leg, an ailment that once before sent him to bed.

Rockne, the physician said, shows no immediate signs of further trouble in the leg, but is suffering from fatigue which closely approaches the line of exhaustion, and must limit his activities or face grave consequences.

Immediately after the outcome of the physician's examination was announced, the Notre Dame coach returned to his room at a hotel here and denied himself to all inquirers.

Dr. Barborka explained his findings do not mean Rockne must cease coaching, but he must place a curb on his other activities, including speech-making, writing for magazines and other tasks, which, coupled with the strenuous gridiron season just ended, have sapped his strength.

The physician also disapproved

"If we have time to get this system in shape," he declared yesterday, "there's no doubt about the game. I've got experience, real ability, weight and speed here. It's a question of directing it; a race against time."

The great, and probably the only advantage that the All-Notre Dame team enjoys over Phelan's men is in the familiarity with Rockne's system. Every man on the Irish squad has been through years of Knute's plays, knows what to do and when to do it.

SAVOLDI ARRIVES BY PLANE

Former Notre Dame Star Here to Play in Irish Backfield Once More

Joe Savoldi, Notre Dame's line-grinding fullback, the tangled loves of whom provided the highlight of the 1930 football season, set foot on California sand and soil for the first time last night.

FRANK CARIDEO

Savoldi came by air, aboard a Western Air Express plane, to take his place in the Notre Dame backfield, when the Irish line up against the West-South All-Stars at the Coliseum on Saturday.

Attired, among other things, in one of those black steel cadies so dear to the hearts of Boston ward-heelers, Savoldi was smiling and in

HOLLYWOOD CAGERS TRIM OCCIDENTAL FIVE, 64-37

Occidental blew up in the second half of its basketball game with the Hollywood Athletic Club five last night and allowed the Sheiks to run wild and roll up a 64-to-37 score on the winners' floor. The first half was played on comparatively even terms, with the club leading, 32 to 26, at the end of the second period.

The Tigers went to pieces in the last half and could score but eleven points, while the clubmen equaled their total of thirty-two made in the first two periods. McCormick led the savage attack of the clubmen, scoring twenty-seven points, nineteen of them coming in the second half.

Oxy's defense, as in past games, proved to be pitifully weak. Its offense clicked well early in the game, but the Tigers were so busy trying to stop the Sheiks' offense in the second half that they had

UTAH AGGIE CAGERS WIN OVER TROJANS, 33 TO 25

BY BOB RAY

Exhibiting altogether too much speed and teamwork for the Trojans to keep up with them, the barnstorming Utah State quintet handed Sam Barry's cagers a 33-to-25 trimming last night in the U.S.C. gym to even up the two-game series. The Trojans won Monday night's game, 25-17.

The Aggies, who had plenty of difficulty hitting the hoop in the opener, were "hot" last night, starting off with six points before the Trojans scored taking the lead never to be headed.

The invading cagers from Logan, Utah, are coached by E. L. Romney and use the man-to-man defense with considerable eclat. They busted up Barry's methodical offense and broke so quickly when they obtained the ball that it looked as though there were at least six blue-clad

Barrel-Chested Backs Bode Ill for Foes; Cougars Work Out at Tournament Park

BY BRAVEN DYER

Buckling down to their duties with a display of enthusiasm which belied their soft southern drawl, Alabama's football squad was cavorting around the field at Occidental College yesterday afternoon only forty-five minutes after completing the long journey from Tuscaloosa.

Wallace Wade and his charges reached Pasadena at 4 o'clock and less than an hour later the players limbered up their stocky legs and did a little passing and kicking at Patterson Field. The workout was something of a surprise, but was staged by Wade to give his men a chance to start immediate recovery from their confining train ride.

C. HAL REYNOLDS

Earlier in the afternoon Washington State's squad had gone through its second workout since arriving in Los Angeles. The Cougars drilled at Tournament Park before a large crowd but did nothing strenuous, Babe Hollingbery having decided to let his players take things comparatively easy for the first two or three days.

BABE GREETS WADE

Hollingbery finished his duties with the team in time to dash down to the train in Pasadena and personally greet Wade and his boys. Babe, who is one of the most popular mentors on the Coast, stuck his head into each of the big busses and shouted a word of welcome to the players as they were leaving for Oxy, this making an instant hit with the Alabama delegation.

Peace and Good Will Reign Between New York Commission and Heavyweight Battlers

BIG SHOWDOWN FAILS TO BLOW

Mellowing Influence of Christmas Prevails

Board's Attitude Softens Toward Schmeling

Walker Again Ordered to Defend Title

NEW YORK, Dec. 23. (AP)—The big show-down among the heavyweights scheduled for today, has been postponed, either by accident or design, until the mellowing influences of the Christmas season have gotten in their deadly work.

MAX SCHMELING

Peace and good will toward man ruled the offices of the New York State Athletic Commission where the duel of words and wits was scheduled by doughty old William Muldoon, James A. Farley and Gen. John Phelan on one side, and Joseph Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling on the other. But the battle that involves the Teuton's standing as heavyweight champion, and his naive attitude toward a commission ultimatum to sign within fifteen days for a title defense against Jack Sharkey, never took place.

Jacobs will visit the commission as a private citizen Tuesday, when the "Merry Christmases" and best wishes of the season have died away.

There seems to be a general softening of the flinty attitude of the commission toward Schmeling, and Schmeling toward the commission. The fistic fathers have decreed der Maxie must fulfill next June the promise he made the day after he won the commission's recognition as heavyweight titleholder on a foul last spring in the Yankee Stadium—a promise of a return match with Sharkey.

The commission has ruled Sharkey does not need to qualify for the match by winning his way through an elimination tournament involving the sensational southerner, young Stribling, and the gawky Gaucho from the Argentine, Vittorio Campolo, although promoters insist that without this "build up," a match between Sharkey and Schmeling would be a total financial loss. The Chicago Stadium has further complicated matters by offering Schmeling $500,000 for a title go with Young Stribling in June.

It seems likely compromises on both sides will bring the title duel to New York, however. Jacobs, under suspension by the commission as a result of the sidetracking of Arthur Buelow, Schmeling's original manager, will tell fistic fathers his gladiator is willing to fight the outstanding contender in June, be he Sharkey, Stribling or Campolo. The commission probably will accept this statement, restore Jacobs to good standing and permit Sharkey to engage in the fight.

Ultimatums delivered to two other champions Friday brought one response that was expected and one deep silence that was also anticipated. Al Brown, bantamweight title-holder, replied to the commission demand he sign for a title fight within fifteen days with the response that only an offer from a promoter was necessary to swing him into action. Pete Stansel of Norway was accepted as his challenger.

The commission explained with a blush it had been slightly misinformed regarding Brown's last previous title defense and the six-month period of grace allowed a title-holder had not expired in the case of the Panama Negro. Brown defended his crown in a fifteen-round match with Eugen Huat in Paris October 5, last.

Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, who also was ordered to fight at the weight or lose recognition here as the title-holder, failed to answer the ultimatum. He has been in the bad graces of the local board almost two years.

Maxie Rosenbloom, light-heavyweight champion, who has been having trouble finding work, will get a chance to defend his title against Jimmy Slattery in Buffalo during January or February.

Movie Stars Aid Benefit

Besides making it the greatest amateur boxing carnival ever held in Pasadena the affair at Morrie Cohan's Pasadena arena next Friday night for the relief of unemployed is developing into a motion-picture star exhibition. James Hall, star of "Hell's Angels," Evelyn Knapp, a Warner star, Max Asher, movie comedian, Barbara Weeks, Myrna Kennedy and others will be there.

Today the promoter, who is giving all his time to making the benefit boxing tournament a success, signed up Jacques Grenier, lightweight champion of the University of New Hampshire and former captain of the boxing team at the university, to meet Merwyn Barkley, Pasadena Athletic Club.

Other bouts are Delbert Smith vs. Gerald Shaw, the former runner-up in the 160-pound championship and the latter San Diego Naval Training Station champion; Herb Homoloc vs. Aer De Soto, junior college welterweight champion against P.A.C. champion contender; Pinky Simson vs. Russ Grant; Charlie Goodie vs. Ben Hernandez; William Humphrey vs. Don Meehan; Homer De Vorre vs. Frank Johnson.

BLUES GET SPRINGFIELD

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 23 (AP)—John Savage, business manager of the Kansas City American Association baseball club, said today the Blues had acquired the Springfield (Ill.) club of the Three-Eye League.

FULLY BACK WITH THE IRISH

Joe Savoldi, herculean Notre Dame fullback, rejoined his teammates last night, arriving by Western Air Express from Kansas City. Savoldi will play in his old position in the Irish backfield when his mates line up against the West-South All-Stars at the Coliseum on Saturday. He left the team two months ago following a bit of an argument with the wife, but he gave all his troubles the air and came west. [Carrol photo] good spirits. He looked to be in perfect condition.

"Knute Rockne told me on Sunday that he hoped to be here for the game, but he's not in good health and shouldn't make the trip," Savoldi said.

"You haven't forgotten the Notre Dame plays, have you," somebody queried.

"Forgot 'em? I never knew most of 'em," Joe niftied. "Carideo used to tell me to follow him until I got in the clear. After that I had to use my own judgment. I suppose it will be the same on Saturday.

"Professional football is a lot cleaner than the college game. It isn't as much fun, but, technically, it's a better game. Every man does his job for sixty minutes and that doesn't include any of the tricks the college boys use.

"I'm going to play another season with the Bears in Chicago. After that I'm going to study law at De Paul or Northwestern. Law is a good thing for a guy like me to know."

"Where," said Savoldi, hunching his coonskin around his ears, "is all this California sunshine I've been hearing about? Yeah, I know it's 9:30, but look at what they have in Norway."

SAVOLDI LAUDS "PRO" FOOTBALL

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 23. (AP)—"Jumping" Joe Savoldi, who was banished from the Notre Dame football team when his secret marriage was revealed, thinks professional football is cleaner than the game played by college teams.

He said so here today, en route by plane to Los Angeles where he will rejoin Carideo, Schwartz and Brill on a team to play in a charity game Saturday.

"Professional football not only is smarter, it is cleaner," Savoldi said. "Anytime you are carrying that ball in a college game there are going to be two or three fists stuck in your face. There's none of that in the professional game. They tackle you hard but clean.

"In college football," Savoldi said, "if you are tackled out of bounds and rammed against the bench, that is considered great; but the professionals don't tackle you when you are out of bounds. About all they do is give you a shoulder to put you out of bounds. They don't tackle you.

"I had one little scrap," he recounted, "but as soon as they find out you can take it and give it they leave you alone. In my first game we had a play in which "Red" Grange carried the ball and I was supposed to take out the end for him.

"Well, I got this end and held his leg, which is all right if you can get away with it. But it made him angry. He said, 'Listen, buddy, if you do that again, I'm going to smack you.'

"I went back and asked our quarterback to call the same play again and sure enough this end kept his word. He smacked me. I didn't mind it until I felt the blood flow from my mouth. Then I went to this end and knocked him down. The referee stuck us for unnecessary roughness."

FIREMAN AND NODAKS READY

in three years. The only game they dropped this season was to Maj. Sasse's strong army eleven. In that contest the Nodaks rolled up 218 yards from scrimmage and they made nine first downs. Glen "Red" Jarrett scored on the Cadets with a spectacular run started from a lateral pass play. The scrimmage total represents as much as the combined Yale, Harvard, Boston University, Furman and Swarthmore teams made against the powerful Cadet line this year.

The Nodaks proved a spectacular outfit in their games this season in their own conference and in other sections of the country. The open-field running of Jarrett and the line plunging of John Burma have brought praise from critics the nation over.

Besides Jarrett and Burma, Coach West has a number of other threats in his backfield. Curt, Schave, Lloyd Richmond and Duchene are all crack ball players, according to the dope from the North Dakota sector.

Bill Blewett will start Jimmy Dyer in place of Don Moses at fullback. Dyer is a great passer and evidently Blewett wants to meet North Dakota at their own game, which is passing.

The Nodaks employ the Pop Warner style of attack, using their own collection of passes, both forward and lateral, constantly.

Both teams will send heavy lines into the fray. They average around 190 pounds from end to end. Royce Wheeler, "Red" Haseneaur, Tex Zumwalt and Lawrence Casey are the bulwarks of the Smoke-Eaters' forward wall.

Between halves the fire department will put on a special show for the fans. There also will be a special game between two kid teams, as well as other events.

"BOXING CZAR" MAY BE PICKED

men connected with boxing have been mentioned for the position. They are George Blake of Los Angeles and Lieut. Jack Kennedy, U.S.N., prominent referee, of San Diego.

Other recommendations expected to be made include, more rigid investigation of the capabilities and qualities of managers and boxers seeking licenses; a house cleaning in the ranks of those already connected with the game, and definite steps to weed out and keep out permanently, gamblers and others suspected of being implicated in "fight fixing."

The commission, headed by Allen Bixby of Pasadena, chairman of the Department of Military and Veterans' Affairs, completed an investigation of several weeks, during which time promoters, newspaper men and others interested in boxing in all parts of the State, were questioned. The report will be in the hands of the Governor by Friday and its contents will be given out in Sacramento.

RABBIT PUNCHES

ALL-AMERICAN HEIN

MEL HEIN is the most valuable football player in America.

If you don't believe it ask Coach Babe Hollingbery of Washington State.

Babe says if he had his pick of all the all-Americans named this year he would choose Hein.

And Hollingberry doesn't except Frank Carideo, Notre Dame quarterback, whose brainy direction of the Notre Dame teams the past two years has been almost uncanny in its perfection.

Hollingbery even goes further and takes the wind out of the public notion that a smart quarterback is the most important cog in a football machine.

According to the Washington State coach the center is the real corner-stone.

"Give me a good center, and give me Mel Hein first for my team," says Babe.

"I see they gave Ticknor the highest rating for his passing on Grantland Rice's all-American team. Well, Hein hasn't made a single bad pass for me in the three years he has been playing for Washington State."

BUTLER PRO AND CON

THE reaction to Nicholas Murray Butler's proposal to abolish football receipts and let the alumni pay the freight was obvious.

All the educators lined up and said Mr. Butler's idea was a good one.

All the coaches and graduate managers who profit by big football gates said it was the bunk.

The segregation of the two groups is a natural one.

The educators dislike the present scheme of things whereby football coaches receive as much or more than college presidents.

The presidents are on the job nine months of the year; the coaches three.

On the other hand you can expect opposition to Butler's idea from the coaches until the cows come home.

Winning teams bring big gates, and big gates beget fatter salaries for the coaches.

The arguments pro and con for both sides are as long as an assessment list.

THE ROCKNE CASE

MUCH to the disappointment of all concerned Knute K. Rockne probably won't be here Saturday to direct his Notre Dame All-Stars against the Coast All-Stars.

But he will be ably represented by Assistant Coach Hunk Anderson and some of the greatest Notre Dame stars of this year's team and other years.

Which includes Mr. Joe Savoldi, the greatest power back of the year who flew in yesterday.

When Rockne left here after the Southern California game he was far from being a well man. He had been through a tough season, and the season had taken its toll.

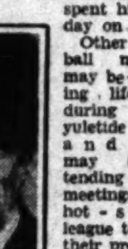
It is therefore not surprising that doctors at Mayo Brothers should advise him to discontinue all outside activities including speechmaking and story writing, if he wishes to avoid a general breakdown.

It is much more to the point to do one thing well, such as coaching champion football teams, for example, than to conquer the world and lose one's health.

CONNIE SPENDS BIRTHDAY ON JOB

Other Baseball Managers May Be Taking Life Easy During the Yule Season, But Manager of World's Champions is Busy Planning for Future Pennant Races

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 23 (AP)—Connie Mack, entering the sixty-ninth year of his colorful career, spent his birthday on the job.



CONNIE MACK

Other baseball managers may be off taking life easy during the yuletide season and players may be attending the meetings of the hot-stove league telling of their prowess in bygone days, but Connie Mack is busy with the future.

Mack was discovered today all alone in his town office autographing baseballs—Christmas presents to crippled children.

On his desk was a pile of balls and scattered about were piles of telegrams and letters, all wishing him well. Frequently there was a ring of the telephone bell, and then: "Oh, fine, thank you very much—Merry Christmas to you."

The manager of the A's said he felt fine and did not realize he was 68. "I don't feel that old," he said. "I get tired earlier than I used to, but that is all."

As to the prospects for next season, the manager of the world champions said he was hopeful. No one ever catches Mack predicting what his team will do.

Mack spiked a rumor the Athletics were about to trade George (Mule) Haas and Jimmy Moore, outfielders, to the St. Louis Browns for Leon (Goose) Goslin, slugging outfielder, and George Blaeholder, a pitcher.

"You'll hear reports of all kinds of trades from now until the middle of June," said Mack, "but they are only rumors.

"We'd like to have Goslin and Blaeholder, but St. Louis most certainly would not part with them. And as far as Haas and Moore are concerned, I'm satisfied with both boys. They certainly have played well for the Athletics."

Connie will go south about January 15, preceding his players to Florida about a month. He will spend much of his stay in Florida playing golf before the spring practice begins.

Record Sought by Gar Wood

DETROIT, Dec. 23. (AP)—Gar Wood, world's speedboat champion, today announced he would attempt to set a new world's straightaway record over a measured mile in Indian Creek at Miami, Fla., in February.

His goal will be to better the 98.7 miles an hour reached by the late Sir Henry Segrave on the trial last year that cost him his life.

Superchargers are to be placed in the motors of the Miss America IX, with which Wood successfully defended the Harmsworth Trophy last September, and the same craft will be used in the straightaway test.

It was disclosed at the meeting that Lord Wakefield, financial backer of Sir Henry Segrave, is planning to challenge for the Harmsworth Trophy next year. It was said Kaye Don, noted automobile speed driver, probably will pilot Wakefield's craft, the Miss England II.

He makes his first local start in more than a year when he battles Vic Perkins, Glendale heavyweight, in a six-round bout at the Main-street club Saturday night. There are other attractive six-round bouts on the card. Manuel Vasquez, a good punching Mexican, meets Nish Kerkorian, Armenian light-heavyweight. The two fours completing the Saturday-night card are Eddie Lozano vs. Joe Skube, 47 pounds, and Vincent Mertinez vs. Charles Parks, 147 pounds.

UTAH TRIMS GAELS

JIMMY PHELAN BATTLES TIME

map, is individually accustomed to has a dozen different systems. There are, as you doubtless know, numerous interpretations of fundamental plays like an end run or a buck through guard.

In the category of passes, and trick plays, the possibilities of varied styles are unlimited. Phelan, an exponent of the Notre Dame system, which he learned under Rockne, has been forced, by the exigencies of the situation, to modify it. Rock's own plays, worked against a Notre Dame team, wouldn't be as successful as a Trojan offensive.

So Phelan has revamped his offensive. It's all a matter of coordination. This, in turn, is a matter of time.

Phelan is pleased no end over the collection of football talent placed under his command. "It all seems like a dream," he declared. "Five captains, a couple of all-Americans, every man at least experienced if not an outstanding star. When I die I don't want a harp. Just give me a squad like this to coach."

Although he has not definitely decided, Phelan has picked this same line-up for the past two workouts:

Backfield, Welch, Saunders, Apsit and Price.

Ends, Maffett and Caraway.

Tackles, Maree and Pickard.

Guards, Steele and Shaw.

Center, Jonas.

Some 50,000 football fans will get an eyeful of one of the greatest gridders who ever donned a cleat when they see "Pest" Welch, the gigantic all-American fullback from Purdue, in the West-South line-up on Saturday. Welch is a sort of human obelisk. Big-bodied, powerful of shoulder and thigh, he looks like one of those characters out of a Haggard novel on the field. When Welch carries the ball he seems to roll into motion, like a switch engine coasting downhill. Yet he has all the speed and grace of a lightweight boxer once under way. Welch will be a sensation.

Russ Saunders, who is short, but no midget, looks like a terrier playing with a St. Bernard in the same backfield with Welch. Saunders and the "Pest" probably will bear the brunt of the ball carrying against Notre Dame. The ex-Trojan is running as fast and viciously as he did in his heyday at U.S.C.

Notre Dame took two workouts at the Coliseum yesterday. The afternoon session was attended by some 3000 dyed-in-the-wool fans who saw plenty of inside stuff.

Joe Savoldi, the almost mythically great fullback, arrived by air at 8 o'clock last night. He takes his place today in the starting line-up.

An elaborate program, featuring the Elks' Band, will be staged between halves, members of the Elks' committee announced yesterday. Tickets for the game, still selling at a rapid clip, are on the block at B. H. Dyas and at the Elks' Temple, opposite Westlake Park. Unusual demand has caused the latter bureau to remain open until 9 o'clock every night.

TROJANS UPSET BY UTAH STATE

Aggies on the floor most of the time.

The Aggies jumped off to a 15-to-11 lead in the first half and, after allowing the Trojans to creep within 3 points of them at the start of the second period, went on a scoring spree that quickly sewed up the struggle. Sixteen Aggie points swished through the net before the bewildered Trojans could stem the tide and that was the ball game. From 33-14 the S.C. quintet pulled up to the final score, but they never appeared to have a chance against the speedy Farmers.

It looks as though Barry has yet to find a Trojan combination that can click. The main trouble with the Trojans this season is a lack of basketball players, all of which leaves Mr. Barry in a rather helpless situation.

"Watty" Watkins, forward, and Carl Belliston, center, led the Aggie scoring with 9 points apiece. Red Ricks, a sub forward who went in after Capt. Parkinson went out on four fouls, looked good, chalking up 3 field goals. Franks, sub Trojan forward, scored 6 points for the losers and Capt. Web Caldwell was right behind with 5. Cadlwell also went out on fouls and when he left the Trojans looked hopeless.

The Aggies, who are stopping at the Lankershim Hotel, play the L.A.A.C. Friday and the Pacific Coast Club at Long Beach Saturday. They ought to give the unbeaten Mercuries a good battle.

The line-ups:

Utah Aggies (33)		So. California (23)

The strong Los Angeles A.C. basketball team, undefeated to date this season, plays its next game Friday night at the L.A.A.C gymnasium against the invading Aggies from Utah State Agricultural College.

So far the Mercuries have amassed a total of 360 points in eight games as compared with 186 for the combined opposition. Charley Hyatt, brilliant forward, has scored 101 points and leads the individual scorers.

Against the Aggies Friday, Hyatt and Wilcox will start at forwards with Tom Pickell at center and Carl Shy and Jimmy De Mers, guards. Frank Smith, Nip McHose, Rex Reason and John McCandless will all see action and one or all of them may start.

RECORD ENTRY FOR OPEN GOL…

Dutra, Sarazen, Espino… Reign Early Favorites

Three outstanding pros, who are likely to be fighting for top pri… money in the $10,000 Los Angel… open golf championship, have en… tered the sixth annual staging of the Junior Chamber of Commerce big winter money meet, according to Clifford Rawson, secretary-man… ager of the Junior Chamber.

They are Mortie Dutra, Gene Sarazen and Al Espinosa, and all three are figured among the likely winners of the first prize money at the Wilshire Country Club, where the $10,000 open is on the slate for January 9, 10 and 11.

Twenty-five additional entries were announced by Rawson, bringing the total enrollment in the $10,000 open thus far to an even 100. This is by far the largest early entry list in the history of the event. Judging from the way the golfers are filing for the meet, Junior Chamber officials believe the 1931 classic will draw the largest number of qualifiers in history. In the 1928 tourney, which was also held at the Wilshire course, 17… golfers entered the qualifying round. Strange as it may seem, with the 1931 meet promising to break this record number of entries, the event is scheduled for the Wilshire course, proving something or other. Maybe that the golfers like to tour the Wilshire fairways.

*A. K. Barbee, Bel-Air Country Club, Los Angeles; *Philip H. Clapp, Brentwood Country Club, Los Angeles; *William Davidson, Lakeside Golf Club, Hollywood; *Johnnie De Paolo, Bakersfield; Mortie Dutra, Virginia Country Club, Long Beach; Al Espinosa, Chicago, Ill.; *James M. …ler, Lakeside Golf Club, Hollywood; … H. BABE APPROVES OF 'BAMA BOYS bother the boys, even though they started the workout with an extra long session of setting-up exercises.

During signal drill I tested Turk Edwards and Mel Hein in their regular positions at tackle and center, with Frank Wallace and Howard Morgan returning to the second line-up. Both Edwards and Hein showed a lot of energy and neither one seemed greatly bothered by his injuries. Hein is still limping slightly, but I am satisfied that he and Turk will be ready for some hard contact work by Saturday. George Hill and Sam Hansen, my "power" ends, worked on the first team today. They are strong, husky players and may prove especially valuable against Alabama's running attack. However, it will be hard to keep either Lyle Maskell or John Hurley off the starting line-up. Maskell does the goal kicking and Hurley's height is valuable at the receiving end of forward passes. I can't say yet just how the end situation is going to work out.

The squad is settling down pleasingly into the routine of a hard training campaign. They are doing plenty of hard work yet, as the tapering-off process will not start until Monday.

It is difficult to say a great deal about the squad's mental attitude this far ahead of the big game, except to comment that the boys are restless and asking for action. That is a good sign. They are not worried about the stories regarding the strength of the Crimson Tide, but rather are chafing under the "under-dog" rating that has been given them.

PEARMAN ANNEXES MEDAL AT BERMUDA

Pearman's medal-winning score was 79, seven over par. Maj. D. … Marshall of the Nairn Golf Club, Scotland, was runner-up with 84.

The athletic association announced Miles, who was not under contract, would not return next year and that Thrash and Tharpe may or may not be asked to return again. Capt. Robinson, attached to the R.O.T.C. unit at the school, probably will be transferred by the War Department, as his stay at Georgia Tech expires this year, the statement said.

Head Coach Bill Alexander, Kid Mundorff, basketball; Kid Clay, baseball, and Mike Chambers, trainer, will be retained.

money and other prize awards totaling $25,000. Of this number ninety will be of professionals and ten or fifteen amateurs. Some forty professionals are automatically eligible through having been among the first thirty in the national open, the thirty-two qualifiers in the 1930 P.G.A. championship entered from a foreign country, or a prize winner in the initial Agua Caliente event last January. The rest of the field is being selected through the qualifying round.

Third in the big field was Jim Heaney of New York, with a 74, three over par. Following came a group of four professionals and one amateur—Roy Tufts, San Diego Country Club; Fred Morrison, unattached professional of Los Angeles; Willard Hutchison, also unattached; Willie Goggin, San Francisco, and F. Byerley, Portland amateur.

At 77 were seven golfers—Al Cameron, Agua Caliente; Jimmie Thompson, Colorado Springs; Oscar Oman, Minnesota; Jack Tarrant, Los Angeles; Tom Rakletts, Akron; Ralph Guldahl, Dallas, and M. E. Nagell, Jr., Buffalo.

The high wind played many tricks with the new larger and lighter golf ball, particularly for the early starters. Most of them took three, some four, strokes to reach the green on the first hole, which was played directly into the teeth of the wind. The stiff blow gradually slackened and later shifted to the westward, giving just opposite playing conditions as the field rounded the course. Putts appeared to bother the players most.

Rockne's proposed airplane trip to Los Angeles Saturday, declaring if the coach "flies to Los Angeles he will refuse to assume responsibility for his future care." He also said Rockne had been urged not to make the trip by train either.

Rockne, the physician said, came here last week in a state of complete exhaustion. He said the attack of phlebitis is likely to recur "or a complete breakdown result unless he quits his strenuous mode of living and takes life easy. His outside interests coupled with the work of coaching are too much for one man."

Dr. Barborka said he understood the South Bend coach probably would remain here until Tuesday.

TIDE ARRIVES FOR BIG GAME

Alabama Oozes Power in Drill at Occidental

their grid, uniforms revealed little not already known about the Alabama players, with whom the writer traveled three days. They are a trim bunch of young men, well built and with plenty of speed. The outfit fairly oozes power. The squad is composed of about 15 bona fide giants and fifteen others who are short, stocky-legged lads with those well-known barrel chests. These latter are the players with the underslung chassis of which I wrote.

"Flash" Suther, ace ball carrier of the Tide, is the leading character of the latter classification. Mr. Suther wears no man's collah, or rather, any other person would be lost inside Mr. Suther's neckpiece. It is very difficult, without the aid of a microscope, to tell where Mr. Suther's shoulders leave off and his neck begins.

Mr. Suther, whose front name is John Henry, has an unusually black beard and although he shaves every morning you'd never know it. He'll scare a lot of opponents out of a lot of yardage, but is one of the most gentlemanly and quiet-spoken athletes on the squad.

Campbell is the biggest man in the backfield and seeing him in uniform, I'm a Chinaman if he weighs an ounce under 190. I don't believe any of the backs weigh less than 185, despite the abbreviated stature of Suther and McRight. The line is wholly adequate.

Capt. Foots Clement, the powerful tackle who has led the Tide through an undefeated season during which but twelve first downs and 13 points were registered against them, feels that the effect of making Alabama a ten-to-eight favorite over the Cougars may hurt the Southern team's chances of victory.

CATCH THE DEVIL

"I don't see," said Foots yesterday afternoon, "why we should be the favorite after traveling clear across the country. If we lose we'll catch the devil and if we win everybody will say that's what they expected."

"Well, the best thing to do then is win," said the writer.

"We'll sure put out everything we have, you-all can bank on that," replied the captain.

Wade was impressed by the courteous reception accorded his arrival at Pasadena. In addition to Hollingbery, those present were Ear V. Foster, Washington State graduate manager; Hal Reynolds, president of the Tournament of Roses committee, and other officials. The Elks band serenaded the visitors.

"We appreciate very much this reception and the honor of playing for the third time at Pasadena," declared Wade. "Naturally we are out here to win. But if we can't win I hope we can at least give fans of Southern California an afternoon of real football entertainment. You have been very kind to us in the past and we appreciate your interest and enthusiasm."

Alabama will practice this afternoon about 2:30 at Oxy. The Cougars will work out at Tournament Park at the same time. Wade and the Tide party are quartered at the Vista Del Arroyo.

BOB ZUPPKE REFUTES RUMOR OF CHANGE

CHAMPAIGN (Ill.) Dec. 23. (AP)—Bob Zuppke, football coach at the University of Illinois for the past eighteen years, today brushed aside rumors he would resign to take up his work in other football fields by announcing he would not leave Illinois under any consideration.

Coach Zuppke's name had been linked with reports that he had been planning to accept coaching jobs at either California or Pennsylvania.

"Understand that I do not want to be put in the position of declining offers which have not been made," he said, just before his departure for Dallas, Tex., where he will coach the the midwestern team in the Dixie classic New Year's Day. "So far as California is concerned, I have not been approached, but to settle the gossip which has connected my name with several positions, I want to say that I shall not leave Illinois under any consideration."

Director of Athletics George Huff revealed the fact that the coach had turned down many attractive offers.

Cricket

LAUNCESTON (Tasmania) Dec. 23. (AP)—The West Indies cricketers won the first of two matches against Tasmania today.

The visiting team dismissed Tasmania in first innings for 184 runs, then scored 353 themselves. Tasmania's second innings closed today with only 119 runs, Griffith taking three wickets for 20 runs and Scott three for 63.

TWO MANAGERIAL JOBS OPEN AT OXY

All but two track managers for the coming cinderpath season at Occidental College have been appointed, according to the announcement of Phil Ellsworth, graduate manager at Oxy. Those chosen under the competitive managerial system by the athletic council at the Tiger institution are Art Elliott, senior manager; Norman McDonald and Johnny MacGinnis, junior managers; Wallace Fleer and Jack Harmon, sophomore managers. There are two more sophomore managers to be appointed around the first of the year.

Around the tree will be the singing of carols and music by the Marine Band. This broadcast will also be transmitted to foreign countries — Radio Stations KHJ and KFI at 3 p.m.

GRIZZLY CAGERS WILL PLAY BRUINS, TROJANS

The University of Montana basketball team, which will furnish the opposition to the U.C.L.A. and Southern California quintets next week in two two-game series, will arrive in town next Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock, according to Bruin athletic authorities. The Grizzly cagers will play the Westwood Villagers on Monday and Tuesday nights at the Olympic Auditorium, and the Trojans on the following Friday and Saturday nights.

Montana dropped out of the northern division of the Pacific Coast Conference last year, and then proceeded to develop the best basketball team the northern university has ever turned out. The Grizzlies took the measure of two or three of the conference members last season, and are reported to have another strong outfit.

ANGLING IMPROVES OFF OLYMPIC BARGE

HERMOSA BEACH, Dec. 23.—With perfect fishing weather reported by Capt. J. M. Andersen, skipper of the big Olympic and Kohala fishing barges, local anglers are looking forward to excellent fishing over the holidays. The Olympic is still in dry dock at San Pedro with the Kohala taking care of the scores of Southland sportsmen that daily try their luck in these waters. Daily catches from the Kohala include sculpin, sand dabs, smelt, bonito, blue perch and mackerel.

The Fidelity Presents

HANSEL and GRETEL

7 o'Clock Tonight

KHJ

WITH its best wishes for a happy Christmas, Fidelity Savings brings to you this evening, as the eleventh of its "On With the Show" series, Humperdinck's rendition of that story beloved by children for generations . . . Hansel and Gretel.

Originally written by the composer as a Christmas entertainment in his own home, the dramatization of this fairy tale proved so charming that it was re-written for full stage production. For years it has been the custom in Europe and America to present Hansel and Gretel on Christmas eve.

Let Hansel and Gretel join your Christmas festivities tonight . . . let them convey to you, in delightful music, the Fidelity's message of good will and happiness.

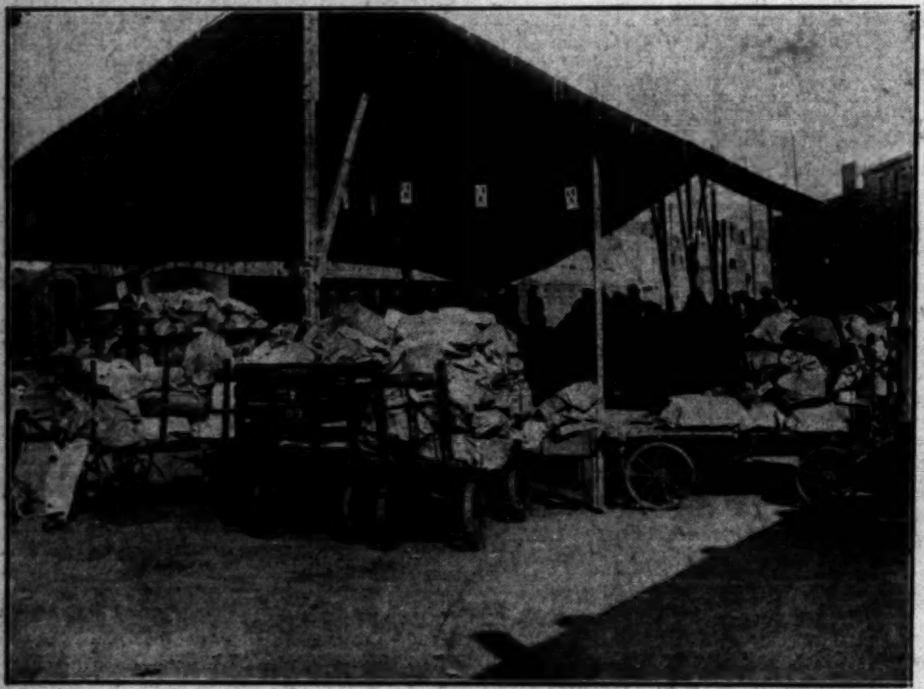
Christmas Mail in City Has Postal and Railway Employees Working Overtime



The Yuletide Season May Be a Period of Rejoicing for a Lot of Folks, But It's Just a Pain in the Neck to postal employees and railway workers who handle all the incoming and outgoing mail. Over the Union Pacific alone 650,000 sacks of mail were handled up to last night and it is expected that today's influx of Christmas packages will boost the total to 750,000 sacks. At left, trucks laden with Christmas mail are shown at the depot; at right, M. S. Johnson, general baggage manager of the Union Pacific System, who bears the brunt of the burden.

WANTED—HELP—

Male

Salesmen, Solicitors —10-B

Announcement

We have waited three years for "real estate" to stop and catch its breath—for "stocks" to have their fling—for "bonds" to occupy the stage, and now we believe that good, old, safe real estate—if properly located—is due for an era of tremendous activity.

So confident are we of this fact, that January 2nd will again see the old reliable, energetic Harry H. Culver & Company back into the subdivision business with a bang—concentrating and specializing on the West Side and in the same manner that characterized its great success in the sale of 64 subdivisions in and around Culver City since 1916.

Harry H. Culver, our President, after an absence of some three years as president of the local, State and national organizations, is to take full and complete charge of our sales and subdivision activity. Only the highest type of men and women will enter our company—our ambitious program will be founded upon the same golden rule that brought so much success to us during the first five years of Culver City building.

Geologists predict another oil field—right in Culver City—in fact, the first well (Taylor Oil Company) is now being drilled 200 feet from our first and next subdivision activity. Owing to the gambling element, we will not raise our prices, but allow all buyers to acquire at present low prevailing prices and participate in the oil speculation without additional cost.

We want the best
that money can buy. Honest, reliable, trustworthy, ambitious—must have a record of successful production. Not TALK, but real EVIDENCE of "What have you done?" And "How did you do it?" Real estate experience not necessarily essential—but the experience of the handling of a large sales organization is.

A Speaker
to support Mr. Culver's own daily appearance on the platform will be used. Not the usual Lecturer—but one who can deliver a clean, right-from-the-shoulder talk on the future of this valley.

Branch Managers and Closers can be used.

We are not going to do 99% of the work for salesmen and saleswomen, but we are going to "help you to help yourselves" into quick ready cash—with the same policy of "prompt and regular payment of commission when due."

We will make no solicitation of other organizations—but any interested parties may apply in person or by letter. All inquiries will be treated in confidence.

We propose to prove our belief that West Side real estate is now coming back—and we are going to be in the front line trenches first. Clean men and women can do well with us.

SANTA CLAUS TO VISIT NAVY

Fleet Will Entertain 1200 Children Tomorrow With Christmas Dinner and Series of Parties

Santa Claus, flying from the North Pole to Los Angeles Harbor, reported by radio to Admiral Frank H. Schofield, commander-in-chief of the Battle Fleet, at 6 o'clock last night that he had just made a landfall in 70 deg. and 20 min. north latitude and 161 deg. and 40 min. west longitude. Navigators of the flagship California plotted Santa's position as Icy Cape, on the northernmost coast of Alaska. If the weather holds fair his seaplane should circle the fleet about 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Santa is making his long nonstop flight from the Pole this year for the special benefit of the 1200 boys and girls who will be the Christmas guests of the officers and men of the fleet aboard the eleven battleships, the aircraft carrier Saratoga and the various ships of the fleet train.

The pilot of the old fellow's special Vought Corsair seaplane is Lieutenant Commander Ben H. Wyatt of the U.S.S. New Mexico. Mr. Wyatt was picked out of all veteran pilots in the fleet by Santa Claus because as commander of the Navy Alaskan aerial survey expedition in 1926 he gained intimate knowledge of the mountainous country over which the plane will be flying today.

Mr. Wyatt will land the plane just off the California and Santa Claus will first board the flagship to pay his respects to Admiral Schofield.

Santa holds honorary rank as admiral in the United States Navy and he will, therefore, be piped over the side with eight sideboys as he comes aboard. After participating in the Christmas party on the California's quarterdeck, he will make the rounds of all the other ships. The California's guests this year will be 115 orphan children from Southland institutions. They will come aboard tomorrow morning and after entertainment by the men of the various divisions will sit down at noon to a nine-course turkey dinner.

At 1 o'clock, the youngsters will assemble before a huge Christmas tree on the California's quarterdeck, where the ship's band and vaudeville talent from the ship's company will entertain them until Santa Claus zooms out of the sky. He will present each little guest with a complete outfit of clothing, promised to fit, and other gifts will include toys, fruit and candy. At 4 o'clock the children will go ashore in the ship's boats and be safely escorted home by men from the California.

Most of the other ships in port will follow closely the California's program. These include the Saratoga; the battleships West Virginia, Colorado, Maryland, New Mexico, Mississippi, Idaho, Nevada, Oklahoma, Tennessee and New York; the hospital ship Relief; the repair ship Medusa, and the train flagship Procyon.

Capt. J. K. Taussig, commanding the battleship Maryland, however, has instituted a new departure in Christmas parties. His ship will have more than 100 children aboard also, but they will all be sons and daughters of the enlisted men serving aboard the Maryland.

GROUND BROKEN FOR GAS OFFICE BUILDING

INGLEWOOD, Dec. 23.—In the presence of city officials, civic leaders and high executives of Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, ground for the utility company's new Inglewood district office building was broken this afternoon. The new structure, which represents a total investment of approximately $225,000, is located at Manchester and Commercial streets. At present, Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation is represented in Inglewood by a small branch office with limited functions. The new district office, however, will house all the commercial and distribution activities for that portion of the utility's system in and around Inglewood. The new building will be a Class A fire and earthquake-proof reinforced concrete structure, with exterior facing of Indiana limestone. Of modern vertical-line design, it will consist of two stories and basement, with provision for addition of a third story later. It is expected to be completed in the early fall of 1931.

OWENS LAND DEAL ORDERED

Purchase of Valley Town Properties Authorized by Water and Power Commission

Authority to proceed with purchases of properties in five Owens Valley towns at adjusted values determined by representatives of the city of Los Angeles and property owners in the towns yesterday was granted by the Board of Water and Power Commissioners.

Acquisition of the properties in the five towns was brought closer to realization by a resolution introduced by Commissioner Brooks which authorized the assistant right of way and land agent of the Department of Water and Power to carry through the purchases.

LAND DEAL HUGE

Representing 500 individual pieces of property in the towns of Laws, Bishop, Big Pine, Lone Pine and Independence, totaling more than 2000 acres, the purchase will be made for prices totaling $5,790,000. This sum was provided for in the $38,800,000 water bond issue voted last May.

Through purchase of the town properties the city of Los Angeles will gain undisputed right to all of the ground waters in those towns. The city also will acquire the right properly to regulate and safeguard sanitary systems within the communities purchased.

Right of the city to purchase the town properties was sustained in a recent opinion of the State Supreme Court in the suit of Edward P. Wehrle against the city, affirming the opinion of the Superior Court of Los Angeles.

TEXT OF RESOLUTION

The resolution adopted unanimously by the board yesterday is as follows:

Be it resolved, that the assistant right of way and land agent is authorized to proceed with the purchase of properties within the towns in Owens Valley at the adjusted values determined by the negotiations between representatives of this board and the committee of ten representing property owners in the five Owens Valley towns, the procedure to be approved by the City Attorney and the special counsel and the Board of Water and Power Commissioners.

The board also directed Chief Electrical Engineer Scattergood to proceed with an investigation and report on the proposed development of Power Plant No. 2.

NEW UNIT PLANNED

The resolution pointed out that the board of consulting electrical engineers, employed at the suggestion of the Chamber of Commerce to investigate the needs of the power department preceding the last unsuccessful power bond election, had itself reported that a third generating unit could be added to Power Plant No. 2 at a cost of about $950,000 and would return a net profit of about $125,000 annually, or 13 per cent.

Yesterday's resolution directed Scattergood to investigate and report on this recommendation of the consulting board and to look into power needs for the next two years and to determine what saving on the amount paid to the Edison company for power might be expected by the construction of the proposed new unit. A desire to aid in the solution of the unemployment problem also motivated the board's action.

COUPLE MARRIED FIFTY YEARS

Patience Helped Smooth Way, They Say

Mr. and Mrs. Angus Graham

PATIENCE—a large supply of it—is about the most essential ingredient necessary for an endurance record in matrimonial circles, according to the views of Mr. and Mrs. Angus Graham of 1523 West Twenty-ninth street. Today will mark the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding in Stratford, Ont., Can., on December 24, 1880, when he was a young man of 28 years and she was a bride of 16.

Shortly after their marriage, the young couple moved to Spokane, where they lived for a brief period before coming to Los Angeles. They have been residents here for the past forty-five years, more than forty-two of which have been spent at their present home site on Twenty-ninth street.

Los Angeles was a pretty good place in which to live in those old days, they both declare, when everyone knew all the neighbors, when Mr. Graham used to walk from his home to First street and Broadway through the fields and when robberies and hold-ups were unheard of.

Mr. Graham likes to recall the old mule cars which were the only mode of public transportation service of those days. Until his retirement from active business about sixteen years ago, he had been a brick contractor during all of those years and he had a hand in the building of a large part of old Los Angeles.

Mrs. Graham explains that they have always lived a simple, quiet life helping one another all along the way, with lots of patience for use in smoothing out the difficulties that are bound to appear. Three grandchildren have lived with the Grahams for the past fifteen years and they devote their lives to bringing up their "second family." It keeps them young, Mrs. Graham explains, to have a houseful of young folks.

Due to Mrs. Graham's ill health no special celebration will mark the passing of their fiftieth anniversary. But just as soon as she is well enough, their friends intend to fete them.
